57 Dead, 56 Unknown.
At Least Russia Flies.
Have You Seen Mr. Burke?
Five Breaths a Minute.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

FIFTY-SEVEN men found dead in an Oklahoma coal mine. The world will never know their names, printed only in local papers. Only coal mine "hands," excepting one engineer, their going is a minor incident in industrial development.

However, the 57 deaths may cause sympathy for a moment, a feeling that men running such risks should be better paid and safety devices developed, in spite of costs.

JUST before the war, Northcliffe offered $50,000 for a flight across the English Channel, less than fifty miles.

On Tuesday, Coste, French flier, set a new record by flying more than 5,000 miles without stopping or taking on fuel.

GREAT progress in a few years, from 50 miles to 5,000. Who doubts that ten years hence flying across the Pacific, at any point, will be pilots' "child's play" and flying the Atlantic work for student fliers?

By that time this country will have to think seriously of hostile air visits from Europe or Japan. Even our greatest "statesmen" will get their minds off archaic battleships.

THE Russian marriage system is convenient, for those uncertain as to their own minds. You get a divorce in Russia almost as easily as you get a box of matches in America.

Britain dislikes this, and a British court refuses to recognize a Russian marriage.

OUR proud nation refuses to recognize anything that Russia does, except buying from us for cash. We detest revolution, although our own government and titles to American real estate are based on it.

This Anglo-American haughtiness may not be wise.

The Russians are going ahead industrially and in other ways. They will be the world's greatest cash customers one day.

ALSO "All the World's Aircraft" reports that of all nations, Russia, in 1929, spent the largest percentage of its public moneys on aviation.

A nation that simultaneously develops aviation and industry is not one to be snubbed, safely.

VARIOUS cities want Fred Burke to ask him about murders.

Mr. Burke is said to have taught gangsters to use machine guns, in place of old-fashioned, inefficient pistols.

One of those guns, "choppers," was found in his suddenly abandoned residence.

CHICAGO police believe that Burke directed the massacre of the seven Moran gangsters, mowed down as they stood side by side, faces to the wall.

An expert will take bullets from the bodies of the Moran men, and see if they came from Burke's gun.

Six hundred years ago, Burke might have been a great condottiere, renting himself out to rival armies, with great artists making statues of him, another Colleoni.

HOW many times do you breathe, in one minute. Guess, off hand.

Many that know about the revolutions of an airplane propeller, or a steamship screw, take little interest in their own machinery.

THE breathing question is suggested by the case of Miss Margaret McIntyre, Plainfield, N. J., school teacher, who breathes only five times a minute, twelve seconds to a breath. Scientists call her a "physiological miracle." You, probably, breathe fifteen to eighteen times per minute, the average for adults.

HOWEVER, Miss McIntyre has one advantage. She breathes very deeply. Experiments show that she takes in three pints of air at a breath. The average adult takes in only one pint. We all inhale too little oxygen. That is why we need exercise. Making us breathe more rapidly, and deeply.

THE rule that public officials may not increase their own pay does not apply to New York. By practically unanimous consent the aldermen give the five borough presidents $20,000 each, instead of $15,000, and the mayor $40,000 instead of $25,000.

Now the aldermen ask higher officials to raise them from $5,000 to $7,500, and that probably will be done.

AT $40,000 a year New York pays Mayor Walker $15,000 more per year than Lincoln was paid in the White House.

However, New York spends five hundred million dollars a year and more. Forty thousand dollars is not too much for managing that spending, if it is well managed.

The public should get the right men, then pay them well.

16 KILLED IN MIDWEST STORM

South and Southwest Also Shiver in Freezing Blast; Sub-Zero Weather Likely

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Death and widespread suffering, accompanied by demoralized traffic conditions, rode in the wake of a terrific blizzard that held the Middlewest in its grip today.

Snowfall that began Tuesday night, and borne on a 50-mile gale, was still being piled in huge drifts along city streets, highways and railroad right-of-ways throughout a dozen central states.

The snow will be followed by zero and sub-zero temperatures throughout the affected areas, according to local forecast bureau.

Sixteen were dead and more than 30 injured as the result of accidents or collapse in the storm in the Chicago district. Other deaths, principally from traffic accidents, were reported from neighboring states.

STORM MOVING EAST

The blinding storm swept down from the frozen wastes of the Canadian northwest and is proceeding in an easterly direction. Unless its fury is spent en route, it should reach the Atlantic seaboard tonight or early tomorrow.

All forms of transportation—highway, air, rail and water—were virtually at a standstill throughout a wide section today. Automobiles were abandoned where they stalled in huge drifts, trains were arriving hours late,

NEW COLD WAVE COMING HERE

Colder weather, accompanied by light snow, was moving slowly toward this district from the blizzard-swept northwest today.

The mercury probably will drop to between 15 and 20 degrees tonight, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

A rain storm of intensity moving up the eastern part of the country from the gulf states served to check the onward rush of the cold wave, with the result that it will be modified before reaching here, Brotzman asserted.

Temperatures at points 200 miles west of Pittsburgh ranged from 10 to 14 degrees, compared with 34 here at 8 a. m.

Trains from the West were reported from 30 minutes to two hours late today because of sleet and snow.

The Pennsylvania Railroad reported its delays were being caused between St. Louis and Columbus and from Chicago to Crestline. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's delays centered around the Chicago district. No handicap was reported by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad.

Absence of Members Halts Senate Work

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Unable to get a quorum, the Senate was forced to quit early today and leaders agreed that there was little prospect of further legislation before the Christmas recess begins Saturday.

The Senate had returned to consideration of the tariff bill after a week of action on emergency measures and nominations, but was unable to make any progress.

Laughlin Assumes Duties in Madrid

MADRID, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Ambassador Irwin Boyle Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, accompanied by Charge D'Affaires Whitehouse, today called on Senor Palacos, secretary general for foreign affairs.

The newly appointed ambassador will make a formal call on Premier Primo de Rivera this evening and will present his credentials to King Alfonso before December 24.

LINER SINKS IN FOG; 260 RESCUED

Four Probes Into Collision in N. Y. Harbor Under Way; Help Speeded by Radio

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Victim of one of the heaviest fogs in the history of New York's harbor, the Steamship Fort Victoria of the Furness-Bermuda line rested on the bottom of Ambrose Channel off Sandy Hook today as four, and possibly five, investigations were to be launched into her ramming by the Clyde-Mallory liner Algonquin.

Thanks to prompt, efficient work of the officers and crew of the Fort Victoria and the pilot boats New York and Sandy Hook, coupled with a cool-headed performance on the part of the passengers, no lives were lost. Not even a minor injury was reported by any of the 700 passengers and crews of the two vessels, despite the terrific force with which the Algonquin plowed amidships into the Fort Victoria.

PITTSBURGHERS SAVED

Among the 260 passengers bound for Bermuda taken off the Fort Victoria were five Pittsburghers. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baldwin, Mrs. William P. Wooldridge, Robert L. Patton and Miss R. McCabe.

Narrowly escaping, however, were Capt. Albert R. Francis, of the stricken vessel, who, with a group of his officers, remained with the ship until the last. Not until she turned on her side and started to slip beneath the surface did this little group abandon efforts to save the vessel.

LOSS OVER $1,500,000

Investigation into the disaster which caused the loss of a $1,250,000 ship, its $250,000 cargo and thousands of dollars' worth of personal baggage, was headed by the American Steamboat Inspection Service. Others to be made include one by a British court of inquiry, one by each of the steamship lines, and possibly a fifth by United States Attorney Tuttle.

The Algonquin, only slightly damaged, according to reports from the ship, was to undergo a thorough examination today to determine her exact condition. With all passengers aboard, the

Six Gunmen Flee 'Escape-Proof' Chicago Jail

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Six desperate gunmen and robbers staged a successful jail break at the new "escape-proof" Cook County jail here today, slugged a guard, smashed a abrless windovv, and under cover of a blinding snow climbed the wall and dashed to freedom.

They were being taken to the jail hospital when the six leaped upon Guard Fred Knepper and locked him in a cell. Seizing a bench they broke a window and leaped 30 feet to the ground.

They scurried for the outer wall and mounted a latticework to the top, as guards began shooting. Weather conditions prevented the guards from taking accurate aid and all six leaped into street snowbanks and disappeared.

SEA CRASH ENDS HONEYMOON

Their honeymoon temporarily disarranged by the ramming of the Bermuda-bound steamer Fort Victoria off Sandy Hook yesterday, Dr. Wilmer E. Baldwin, University of Pittsburgh professor, and his bride, the former Mary Elizabeth Key, will return home today to begin all over again.

Other Pittsburgh district people on the wrecked liner were Mrs. William P. Wooldridge, Robert L. Patton and Miss R. McCabe.

They were in New York today with only the clothes they carried with them when they were taken off the doomed liner along with 260 other passengers. The bride's trousseau—the professor's trunks—all were still in the hold of the Fort Victoria when it sank a few hours later.

"The trip is off for a while anyway," the bride telephoned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Key, at the Long Vue Country Club, where the father is greenskeeper. "We are coming home tonight."

Payment of Income Tax Shows Big Gain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Large increases in income tax collections for the first five and a half months of the present fiscal year had on December sent the government income to $198,086,767 more than was collected in the same period last year.

Treasury figures as of December 17 showed these collections had aggregated $858,169 as compared with $687,074,369 for the same period last year, while the government's total income since last July 1 was $1,685,654,547.

BURKE HUNTED ON WAY HERE

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Deputy Sheriffs today were searching this region for Frederick R. Burke, fugitive slayer, gang executioner and bank robber, after three residents reported they had recognized a man as the arch-killer. The man, accompanied by another, was reported en route East.

Ralph Smith, of Mansfield, was first to report his belief that a man he met in a restaurant was Burke. He said the man resembled the gunman, and that he appeared anxious to get out of Mansfield. He asked the road to Pittsburgh.

ASK FOR CIGARETS

Later, two telephone linemen telephoned the sheriff and said that a man whom they recognized as Burke, and a companion, asked them for cigarets. The suspect, they said, seemed highly nervous and anxious to keep his face covered. His right hand and arm were bandaged.

Smith and the two linemen insisted that the man they saw was Burke.

City and county police have not been requested by Mansfield authorities to search for the man who may be Burke, but in a downtown hotel today another "suspect" was detained for a few minutes. A house detective turned over to city detectives the "suspect" because he answered Burke's description, but the man was released when he proved beyond doubt that he was a law-abiding salesman.

RUM-RING CASE SET FOR JURY

The McKeesport liquor conspiracy case in Federal Court will be placed in the hands of the jury late today.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard today made the concluding address to the jury in behalf of the defendants, supplementing the pleas made yesterday by his co-counsel, Attorneys Benjamin Lencher and Edward G. Coll.

In a scathing speech, Prichard branded Charles L. Friedman, pardoned bootlegger and principal government witness, as a perjurer.

Prichard was followed by Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh, for the prosecution. Judge R. M. Gibson then charged the jury.

The trial of the 21 defendants, among them John F. Brennan, former chief of McKeesport police; Lieut. James H. Gray and eight other McKeesport police officers, started December 9. The taking of testimony closed after a large number of character wit-

COURT ORDER FINAL HOPE OF SLAYER

Power to Execute Professor For Hix Girl's Murder in Warden's Hands Tonight

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Warden P. E. Thomas, of Ohio State Penitentiary, said today that unless the State Supreme Court acts on the appeal of Dr. James H. Snook before midnight tonight he has authority to proceed with the professor's electrocution for the murder of Theora Hix.

A stay of execution granted Dr. Snook, deposed Ohio State University professor, expires at midnight. Under the law, the warden said, he has authority to proceed with the execution any time between midnight tonight and midnight tomorrow.

Warden Thomas refused to say when the execution would take place if no further order was received from the Supreme Court. All legal papers for the electrocution are in his hands.

In the meantime, the Supreme Court had one more consultation in which to act on the case. That meeting will be held late today, when a number of other cases are to be considered, but Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall declined to say whether the court would take up the Snook appeal at that time.

Warden Thomas indicated that the execution may take place if no further respite is forthcoming from the Supreme Court.

PUTNAM SUED FOR DIVORCE

RENO, Nev., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The divorce suit of Mrs. Dorothy Binney Putnam, wife of George Palmer Putnam, publisher, was filed in the District Court late yesterday, the complaint charging failure to provide.

Contrary to expectations in some quarters, there is no mention of any cause of action other than failure to provide. The couple was married at Sound Beach, Conn., October 26, 1911, and has two sons, and an agreement made out of court provides, it is understood, that Mrs. Putnam shall have their custody most of the time, and that Putnam shall contribute toward their support.

There is no request for alimony. Mrs. Putnam is wealthy in her own right.

Miss Astor, Injured By Horse, Recovering

NORTHAMPTON, England, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—An X-ray examination of the Hon. Nancy Astor, who was thrown while riding in a hunt yesterday, has revealed a slight injury to the spine, but no serious results are expected by her physicians.

Miss Astor spent a restful night and was progressing well today. She is 20 years old and is the only daughter of Viscount and Lady Astor, who is the former Nancy Langhorne, of Virginia.

Many Little Girls Get Sweetheart Dolls

By THE DOLL LADY.

The procession of dolls that went out of the Sun-Telegraph office yesterday put me in mind of that popular song, "Sweethearts on Parade." The name might well have been changed to "Singing Dolls on Parade," because it was a veritable parade of sweetheart dolls that marched out of the Sun-Telegraph Building all day long.

Doll Lady

If all the little girls who came in and got their dolls were put in line, there would have been more than enough to make a mighty big parade. One of the prettiest girls in that parade would have been little Jane Potter, 682 Airbrake avenue, Wilmerding, who came in bright and early and took her big dolly home with her.

What a day! Every one of my headquarters was jammed to the door from morning until night. And I want to tell you that I never, never before talked to so many little girls in a single day. I have given my wonder dolls away in several other big cities, but it was left for Pittsburgh to break all records. It's just one big, happy scramble for my dollies, and I have my heart set on giving one to every little girl I

Chair Moved, King About To Sit Down Crashes

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—The clever little parlor trick of snatching a chair away from under a person just before he or she sits down, with a result that never fails to get a laugh at the expense of the victim, has long been a favorite in Hollywood movie comedy studios.

But rarely has a real, honest-to-goodness king been the innocent victim.

It happened in London a few days ago, however, and while little was said about the incident out of deference to the royal sufferer, the facts have just been revealed.

The victim was King Christian of Denmark, a six-foot sovereign known all over Europe for his easy-going ways, his democratic spirit and his charming manner.

Accompanied by his Queen, King Christian arrived here recently for a visit.

In his round of official calls and inspections he came to the office of a telegraph company. Present was the ubiquitous army of photographers. They asked the King to pose. He agreed graciously.

The photographers lined up before His Majesty, and a chair was placed so he might be snapped sitting.

And then, just as His Majesty was preparing to place himself in a sitting position, someone thoughtlessly committed the horrible deed and inadvertently removed the royal chair.

Down went the King, with an expression on his face that words cannot describe. Office boys, officials of the concern and photographers helped him to his feet, and His Majesty laughed the matter off with good grace.

The photographs were then taken—with the King standing.

U. S. AND JAPAN REACH ACCORD ON NAVAL PARLEY AIMS

AMERICAN DISSENSION DENIED

Adams' Absence at Parleys Causes Rumors; Stimson Charges 'Trouble' Plot

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The Japanese-American naval discussions were concluded today in a two-hour conference, in which the policies to be pursued at the London conference next month by both countries were considered at some length and an "agreement in the objectives of both countries established," according to a joint statement.

The four days of parley between the Japanese delegates, headed by ex-Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, and the American delegates, headed by Secretary of State Stimson, ended with every outward indication of friendliness and co-operation between the two governments.

STIMSON STATEMENT

Secretary of State Stimson, on behalf of the conferees, made the following joint statement:

"The discussion, like that at Woodley (home of Secretary of State Stimson) was concerned with the general philosophy underlying naval agreements and the opportunities of the coming conference," the statement said.

"It took up the good results between the United States and Japan of the Washington conference and the possibilities of continuing and increasing these results. The agreement on the objectives of both countries was established.

POSITIONS OUTLINED

"Then in a very frank and friendly way each delegation presented the broad outlines of its position. This discussion did not go into details or figures which is the province of the conference and should be done there where all the participating nations will be represented."

DISSENSION RUMORED

The visit of the Japanese delegates did not end, however, without the rumors of dissension in the American delegation being dragged into the open and strongly denied.

Throughout the conference with the Japanese, Secretary of the Navy Adams, although a full delegate, has been absent, and this fact, coupled with the known dissatisfaction of some Navy heads with the cruiser agreement reached with Great Britain, has filled the capital with rumors that the American delegation was at loggerheads.

In an editorial this morning, the Washington Post called attention to Adams' continued absence from the negotiations, and the fact that the Navy itself had not been directly represented by anybody in the parleys. The editorial also pointed out that Adams' counterpart in the Japanese delegation, Admiral Takerabe, was in all of them, and "wondered" if Stimson and Morrow could talk navy-talk with the Japanese minister of marine on an even footing.

Secretary of State Stimson, in a hotly-worded statement this afternoon, denied that Adams had been slighted and charged the newspaper with "trying to make trouble in the cabinet" and with "trying to break down the London conference."

ATTACKS EDITORIAL

Cabinet officers rarely issue such statements as the one which Stimson directed at his editorial critic. It follows:

"My attention has been called to an editorial in the Washington Post of this morning which dwells upon the absence of Secretary Adams from certain conferences that are going on in Washington between the Japanese delegates who are on their way to the London conference.

"It is quite clear that it is the deliberate intention of that editorial to attempt to make trouble among the American delegates to the conference and the members of the President's cabinet, to discredit our government before the Japanese delegation, and thus to try to cause a breakdown of the London conference.

"The utter falsity of the statement is evident if we recount that the Japanese delegates, having indicated that they would be represented by three persons in the preliminary discussions, we in usual courtesy also determined to limit our numbers, and Mr. Adams, who was consulted by me, suggested that some other member undertake it, and our delegates were selected by Mr. Adams and myself.

"Every newspaper has a right to any views it pleases upon the matters before the conference, and the Washington Post has a full right to oppose limitation in arms, but I do not believe the American people approve an attempt to humiliate and cause dissension in their government before representatives of foreign governments."

ADAMS' COMMENT

A considerably more placid statement was made by Secretary Adams. He said:

"I have read this morning an editorial in the Washington Post which indicates that my absence from certain conferences between the American delegates who are on their way to the London conference had come about through some design aimed at the Navy and against my wishes.

"The truth is exactly to the contrary. Members selected for that conference were arrived at between myself and the Secretary of State to make a wise division of duties among the delegates."

Although Secretary Stimson's statement stressed the fact that the American conferees had been limited to three out of deference to Japan's only having three, there were four Americans participating—Stimson, Ambassador Morrow, Under Secretary of State Cotton and Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, the chief technical adviser to the delegation.

There were only the three usual Japanese—ex-Premier Wakatsuki, Admiral Takerabe and Ambassador Debuchi.

It was the first time that the Navy has had a direct representative in the poruparlers since the Japanese arrived here.

KING TO PRESIDE

LONDON, Dec. 19. — (AP.) — Prime Minister MacDonald announced in the House of Commons today that King George had consented to preside over the opening meeting of the five-power naval conference January 21 and to deliver the opening address.

His Majesty's participation in the opening ceremonies of the conference will be the occasion of his first public speech in more than a year's time, due to his long illness.

Country Girl, Never Away From Farm, Missing

Elizabeth Belle Louis, 19, had never been away from Valencia and so far as her family knows had never had a boy friend. Each morning she arose at 6:15 o'clock and milked the cows on her father's farm at Sandy Hill.

Today she and all her clothes are missing, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Louis, reported to the Bureau of Missing Persons Bureau.

"Elizabeth was reading when we went to bed last Saturday night," Mrs. Louis said. "Later I heard her go to her room. The next morning I went to her room to waken her and she was gone."

The parents thought that Elizabeth may have gone to visit relatives, but a check has failed to reveal her whereabouts.

request to Bay City police to start a search of outlying farm districts for Fred Burke, fugitive slayer.

Capt. Arthur A. Downey, head of the state police post here, asserted he had information that Burke had taken refuge near Bay City in a rural ride-out. He also said he has established that the fugitive fled from Flint yesterday afternoon.

ARREST EXPECTED SOON

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Basing his prediction on some secret information he received late yesterday, Chief Inspector Patrick Roche today announced the arrest of Fred Burke, hunted for a long series of murders and bank robberies in several states, was expected hourly.

Meanwhile Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, has started his scientific analysis of bullets fired from the two sub-machine guns found in Burke's bungalow arsenal at St. Joseph, Mich. Goddard arrived yesterday from New York and prepared to make microscopic studies of slugs and cartridges which are intended to link Burke definitely to the St. Valentine's Day massacre of seven Moran gangsters here.

DENIES TARIFF TALK WITH HOOVER

Shattuck, Hired as Cuban Sugar Agent, Quizzed By Senate Lobby Board

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Edwin P. Shattuck, the man the Cuban sugar interests employed for lobbying work "because he was the closest man to Hoover we could find," denied today that he ever discussed sugar tariffs with the President.

Questioned closely by the Senate Lobby Committee, Shattuck said he had discussed the sugar tariff with Walter H. Newton, one of Mr. Hoover's quartet of secretaries, but said he "never got any directions from the President."

He was placed on the stand because of the vast volume of correspondence and evidence unearthed by the committee, most of which referred to him as being "close to the President," and "having the ear of the President."

EXPLAINS WORK

He said he knew nothing of this correspondence at the time and attached no serious importance to the work he had done for Mr. Hoover previous to his employment last year by the Cuba Company in connection with the tariff.

He explained his work with and for the President began when he was counsel for the Sugar Equalization Board during the war and that since then he had worked for and with the President in matters connected with the American Relief Association, the Emergency Children's Fund and the American Child Health Association.

Shattuck modified his definition of the work for which he was employed by the Cuba Company and which in a previous appearance before the committee he termed purely legal, to say it was that of a "legislative agent," in which the work of a lawyer and a lobbyist were "co-mingled." He refused to admit himself wholly a "lobbyist." This refusal drew from Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, the observance that Shattuck was "drawing a distinction between Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum."

RESENTS QUIZ

Shattuck said he considered it very unfair to have President Hoover's name "bandied about in this lobby hearing."

"Why should you have been employed as a fried of Hoover when it appears that the only confidential connection with him you have ever had was to draw two leases for him, a matter of public record?" Senator Robinson, (Rep.) of Indiana, asked.

"I make no claim to be the legal adviser of Mr. Hoover," the witness said. "I have for the last 10 years done professional work for him but not work of any great importance. I was not Hoover's closest adviser. My relations with Mr. Hoover were very pleasant. I recall them with the greatest satisfaction."

Shattuck denied that he engaged in efforts to solicit contributions for the Cuban sugar interests.

"I have never asked for money in this campaign," he said when Sen. Walsh, (D.) of Montana, read a letter from Junior Owen, secretary of the Carbonated Bottlers' Association, to Charles Rainwater, of Atlanta, head of the Cocoa Cola Company, to the effect that Shattuck's partner said Shattuck was "very successful" in collecting money.

Sewer Cost Delays Borough Formation

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 19.—Instead of incorporation into a borough, citizens of Kingview, east of here, have turned their full attention to the sewage problem. The State Department of Health is insisting on action to safeguard the health of the inhabitants and surveys to apportion the cost are being made.

Citizens had desired to incorporate into a borough but those plans cannot be advanced until the sewer project is completed.

JURY SPLIT IN 'GHOST' MURDER

Veniremen Report Deadlock To Judge and Request Testimony of Doctor

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A jury of 12 farmers was deadlocked today in its efforts to unravel a mystery of the hill country. A 17-year-old girl accused a group of men of torturing and killing her sweetheart. A farm hand of 33 appeared at their trial to challenge her story and insist that he was the missing sweetheart, Connie Franklin.

The case of four men charged with the supposed murder—a fifth defendant having been granted a separate trial—was given to the jury late last night.

JURY REPORTS

This morning the jury reported to Judge S. M. Bone that it was deadlocked.

The foreman, Tom Moore, said in reporting the deadlock that he did not believe an agreement could be reached. Judge Bone said the trial had been expensive to the county, already in debt and without funds to pay the witnesses, and urged that every effort be made to agree so that another trial would not be necessary.

The jury retired and shortly afterward filed into the courtroom again. This time the members asked to hear instructions again and also the testimony of Dr. C. W. Garrison, state health officer, as to his examination of bones exhibited by the state as the remains of Franklin.

A few minutes before the jury reported, the county grand jury was discharged by Judge Bone, thus precluding any further investigation of the Franklin case until the May grand jury meets, Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson said. Previous to the trial Williamson had announced that regardless of the outcome of the trial, further investigation probably would be made.

SAYS HE WAS DRUNK

The man claiming to be Franklin testified for two hours yesterday, contending that on the night last March he was to marry Tiller Ruminer he "got drunk" with the men on trial, fell from his mule and was slightly injured. He said because she wished to postpone the ceremony he left the community not to return until he heard of her story that he had been slain.

The four men on trial are Herman Greenway, Hubert Hester, Joe White and Bill Younger.

16 KILLED IN STORM

many of them having to wait until snow plows could blaze their way, air mail planes were ordered kept in hangars and late boats were held in port.

Chicago literally was buried under a foot-deep blanket of snow. Surface and elevated cars were tied up in long lines, unable to plow through the drifts. Interurban bus traffic fared even worse.

SOUTHWEST SHIVERS

The frigid wave has made itself felt as far south as the Gulf of Mexico. One fork of the blizzard howled through the cotton fields of Oklahoma and Texas, spreading freezing temperatures.

In the South, snow, unknown in New Orleans for years, fell this morning in the upper section of the city.

Wintry winds brought their full force to bear on the western half of Dixie, gales wrecked farm homes near Oakdale, La., Columbus, Miss., and in Lawrence County, Mississippi, while an electrical storm preceded a flurry of snow at Greenwood, Miss., and a light snow fell in Vicksburg, Miss.

In Kentucky temperatures dropped swiftly through the low twenties. Snow fell in Little Rock, Ark., where the temperature was 20 at midnight.

18 Men in Fishing Fleet Fighting Gale on Lake

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Eighteen men, members of the crew of a fleet of five small fishing boats, were believed to be somewhere in the northern waters of Lake Michigan today fighting a 40-mile gale. The fishing fleet has been unheard from since it set out from here for the Fox Island fishing grounds six days ago.

Fishermen said today that the boats were well stocked with provisions and that the only danger was that the men might exhaust their fuel supply and be unable to ride out the storm.

Curtis, Mrs. Gann Missing At Diplomatic Dinner

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—There was considerable speculation among the capital's social elite today over the absence of Vice President Curtis, Mrs. "Dolly" Gann, his half-sister hostess, and Speaker and Mrs. Longworth at the state dinner President Hoover gave last night in honor of the Japanese delegation to the London naval parley.

While the guest list comprised mainly officials and naval officers directly or indirectly connected with the coming naval conference, surprise was expressed that neither the Vice President nor the Speaker of the House, next to the President, holding the highest offices in the government, were not invited.

Immediately this explanation was decided upon:

That the President is following the British custom of not inviting those who would outrank, in the seating arrangements, the guests whom it was intended to honor.

The ranking guests were former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki and Admiral Takeshi Takarabe, Japanese minister of marine, and Mme. Takarabe.

If Mrs. Gann and Mrs. Longworth had been included, they would have outranked the guests of honor, according to the diplomatic protocol which controls matters of precedent.

Secretary of State Stimson and Mrs. Stimson also were absent, Stimson has been suffering from a cold.

Storm Maroons 70 Pupils In School All Night

ELKHART, Ind., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Seventy pupils in the North Clinton Community School near here spent last night in their school rooms, marooned by the blizzard sweeping over the Midwest.

Several buses started taking some of the pupils home yesterday, but became stalled in the snow and their passengers were taken to nearby farm houses for the night. Principal Paul Wanger then decided to keep the remainder of the youngsters at the school.

The school cafeteria provided supper and a slim breakfast. Today parents were on their way to the school by bob sleds to bring the children home. The pupils slept last night on desks and tables after spending a long evening in games and contests.

BRITAIN CLAIMS BODIES OF NON-STOP AFRICA FLIERS

STAGE STAR MYSTERY SOLVED

Helen Lee Worthing Reported Living in Seclusion and Apart From Negro Husband

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The Los Angeles Examiner said today that the mysterious disappearance two years ago of Helen Lee Worthing, former New York stage beauty, apparently has been solved with the revelation here that she had separated from her husband, Dr. Eugene C. Nelson, a physician of Los Angeles, who admitted he was a "colored man," but denied he was "an African."

The newspaper said that news of the girl's marriage and separation had come to light simultaneously and that Mrs. Nelson was reported to have consulted an attorney with view to obtaining a divorce.

Records quoted by the Examiner showed that Miss Worthing and Dr. Nelson were married in Tia Juana, Mexico, in June, 1927, came to Los Angeles and resided in an exclusive district of Hollywood but later moved to the Negro district of this city. Miss Worthing is said to have been living virtually in seclusion lately.

DODGES RACE QUESTION

Dr. Nelson, whose California license is dated August 6, 1925, was admitted to practice here on reciprocity from Virginia, where his license was dated July 20, 1920. Records show he was graduated from Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., on April 25, 1911.

The Examiner asserted that Dr. Nelson dodged questions concerning his race in order "to protect my wife."

"I am what I am. It can't hurt me much," he said.

MET IN 1927

"The racial question had nothing to do with this separation," he was quoted as having said. "It was simply that she was jealous. I believe she would like a reconciliation. I say it without egotism, but I believe she has a tremendous affection for me."

Miss Worthing met Dr. Nelson in April, 1927. An intruder beat her brutally at night in her home, and Dr. Nelson chanced to be called. He dressed her injuries and continued to call.

"She came to know my true worth, and we were married in Tia Juana," Dr. Nelson said.

DAVIS TO TOSS HAT IN RING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Friends of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis expect him to make formal announcement of his candidacy for the governorship of Pennsylvania soon after the first of the year.

Although he has been assiduously promoting his candidacy for months, Secretary Davis has always stopped short of announcing definitely that he will be a candidate. He has been making a great many speeches throughout the state, and his supporters have been busy building up an organization for him.

As near as Davis will now come to admitting his candidacy is this statement:

"If the pressure keeps up, I don't see how I can escape running. I am now getting 200 letters a day from Pennsylvania, asking me to run."

The uncertainties of the Vare case and of the Mellon-Grundy-Fisher organization's plans are understood to have been the chief reason why Davis has delayed announcing so long. The Vare case is now settled. The plans of the Pennsylvania organization for next year's election are in process of being worked out.

Davis' cabinet tenure is due to end March 4. He stayed on in the Hoover cabinet because President Hoover was not able to replace him without embarrassment, but it has always been understood that he would retire March 4.

Daughter Denies Vare Is Out of Politics

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—William S. Vare has intimated through his daughter, Miss Beatrict Vare, at their home on Berkeley Square, Chelsea, that he had no intention of retiring actively from politics.

The statement was an answer as to whether he would retire as a result of his recent illness.

"Father has not retired from politics, and any statement to that effect is untrue," said Miss Vare.

"Does that mean he will remain in the senatorial race?" she was asked.

"Well, you can take it that way," she replied.

Mr. Vare is fast recovering from the setback he got more than a week ago.

Little Paulina Longworth Does Own Shopping

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Little Paulina Longworth, one of the country's better known babies, is doing her own Christmas shopping.

The four-year-old daughter of Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth and the former Alice Roosevelt is having a grand time buying presents and her own clothes for the holidays.

With true Rooseveltian independence, she goes about Washington stores, accompanied only by her nurse, and personally selects sweaters, caps, underwear and even coats.

Her mother rarely accompanies her and the nurse merely looks on. She seldom interferes with Paulina's selections. The little girl seems to have unerring good taste as to color and line and matching qualities. She knows what she wants and gives the clerk less trouble than many a mature shopper.

Paulina's main concern just now is a sports outfit to wear with the roller skates she is sure Santa will bring her. Like her illustrious grandfather, Theodore Roosevelt, she likes action.

Following Paulina's Christmas shopping trail one encounters only praise from those who have waited on her.

"She acts so grown-up and is so polite," said a saleswoman who often waits on the little girl. "She and the nurse talk together like women would. The nurse sometimes makes a suggestion, but she seldom interferes with Paulina's selections. When she first began shopping here the girls addressed her as though the second syllable of her name was spelled with an 'e.' She gravely corrected them and said her name was pronounced with a long 'i.'"

SIX CARDINALS GET RED HAT FROM POPE

Total Number Now 63, Four In United States; Huge Crowd Attends Elevations

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Pope Pius today imposed the Red Hat on six newly created cardinals, thus inducting them into the Sacred College of Princes of the Church.

The pontiff was assisted in the ceremony, which was held principally in the Consistorial Hall, by Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State. The cardinals were introduced singly to the pontiff, who then endowed them with the episcopal gown, the pectoral cross, the cardinalte cord of red and gold, and the red berretta, or skull cap.

The new cardinals were the Patriarch of Lisbon, Monsignor Emanuele Goncales Cerejeira; Archbishops Lavitrano, of Palermo Sicily; Minoretti, of Genoa; Mac Rory, of Armagh, Ireland, and Verdier, of Paris; and Monsignor Pacelli, Papal Nuncio at Berlin.

CARDINALS NUMBER 63

They bring the total number of cardinals to 63, of whom 33 are of non-Italian nationality, and 30 Italian. The United States has four representatives in the college, Archbishops O'Connell, of Boston, Dougherty, of Philadelphia, Hayes of New York, and Mundelein, of Chicago. Germany has four cardinals while France has seven.

After imposition of the berretta the Cardinal Patriarch, of Lisbon read, in the name of his companions, a speech of profound gratitude for the Pontiff's benevolence.

The Pope replied that he was grateful the Lord permitted him to raise to the college such worthy persons on the eve of the golden anniversary of his priesthood.

"When we see that Portugal, France and Ireland, all Italy, and all Germany rejoice with us it is evident that this joy, so extensive and so intense, is the confirmation of our choice."

ELEVATION TIMELY

The Pontiff added that it was significant that they were elevated to the purple at a moment when thoughts turned to the humiliations and sufferings of the "Divine King" in the stable at Bethlehem.

He said the dignity of the cardinalate connotes sacrifice and martyrdom because as the ritual declares they must be ready to "serve and defend the church even to giving of their blood."

The Pontiff then imparted the apostolic blessing and retired to his apartments where the new cardinals actually received from him the red skull caps. Emerging later the cardinals were met by delegations of friends and relatives and ecclesiastics.

The ceremony was attended by not only the entire papal court, but by all the diplomatic corps accredited to the new Vatican City state by numerous members of the so-called "Black," or Fascist, Roman aristocracy, and by a large number of distinguished visitors, especially those belonging to nations honored in selection of the new cardinals.

BRILLIANT PROCESSION

The procession of the Pope from his apartments in the Vatican proper to the consistorial hall was one of the most imposing to be seen in post-war Europe. He was carried on the "Sedia Gestatoria" by bearers clad in rich crimson.

LAITY RETREATS URGED BY POPE

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Pope Pius in an encyclical issued this afternoon urged frequent retreats of the laity to silence, contemplation and prayer as a means of combating modern unrest, discords and preoccupations.

The Pontiff, who several days ago emerged from a week's retreat, said that the spiritual exercises of retreat constitute for human faculties "a remarkable school in which the mind learns to reflect; the will reinforces itself and passions dominate themselves; activity receives a direction, rule and efficacious impulse and the whole soul rises to its natal nobility and grandeur."

The Pope condemned "that continual and feverish pursuit of external, that immoderate appetite for riches and pleasures which little by little weakens in the soul all the noblest ideals."

He likewise recommended the greater participation of the laity in church activities.

FRANKLIN BLAST INJURES TWO

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 19.—Two men were critically burned and thousands of dollars damage caused by an explosion that wrecked the laboratory room of the Galena Oil Corporation, Atlantic avenue, this morning.

Louis Walker, 33, chemist, and Vern King, 50, janitor, are in Franklin Hospital with severe burns and it is feared Walker is fatally hurt. Franklin firemen quickly brought the blaze under control and prevented the fire from spreading to other parts of the building.

High test gasoline exploded in the rear of the laboratory basement. It is believed that King was filling bottles with the fluid and that the warm atmosphere of the basement had caused excess pressure to accumulate. A gas jet 20 feet away caused the escaping gas to ignite.

Carl Autner, laboratory assistant, escaped serious injury, as did about five others in the building.

NATIVES FIND WRECKAGE OF PLANE

Plans Made for Removal Of Pair Killed Near Desert While Seeking New Record

International News Service.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Arrangements were being made by the air ministry today to bring home the bodies of Squadron Leader A. G. Jones-Williams and Flight Lieut. N. H. Jenkins, the British R. A. F. fliers who died in a gallant attempt to make a non-stop flight from England to Capetown, South Africa.

The bodies of the airmen and the wreckage of their plane, a Fairey - Napier monoplane were found in a mountainous region near Zaghouan, Tunisia, just north of the Great Sahara desert.

The fliers, it is believed, struck the side of a mountain in attempting to make a forced night landing during a storm. British air officials estimated that the tragedy probably occurred about eight p. m., Tuesday.

NATIVES FIND PLANE

Native horsemen discovered the plane's wreckage yesterday and rode into Zaghouan with the dire news. French officials at first thought the plane was another in which three Frenchmen had been missing in the vicinity for several days. However, it was soon identified as a British plane by its markings.

The French resident general conveyed the news to the British consul general who cabled the information to the air ministry. Lord Thomson then made public the news here.

STARTED TUESDAY

The aviators, who had distinguished war records and were regarded as two of the best pilots in the R. A. F., left Cranwell airdrome, Lincolnshire, at eight a. m., Tuesday. They carried 1,000 gallons of gasoline which they estimated would carry them to Capetown without difficulty.

Their plane, which was powered by a single 550 horse-power Napier engine, was equipped with a radio with which they were to keep in touch with the air ministry every four hours. They were never heard from after reporting themselves off Sardinia, in the Mediterranean, eight hours after the start.

FLEW 15,000 MILES

The airmen covered about 1,500 miles before crashing. Zaghouan is a village situated near a mountain range rising to between 4,000 and 5,000 feet.

It is not believed the crash was due to the fact that the fliers were unable to scale this wall, as their fuel load had been lightened during the course of the flight to give them a "ceiling" of about 6,000 feet.

The only other explanation for the crash, according to air experts, is that the fliers misjudged their proximity to the mountains in attempting to make a landing in the dark.

DOPED ROBBER LOOTS STORE DOWNTOWN

Stages Holdup as Throngs Pass Door, Then Escapes In Fifth Avenue Crowds

Police today are searching for an armed robber who entered the haberdashery of Bob Gue, 126 Fifth avenue, and robbed the cash register and two men of $480.65.

The robber is described by Joe Shaw, of Saybrook apartments, Craft avenue, a clerk in the store, as of medium height, weighing about 135 pounds, sallow of complexion, and unusually nervous.

The man is thought by police to be the same daring robber who has preyed recently upon haberdasheries in the downtown district while crowds of Christmas shoppers passed the places. Identified by Shaw as apparently under the influence of a drug, he struck again last night. He escaped in the throngs on Fifth avenue.

BUYS TIE, PULLS GUN

Shaw and Ralph Neff, of 7730 Baxter street, another clerk, were in the store when the thief entered. He selected a necktie, Shaw says, and paid for it with two one-dollar bills. As Shaw handed him his change, a tense warning, "Don't make any noise," drove Shaw and Neff back into a corner.

The robber, hand shaking, pointed a revolver at the pair, Shaw says, directing them to lie behind the counter, while he ransacked the cash register. As the thief worked, J. W. Glover, a friend of Shaw's entered.

"Get out of here," Shaw says the robber greeted Glover. Unused to such a reception, his friend hesitated, and the bandit forced him to take his place behind the counter.

MENACED BY PISTOL

The robber took $457.65 from the cash register, $16 from Shaw, $7 from Glover and refused 35 cents offered by Neff. Glover had $80 in his fob pocket which the robber missed, Shaw said.

Shaw and Neff prepared to spring up and give the alarm as the man left the store. Turning around, he saw their heads over the counter, went back and warned them to stay in their places until he was well out of the way or he would shoot.

Added to the loot was the necktie the bandit selected.

SAVED MINERS TELL OF BLAST

McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Descriptions of the five survivors and the morgues filled with the bodies of 59 miners, left their stamp of horror today on McAlester, scene of the underground blast which transformed the Old Town Mining Company's shaft here into a gas-filled tomb.

With the recovery of 59 bodies late yesterday, Hugh Rice, owner of the mine, announced that all the men had been accounted for. Rice's announcement brought the first respite to members of the rescue crews in more than 24 hours.

Five men are alive to tell of the underground horror. Two of them managed to fight their way to the surface before the waves of gas reached them. Three others were taken from one of the upper levels unconscious.

Miller D. Hay, state inspector of mines, declared last night after a thorough investigation, that the explosion, presumably caused by a spark, occurred in the ninth level.

Plans for a wholesale burial were under discussion last night by relatives of the 59 men.

More than 50 families were dependent on the services of the victims, presenting a problem to relief organizations that are attempting to furnish temporary support.

Pittsburghers' Honeymoon Wrecked in Boat Crash

Algonquin spent last night anchored off Ambrose Light, fog making impractical an immediate docking.

The collision occurred in a fog which many termed the worst ever known to New York's waters. The Fort Victoria, after creeping through the sirens, bells and other warnings on ships in the bay, came to a stop near Ambrose Light to drop her pilot. Suddenly the black bow of the swift Algonquin loomed out of the bay. A last-minute bit of maneuvering failed and the sharp prow of the Algonquin sliced into the Fort Victoria a little forward of amidships.

W. E. Baldwin

RADIO BRINGS AID

Water poured and splashed into a great hole on the port side of the Victoria as the ships parted and righted themselves as the cry "stand by the lifeboats" was repeated about the ship, officers and members of the crew ran through the interior of the vessel warning passengers to don life preservers and hurry on deck. SOS calls were radioed from both ships. All broadcasting in New York City was stopped as the calls, repeatedly given, summoned all harbor craft to the rescue. Here again the fog interfered, rescue ships being forced to move slowly to avoid other collisions.

Mrs. Baldwin

The pilot boat Sandy Hook, however, was close at hand, and was soon alongside the Fort Victoria. Boatful after boatful of passengers was picked up, until all were aboard.

Soon after all passengers were removed, the radio operator aboard the Fort Victoria wirelessed that the ship was sinking, all hands were leaving and "good-by." A few minutes later he corrected to say that although the ship was listing badly Capt. Francis and a skeleton crew were remaining aboard in the hope that she could be towed safely to land.

SALVAGE EFFORT FUTILE

Wrecking tugs towed the stricken vessel, listing badly, a short distance, where Capt. Francis and his men abandoned her. At 7:30 in the evening the Fort Victoria turned over on her side, gave a violent twist and went under.

All concerned with the rescue were being praised today for their excellent feat of seamanship under such difficult conditions.

The only passenger to require medical attention was Mrs. Nellie Stringer, of Brooklyn, who was taken to the Staten Island Hospital suffering from shock.

Most of the passengers, however, lost all their belongings and many of them, bound for a vacation at Bermuda, lost large sums of money. Members of the 11-piece International Orchestra of Philadelphia lost all their instruments, which they valued at $15,000.

Some of the passengers said a scramble ensued during the last few moments for places in lifeboats, but Dr. Henry D. Thomason, the ship's surgeon, said the lifeboats were lowered so rapidly that the passengers had no time to become panic stricken.

The passengers of the Algonquin, it was announced, will be transferred today to the Cherokee, which will take them to Jacksonville, from which place they may continue their trips by train to Miami and Galveston.

Those passengers of the Fort Victoria who desire to start for Bermuda again today may do so on the Furness-Bermuda liner Fort St. George, officials declared.

There were 261 sacks of mail aboard the Fort Victoria, the foreign division of the postal service announced today. All of it went down with the ship.

the bride's home Tuesday night by the Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Lewis, of Clairton. They left for New York shortly after the ceremony, arriving yesterday morning and going directly aboard ship.

The professor telling of the ramming of the Fort Victoria, said:

"We were in our cabin. The crash tumbled us about and I felt the boat list.

"Arriving on deck, a steward handed us life preservers and told us to put them on. There was no excitement. We lost all our clothes.

"We were taken off the ship and taken back to the pier in the pilot boat and from there to the McAlpin Hotel where we were furnished with night clothing and anything else we might need for the night."

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin first met at the University of Pittsburgh. The bride, then Miss Key, was a student in the college. She graduated in the class of 1923. Her husband has been teaching at the local university several years.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. McCabe, of 1038 State avenue, Coraopolis, received word from New York that their daughter, Miss Ruth McCabe, was safe. The message continued that she would return home today.

Dr. McCabe stated that the telegram failed to indicate whether his daughter or the steamship company had sent it. The parents have attempted to communicate with the girl.

Miss McCabe is a teacher of English in the Washington (Pa.) High School, where she has been employed for the past three years. She had planned spending the Christmas vacation at Bermuda with a friend, Mrs. Duncan Patton, who has resided there since giving up her post as a teacher at Washington some time ago. Miss McCabe is a graduate of Wooster College.

Her mother, who recently recovered from an illness, is in a hysterical condition owing to the accident.

Franklin Legion Post To Fete G. A. R. Head

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 19.—The American Legion Post of Franklin will entertain at dinner next February in honor of Phillip Engelskirger, Civil War veteran and state commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. Engelskirger, who is not yet 80, is counted one of the "youngest" of the 1861-65 veterans in the whole state.

The banquet will be the second event of 1930 for the local post, a membership banquet in January being first on the program.

comes next to Bethlehem Steel. The colossus is United States Steel, making 40 per cent of all steel made in America.

U. S. STEEL has recently reached out to the Pacific Coast, absorbing a great steel concern there.

The late Judge Gary, discussing different steel stocks, said: "Remember always that our company can sell steel at a profit for less than it costs others to make it. That would not be good for other companies in a price war."

Judge Gary, who understood public opinion and welcomed competition, in reason, always avoided war of any kind.

He knew there was plenty of money for all. If they knew how to get it. He knew how. His successors know, also.

STARS PREPARE OPERA MEALS

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—There's a reason for the zest in the banquet scenes on the Chicago Civic Opera stage. The stars concoct their own dishes for the on-stage meals.

Someone smelled out of the secret behind the scenes and invited the golden-voiced cooks to exhibit their culinary accomplishments at a hotel luncheon.

Madame Claessens cooked her ragout a la mere Louise. Cesare Formichi contributed souffle a la scapria (which he cooks for "La Tosca") Andrigallo Lazzari furnished spaghetti a la leporello (the dish for "Don Giovanni"). Each claims an original recipe.

RECIPES GIVEN

The recipes, each for six persons are:

Spaghetti a la Leporello, by Lazzari—¾ pounds butter; ¼ pounds salt pork; 1½ pounds spaghetti; ⅛ pounds grated Pecarino cheese; ¼ pounds grated Parmesan cheese; 1 pound fresh tomatoes; 1 moderate size onion; 3 tablespoons cocktail sauce. Remove the skins from the tomatoes and prepare as for stewed tomatoes. Dice the salt pork and onion, and place in sauce pan with ¼ pound butter. When onions become slightly browned, pour in tomatoes and simmer gently for one hour. Add cocktail sauce and leave on fire for two minutes. Wash the spaghetti and cook in boiling salt water for 15 minutes. Drain in a colander, then add one-half the sauce and one-half the cheese. The remainder of the sauce is poured over the portions as served and the cheese is sprinkled on individual portions.

Ragout a la Mere Louise, by Claessens—½ pound beef tenderloin; ½ pound veal tenderloin; ½ pound lamb; ½ pound fresh mushrooms; 1 green pepper; 2 onions; ½ cup flour; 2 cups beef bouillon or consomme. Dice beef tenderloin, veal tenderloin and lamb. Saute with best olive oil on quick fire. Cut onions and one green pepper in small dices. Slice ½ pound of fresh mushrooms, put 6 ounces of butter in pan. Fry until the onions turn yellow. Pour in meat and sprinkle half cup flour over it. Let stand on side of stove for about 10 minutes, add beef bouillon or consomme and a little chili sauce. Let cook until meat gets tender, then add salt, pepper and a little Worchestershire sauce.

FORMICHI'S FAVORITE

Souffle a la Scarpia, by Formichi—½ pint milk; 3 ounces butter; 3 spoons flour; 5 raw eggs; 3 spoons powdered sugar; ½ pint crushed pineapple. Boil milk, sugar with juice of pineapple, butter and flour and cook till it loosens from pan. Then, after it had cooled off, mix with yolk of eggs and crushed pineapple and at last mix in white of egg. Put mixture in earthen bowl and bake for 20 minutes. Serve with chocolate sauce.

BOX SEES PERIL IN MEXICANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The influx of aliens from the Western Hemisphere was described by Representative Box (Dem.), of Texas, as the most menacing phase of this country's immigration problem.

Speaking before the Sons of the American Revolution, the ranking Democrat on the House Immigration Committee asserted that the building of dikes against the flood pouring in from Europe and Asia had increased the pressure from neighboring countries in the new world. He added that Mexico, from which a large part of immigration from this hemisphere comes, sent aliens to the United States embodying "practically every serious and menacing element of America's immigration problem."

"Disturbance and want among them and the desire on the part of Americans for their cheap and subservient labor bring them here just as the same considerations have brought people from Europe and Asia," Box said. "It is absurd for any class of people in the Southwest and West to insist that they be permitted to import such people as these for their labor and that their fellow Americans of other sections who desire European and other kinds of labor shall be denied that privilege."

FIVE AIR LINES IN NEW FIRM

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The Aviation Corporation has announced that it is forming a new subsidiary company to take over the transport operations of five of its present subsidiaries.

The subsidiary companies to Aviation Corporation affected are: Colonial Airways Corporation, Interstate Air Lines, Inc.; Southern Air Transport, Inc.; Universal Air Lines, and Empry-Riddle Aviation Corporation. Several of these companies also operate flying schools and airports, and these activities will remain under the separate subsidiary offices.

James F. Hamilton, who announced at Rochester, N. Y., his resignation as president of the New York State Railways and bus and trolley subsidiaries of the Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, will head the new transport company.

Aviation Corporation and its subsidiaries now hold about 15 per cent of the air mail contracts in this country. In conjunction with the New York Central Railroad, the Universal operates a transcontinental air-rail passenger service.

Rum Car Captured, Chauffeur Escapes

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O., Dec. 19.—A sedan, believed to have been bound for Charlestown, W. Va., bearing 170 gallons of liquor and a half-gallon jug wrapped in paper and intended for a "Christmas present," was captured here early today by Patrolman Elmer Marhoffer.

The driver fled from the machine while Marhofer was driving it to jail. He escaped despite the fact that a bullet caused him to drop while in flight.

WILD ANTARCTIC SEA IMPERILS EXPLORERS

Sir Douglas Mawson Relates Fight for Life in Launch Swept Near Giant Cliff

Reticent about dramatic events in his own life and concerned only with the success of his expedition in Antarctica, Sir Douglas Mawson relates for the first time how he and a companion escaped death in a battle with high seas in an open launch.

The barometer was dropping, but Sir Douglas set out in the launch from the S. S. Discovery to bring back from Heard Island the remainder of his scientific party. Near a giant cliff, the fuel line of the launch clogged, and waves pushed the frail craft ever nearer the rocks, where the two explorers would have been battered to death. Sir Douglas tells how the escape was made.

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON,
Commander of the British, Australian and New Zealand Antarctic Research Expedition.

S. S. DISCOVERY Dec. 17.—(Delayed.)—When in the future we think of Heard Island, two things will always remain in our minds. One was the narrow escape Sergt. Douglas and I had; the other is the legions of birds which make the island their home.

Even in the hours of the night the birds invaded our hut ashore and the ship riding at anchor. One morning Capt. John Davis, the Discovery's master, put his foot into his sea-boot—or tried to. He was surprised to find a burrowing petrel in the toe, evidently pleased with its ready-made nest.

Brave Rough Sea

Unfortunately, the weather has been going from bad to worse. The Discovery, after holding anchor off the island with difficulty, was driven to sea on November 30 in heavy weather. The barometer for the rest of our time here was little above 28. The Discovery hove in sight again on December 2, anchoring in Corinthian Bay.

Semaphoring from the cliff, we ascertained that Capt. Davis was anxious for the shore party to embark and allow the Discovery to depart from these dangerous waters. Also, our delay at Heard Island was eating into our meager coal supply, upon which our future Antarctic program depends.

Consequently, we decided to make a trial trip with our open launch from Atlas Cove to the Discovery's anchorage in Corinthian Bay. Towards evening, loaded with our scientific collections, Sergt. Douglas; Marr, our planktology expert; Prof. Johnston, our zoologist, and I embarked upon the trip. The high seas proved ugly along the reefline and headland, and although we nearly lost the boat, we finally boarded the Discovery.

At Mercy of Waves

We decided to wait until morning before attempting to bring off the remainder of the party and equipment. Breakfasting early, Douglas and I set out for Atlas Cove, with a shore wind rising and the barometer rapidly falling.

We safely negotiated the reefs in the heavy seas, but when travelling under the heavy basalt cliffs, against which dashed the heaviest seas, a clogging of the gasoline pipe line stopped the engine.

For several minutes, as we were being tossed and pushed ever nearer certain death between the seas and the cliff, we heaved anchor never getting a hold. We struggled without a word to find some spot where the hook could get a bight and save us from being battered to death. We slung out all our line, and then heaved the hook time and again, but without avail. Always we were getting nearer the cliff, nearer death. The Discovery, far away, could do nothing to aid us. Still we battled.

Battle in Blizzard

Just as we were being caught in a giant wave that would have taken us right to the face of the cliff, our anchor caught hold somewhere, somewhere many fathoms down, for all our line was out. We swirled in the sea, but the hook held tight, and we were safe. With a shout, we set to work cleaning out the pipe line. In 10 minutes, the damage was repaired and we were on our way. But we had another battle on our hands getting through the seas out of the way of the cliff. We finally succeeded.

The wind increased on our return trip with the others of the party, but after an anxious 90-minute run in a driving snow, we reached the anchorage in Corinthian Bay none too soon. The barometer had fallen half an inch during our absence, and the Discovery's engines were taxed to their limit to prevent the ship's being driven to sea.

After the severe weather which we experienced at Heard Island, we were glad to see its shore disappear in the mist and snow squalls, but a recompense for our strenuous days ashore, we have fine scientific collections.

From Heard Island, a course was set approximately east by southeast, hoping by soundings to ascertain how far the Kerguelen and Heard Islands submarine ridge extends toward the Antarctic continent.

This quest was most successful. The soundings were determined by our echo sounding gear, which is working well, and agrees with the Lucas machine determinations. The shallows measured on the ridge showed 350 fathoms at about latitude 59, longitude 78, which is marked by a contrast to the 2,000 fathoms on either side.

Sight First Iceberg

Since leaving Kerguelen Island, which itself is within the extreme circle of floating ice, the first iceberg for us was sighted December 7, at latitude 59.

Our deck coal and that in the winch-house has now been consumed, and this permits our paying out and rewinding 3,000 fathoms of dredge cable, preparatory to the beginning of our full oceanographic program.

Campbell, our plane pilot, and Serg. Douglas, both of them R. A. F. men, are rendering invaluable scientific assistance, and have taken charge of the winding engine and other mechanisms.

The sea, which, after departing from Heard Island, was rough until yesterday, has now moderated, and we are hopeful calmer waters are being reached.

Weather Conditions.

The Southwest rainstorm is centered over Virginia this morning with increased intensity, while the Northwest high is still centered over the Dakotas with diminished intensity. The activity in the low pressure area, and its slow easterly movement is delaying the much colder weather advancing from the Northwest. The cold spread over the South, however, carrying below-freezing temperature to the Gulf of Mexico, and snow into Southern Alabama and Mississippi. Zero weather occurred in Southern Kansas and Missouri.

River Conditions.

The Allegheny River is still rising slowly, while the Monongahela is falling. Stage at Franklin is 9.6 feet; Parkers Landing, 10.3; Lock No. 7, 13.3; Pittsburgh, 17.3; Dam No. 4, 15.8; Dam No. 6, 17.7; Dam No. 9, 17.0, and Dam No. 12, 15.3. The upper Allegheny will be falling by night. The lower Allegheny and the Ohio will continue to rise, between 18.0 and 18.5 feet expected at Pittsburgh by Friday morning.

7 AUTO THEFTS LAID TO 3 BOYS

Three 15-year-old boys, who, police say, stole seven automobiles in the Squirrel Hill and Hazelwood districts during the night, were being held by police today while the stolen machines were being traced. The youths were arrested at Wightman and Northumberland streets, Squirrel Hill, while running away from a machine they had abandoned, police say.

The boys, whose names the Sun-Telegraph will not publish on account of their youth, are believed to be the same trio who narrowly escaped being wounded or killed while fleeing amid a rain of shots fired by Police Lieut. M. M. Murphy earlier in the night. Lieut. Murphy, of the Hazelwood station, detected three young men in a stolen automobile in Beechwood boulevard and when they refused to halt, he fired upon them.

Police say the boys would steal one car and after joy riding in it a short time, abandon it and steal another. They are said to have had difficulty in attempting to start the machine of George Watson, at 5505 Forbes street, which had been parked in front of the Watson home. Watson saw them and called police. The boys ran but were captured after a short chase.

RUM CASE NEAR JURY; FINAL PLEAS MADE

SCORES FRIEDMAN

Attorney Lencher reviewed the testimony given by government and defense witnesses. Attorney Coll made a scathing attack on the credibility of Charles Friedman, confessed bootlegger and ex-convict, who was the star witness for the government, and that of other government witnesses who had admitted on the witness stand that they had perjured themselves in testimony they gave at the previous McKeesport rum conspiracy trial in 1927.

After all testimony was in the court denied motions of defense counsel for binding instructions of acquittal for Justice of the Peace Charles E. Reinhard, of Versailles Township; Nathan Friedman, Ben Frank, Sam Crown and Louis Davidson. Nathan Friedman, who is a brother of the government's principal witness, went on the witness stand and said he had been acquitted in the former McKeesport liquor conspiracy trial.

John J. Whalen, acting chief of McKeesport police, appeared as a character witness for all the police officers on trial and declared they all bore good reputations. J. Denny O'Neil, of McKeesport, a clerk in the County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes, appeared in behalf of Robert Prosser, former county detective.

APPEAR FOR POLICE

M. J. Quinn, chief of the McKeesport fire department, and John A. Gorman, superintendent of the McKeesport Connecting Railroad, were among the character witnesses for former Police Chief Brennan. John Baumgartner, of Versailles, a contractor, and E. G. Shaffer, a Monongahela police officer, and former member of the state highway patrol, appeared in behalf of Squire Reinhard.

For more than two hours there was a steady parade of character witnesses for the various defendants, among them a number of women. In rebuttal the government placed William Friedman, son of Charles, on the stand to contradict testimony of Brennan that William Brennan had never driven him in a machine to Ligonier. The witness said there had been three trips in 1926 and 1927 in which he accompanied Brennan to the latter's cottage in Ligonier.

Martin Firestone, of Beaver Falls, former resident of McKeesport, a defendant, went on the witness stand and denied being in "Friedman's gang of bootleggers in 1925." He said he had a conversation with Friedman at which the latter accused him of making a report that resulted in a raid on a distillery in Liberty Borough. He also denied testimony of Harry Markoss, confessed bootlegger, that he had given $15 to Policeman Leo Vennebush, a defendant. He admitted doing some plumbing work for Friedman and Markoss on the Greenwalt farm in Versailles Township, where Friedman admitted having a distillery.

SAW NO LIQUOR

Three defense witnesses testified occupying space in an garage owned by Robert Prosser, a defendant, but denied moonshine whisky had been stored there, as was testified by Charles Friedman. George W. Gray, city treasurer of McKeesport, called as defense witness, said that money collected by police magistrates was sent to the Mayor's office and then turned over to him, for which he gave receipts to the Mayor.

VIRGINIA GIRL FOUND SLAIN

ROANOKE, Va., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The body of Freeda Bolt, 18-year-old school girl, missing for the past week, was found by Floyd County officers late last night hidden beneath a pile of logs on Bent Mountain, 18 miles south of Roanoke, a heavy cord was drawn tightly about her throat.

A coroner's inquest was to be held today, meanwhile Buren Harmon, an acquaintance of the girl who had been held for investigation in connection with her disappearance, was to be questioned by officers. Police said Harmon gave the information leading to the discovery of the girl's body.

The girl, daughter of J. K. Bolt, who lives near Willis had been boarding in Willis while attending school. Her father asked police aid after her disappearance and told officers she had been seen in company with Harmon the night of her disappearance.

Sun-Telegraph Newsboys To Be Movie Guests

A huge Christmas theater party is in prospect for Sun-Telegraph newsboys. Arrangements have been completed for the reception of the boys in the Aldine Theater, Liberty avenue, Monday and Tuesday.

Several thousand newsies probably will be entertained. To add to the delights of a good movie, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company have promised to donate the use of Televox, famous electrical man, for the newboys' shows. SCORE MELLON IN COIN DENIAL

BOSTON, Dec. 19. — (AP.) — Terming the foundation of Massachusetts Bay Colony one of the three greatest National events in the history of this country, John Jackson Walsh, chairman of the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary Commission, Inc., severely criticized Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, for opposing the coinage of 500,000 50 cent pieces for the tercentenary.

Secretary Mellon reported to the Senate Committee on banking and currency, opposing the issue, which had been requested by Senator David I. Walsh and Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, as "a dangerous and objectionable practice."

Agreeing that most of the 15 events since 1920 for which half dollars were issued were comparatively local, Walsh stated that the discovery of America by Columbus, the coming of the Puritans to Massachusetts with the first charter for free government in the world and the Declaration of Independence were the three greatest National events and that the coming of the Puritans never before had been fittingly commemorated.

CHANGE IT MADE WAS WONDERFUL

Lady States, In Telling How Ten Herbs Ended Her Health Troubles.

If you doubt that Ten Herbs, the new herbal medicine, has exceptional merit, read the statements of men and women of this section that are appearing in this paper. Today it is Mrs. John S. Wheaton, Route 6, Mt. Oliver, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), who tells what a wonderful change Ten Herbs made in her health. This is not an exception to the rule, as this celebrated compound has helped thousands of people of this city and vicinity back to health by entirely relieving stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, nervousness, rheumatism and neuritis. The ten wonderful natural ingredients of Ten Herbs cleanse and invigorate the whole human system. If ailing, get a bottle of Ten Herbs today—your druggist can supply you.

"Ten Herbs helped me so much that it made a wonderful change in my appearance," says Mrs. Wheaton. "I had suffered from stomach, liver and kidney trouble and rheumatism for two years. I was not able to do my housework, as there were terrible pains across the small of my back. It was impossible for me to walk up stairs—had to use my hands and knees. Blood circulation was so poor that my hands would become numb. My stomach was so badly disordered that food would ferment, causing gas and bloating. I had to be very careful what I ate.

"A neighbor, who had derived good results from Ten Herbs, advised me to try your medicine. Before I had finished the first bottle I felt improved and it was not long until my liver and kidneys were working as they should. The pains left my back, and I was able to do my housework again. My stomach was benefited so much that I could enjoy my meals without having distress afterwards. Blood circulation was improved, and my hands no longer got numb. I am pleased to give Ten Herbs my endorsement."

Ten Herbs is sold at all drug stores in Pittsburgh and by all druggists throughout this entire section.

GERMAN CLAIMS DOPE CURE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. — Dr. Harry Petters, New York neurologist, has arrived from Germany with a secret formula for the cure of narcotic fiends.

The remedy, Dr. Petters said, is the invention of Dr. Hubert Kahle, of Cologne, to whom, he claimed, the German government has already sent a hundred patients. He said the cure, in 90 per cent of the cases, is permanent.

Dr. Petters said he is withholding the formula from the medical profession, at the risk of charged being unethical, because he is afraid of its improper administration by doctors and its use by dope addicts.

The patient, the neurologist said, is put into a sleep of five days, during which the curative drugs are administered. He said:

"The cure consists of administering drugs to excite the vagus nerve, which extends from the brain to the heart, in order to calm the sympathetic nervous system."

SAILOR KILLED TRYING RESCUE

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—John Hopp, 25, of Milwaukee, Wis., baker, second-class, aboard the mine layer Quail, was killed at the Charlestown Navy Yard while attempting to save a pal from falling off a gangplank.

Preceded by George Springoski, 25, of Chicago, water tender on the Quail, Hopp was returning to his ship, which was tied up at the navy yard, after shore leave. As Springoski tripped and fell to the deck of the Quail, Hopp lunged to save him and dropped into the water. As he fell his head struck the pier and he was dead when pulled out.

CAPITOL GRAFT CHARGES HIT

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Joseph C. Houston, Philadelphia architect who served a two-year term for complicity in the capital furnishings graft cases, has asked Gov. John S. Fisher to "stop this man Taylor" from making false charges concerning light fixtures found in the basement of the capitol early this month.

Huston, in a letter to the governor, denied that any valuable fixtures had been hidden away and asserted that those found had been stored because of replacements.

Taylor pointed to the untarnished finish of the fixtures to prove that they never had been placed in service.

DRY ROW BALKS ENFORCEMENT SHIFT PLAN

Hoover's Proposal to Divide Power Facing Long Delay In House Because of Split

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—President Hoover's proposed reorganization of federal prohibition agencies faces a long delay in the House as a result of a split among leading Drys over his proposals, it was disclosed today.

While administration leaders expect the House ultimately to back the President in his plans, they indicate no attempt would be made to use "steam roller" tactics to accomplish the purpose.

The chief division among the drys is over the transfer of enforcement activities from the Treasury, under Secretary Mellon, to the Department of Justice, under Attorney-General Mitchell.

The attempt of Hoover to meet this objection by leaving control of commercial alcohol in the Treasury and giving the Justice Department the job of ferreting out liquor law violations and prosecutions, has failed to heal the split and has aroused new opposition among the drys.

DELAY LIKELY

As a result, House leaders indicated the entire question would be laid aside until the proposed joint Congressional Committee works out a plan with Gavin McNabb, selected by Hoover to study the whole question.

The joint committee resolution, passed by the Senate two days ago, will be considered after the Christmas recess, Representative Snell (Rep.), of New York, chairman of the rules committee, said.

Snell predicted passage of the resolution and ultimate adoption of Hoover's plans, but said it is likely that legislation for transfer of activities from the Treasury to the Justice Department will await the report of the committee.

The presidential proposal to leave permit activities in the Treasury is believed to be an answer not only to dry organizations, but to the National Association of Druggists and Industrial Alcohol Makers. Having accustomed themselves to the Treasury's system, they oppose the transfer.

HOUSE UNCONCERNED

Some congressional drys hold such a separation of federal enforcement activities would weaken the whole dry regime.

"So far as I am concerned, I was elected on a platform which called for transfer of prohibition enforcement to the Department of Justice and I stand on it," said Representative Hudson, (Rep.), of Michigan, one of the House dry leaders. "Some think nothing is to be gained by shifting an organization, that already has been reorganized several times."

"There is a difference of opinion among drys over the subject, and I am not prepared to say which method I prefer," said Representative Cooper, (Rep.), of Ohio. "I am for enforcement, and if the transfer would create better enforcement, I shall support it."

The House modificationists apparently are unconcerned over the matter.

"There will be no particular modificationist opposition," said Representative Black (Dem.), of New York. "The enforcement division might as well go to the Justice Department as elsewhere—it ought to go in the sewer."

Some of the dry organization leaders who have been critical of the Hoover proposal are now understood to be ready to support him, on the ground that the country elected him to enforce the dry law and intended he should have a free reign. Some friends of Secretary Mellon, whose prohibition regime has been criticized, object to the transfer as a slap at him.

Man Loses Injury Suit Based on Heathen Curse

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A Prussian court decided that Fritz Berberich had become injured as the result of his own carelessness and not from the curse of heathen gods incurred by removal of the remains of "Satan's throne" from Pergamon, "The Lofty Citadel," in Turkey.

He had brought suit for damages against Dr. Theodore Wiegand, director of the Museum of Antiquities in Berlin, and also against the Prussian government on the ground that he had been employed by both as a foreman. He had sought a life annuity, alleging that his injuries had incapacitated him for his accustomed work.

RUM WITNESSES FIGHT THREATS

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Pistols swung today from the hips of two government witnesses, who reported their lives had been threatened after testifying against 29 officials and private citizens charged with operating an officially protected rum ring at Mullan, Idaho.

Kootenai County officials gave the witnesses permission to arm themselves yesterday after it had been reported that men involved in the alleged wide open liquor traffic of Northern Idaho desired to "get" them.

Anthony H. McGill, former Mullan bartender, soldier of fortune and miner, who got his first smell of gunpowder in the Klondike, served notice that he was ready for "anything" as he donned his cartridge belt and gun.

M. E. Needham, former chief of police of Mullan, the other prosecution witness, as he strapped a six-shotter to his side, said:

"I heard long before this case started that the gang at Mullan was going to 'get' me. Tell 'em to come on. I've sent word that when Needham starts something he finishes it."

HOUGHTON GETS CHURCH POST

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Alanson B. Houghton, former ambassador to Germany and Great Britain, was welcomed formally as the new chairman of the commission on international justice and good will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America at a dinner in his honor last night.

He succeeded George W. Wickersham, chairman of the recently appointed national law enforcement commission.

In an address, Houghton said the policy of the church commission was to advocate "reduction of armaments to the lowest level compatible with self-defense" and support of "the president in his efforts to eliminate competitive naval armaments." The commission will urge, he said, "the entrance of the United States into the world court on the basis of the Root formula."

In turning over his office to Houghton, Wickersham said he did so "in the glad confidence that no more earnest, convinced, devoted and worthy lover of international peace and justice than he could have been selected for this position."

MEXICAN RAIL STRIKERS WIN

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Striking employes of the Mexican Railway, British-owned road connecting the Capital with the important port of Vera Cruz, won their demands in the award handed out by President Emilio Portes Gil, who was named as arbitor of the dispute last week.

The workers had demanded that the railway sign collective labor contracts under which the employers, when in need of more workers, could select names only from a list submitted by the unions. The President decided the company must sign such contracts and moreover must pay the wages of the strikers from the time they left their work on December 7.

The decision was voluminous, covering 80 typewritten pages. The company made no reply, but when the matter was placed in the hands of the President it was understood his word would be final. The strike had seriously tied up traffic between this city and Vera Cruz.

Soviet Occupation Perils Peace Move

LONDON, Dec. 19. — (INS.) — Despite the demands of the Mukden government that all Soviet troops be withdrawn from Chinese territory as a preliminary to the negotiations for a settlement of the Sino-Russ controversy over the Chinese Eastern Railway, Soviet troops still occupy the Manchurian cities of Hailar and Manchuria, according to dispatches from Mukden today.

Unless these troops are withdrawn, it is feared progress of negotiations for a settlement of the controversy may be hampered.

Weaker Sex Sought By Chicago Judge

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(AP.) — Judge Sabath is for the weaker sex. Charles Mitchell, sued for alimony, averred he was out of work because of poor health. The wife said she had been losing weight and was way down to 106. The judge sent them both to be looked over by a doctor. He proposes to make the stronger support the other.

Steam Heat Used in Fifth Century B. C.

75 Pupils Escape As School Burns

FREDERICK, Ill., Dec. 19.—(AP.) — Seventy-five pupils escaped uninjured from the Frederick Public School which burned yesterday. The fire was caused by an over-heated furnace. Lacking fire fighting apparatus, the village population could do nothing but watch it burn. It had served for 52 years as school house, and in two more weeks would have been deserted for a new building, just completed.

OUSTED SCHOOL HEAD UPHELD

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—William McAndrew, former superintendent of schools, ousted following Mayor William Hale Thompson's last election campaign, in which Thompson and his advisers charged McAndrew with permitting British progaganda in textbooks used here, has won his long fight for vindication. Judge Hugo Pam ruled that he "had not been guilty of acts of insubordination," as charged by the School Board when it ousted him, in March, 1928.

As the result of the decision, McAndrew is in a position to sue the city for approximately $6,000 back pay, but through counsel said he would take no such action, "seeking merely vindication through the hearing."

During the Mayor's campaign, one of his slogans was "Oust King George's stool pigeon."

Upon filing of the insubordination charges, the School Board sat as a trial jury and heard a number of witnesses characterize some Chicago school histories as containing propaganda for the British. Among the witnesses so testifying was former Congressman John Gorman, who assailed a history written by Prof. Muzzey, of Columbia University. Because of the testimony, Gorman was sued by the professor, and in the trial of the suit withdrew his statements, apologized and admitted he had never read the book in question.

After receiving the decision, counsel for McAndrew appeared before Judge Thomas Taylor and indicated the suit for $250,000 filed by McAndrew against Mayor Thompson, alleging libel, would be withdrawn.

Sweden Redeems $25,000,000 Loan

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The Swedish Public Debt Commission has redeemed the 1919 6 per cent $25,000,000 loan at the current rate of exchange. As the American dollar is at a discount in Sweden, the Swedish holders of these bonds are losing on the transaction.

The Bank of Sweden will soon receive a consignment of $1,300,000 in gold from New York and this is expected to restore the parity of exchange.

Senate O. K.'s Fund To Fight Fruit Fly

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—The emergency appropriation of $1,290,000 for a government campaign against the Mediterraneam Fruit Fly in Florida, was passed by the Senate following its enactment by the House.

The measure now goes to the president for his signature, after which the appropriation will be immediately available.

Plea for Pardon Of Boy Slayer Presented

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A plea for the pardon of Elmer Leonard Perry, sentenced at the age of 13 to serve 17 to 19 years in prison for the killing of an 80-year-old neighbor, was made to the State Board of Pardons.

The boy, sentenced under the name of Elmer Washburn, has served six years and is now 19. He beat an aged neighbor on a Susquehanna County farm to death with a shotgun in attempting to rob him.

Thomas A. Doherty, pleading for the release of the boy from Montour County Jail in Danville, to which he was transferred on the ground that he was too young to mingle with penitentiary convicts, said that he was insane at the time of the killing. The attorney declared Perry is now sane, has become a musician and is ready to take his place in society.

It was brought out that the jury that found him guilty made a recommendation of mercy.

PRINCESS GIVES FUNDS TO POOR

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Wedding gifts are pouring in on Princess Marie Jose, who is to be married to Crown Prince Humbert of Italy in January, and she in turn is distributing large sums for the benefit of poor children.

It was announced that the children of Turin where she will reside after her marriage will receive 125,000 francs from her and she had earlier given 50,000 francs for the children of Brussels and 25,000 francs for the Ostend poor.

The table flower stand of silver with carved statuettes representing the hours of the day that the city of Brussels is giving to the princess was placed on view at a local silversmith's.

Christmas Feast For Unfortunates

Refrigerator Drowns Sounds of Robbery

ZOARVILLE, O., Dec. 19.—Thieves stole 6,000 cigarets, $10 and apparel of unestimated value from Stone Brothers' store here by switching on the motor of the refrigeration system, to muffle the sound.

FASCISTS' NEW RULES O. K.'D

ROME, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The grand council approved the statutes of the reorganized Fascist party in the form announced several months ago. The chief change is that high Fascist officials in the future will be appointed by royal decree after nomination by the Premier.

The council issued an order of the day saying:

"The Fascist grand council, after having approved the statutes of the party which become today effective and binding on all Fascists, invites all those who feel unable to accept fully and without restrictions the rigid discipline of the Fascist party to present their resignations within a week.

"Those who for physical or moral reasons or for special reasons resign can participate in the life of other subsidiary organizations of the regime, but in the party, as in the militia, all from the chiefs to the rank and file ought to have the spirit of troops of the first line, capable, especially in difficult times, of any sacrifice."

Hotel Cecil, London Tourist Mecca, Sold

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The Cecil, one of the best known hotels in London, which was frequented by numerous Americans and is more or less a landmark, was sold to Shellmex, Ltd., for approximately £1,500,000.

It is understood that the new owners, a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch, intend to transform the hotel into a big office building which will include a large restaurant on the ground floor.

4 Prisoners, Deputy Escape Court Fire

STILWELL, Okla., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Trapped on the top floor of the Adair County Court House, four prisoners and a deputy sheriff slid down a rope of knotted blankets to safety here when the building was destroyed by fire. All of the county records were burned. Robert England, 30, a prisoner, received a broken arm when the improvised rope parted.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Five robbers drove up to the loading platform of the shipping and importing firm of Mario Sacco, in Pearl street, in a five-ton truck, held up the manager and two workmen, loaded 15 bales of women's and men's silk hosiery and other apparel into their truck and drove away, leaving the three men, bound hand and foot, locked in a rear room.

Let OTTO . . Master of Hair Waving give you your Christmas Wave

What type of wave will make your hair look its loveliest through the holidays? A permanent—a finger wave—a marcel?

Otto is master of them all. Trained in Europe and a favorite at the Ritz-Carlton, in New York, Otto is now in the Terminal Beauty Salon of the William Penn Hotel to give the women of Pittsburgh the kind of service that made him famous in New York.

Let Otto give you your Christmas coiffure. Let him, by the skillful placing of the waves . . perhaps a bit looser here and a dip there . . bring out all the charm of your features. Let him show you how attractive your hair really can be. It will make Christmas a gayer occasion and the New Year rich with promise!

There is no extra fee for the services of this artist—but to be sure of a pre-Christmas appointment telephone now. His time is fast being taken.

Marcel Wave $1.00 Waldorf Finger Wave $1.00
La Nimret Permanent Wave $15.00

The story of this extraordinary selling is short. Our favorite shirt maker purchased from a famous silk mill their surplus stocks of silk shirtings . . . silks that sold at $2.00 and $3.00 per yard wholesale. He made them up according to McCreery standards and we present them at the incomparable price of $3.95.
Never before in the history of McCreery's Men's Shop have we offered such high-grade Silk Shirts at such a remarkably low price.

Mary Garden Will Sing Over Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

As vari-hued as a piece of Scotch plaid and as colorful as the rainbow itself is the concert arranged by Victor for the WEAF network at 10 o'clock tonight. Mary Garden, whose personality alone is of more concern than most singers' entire careers, will greet us with numerous favorites. Her program ranges from the light folk song, "Comin' Thru the Rye," to the heavier works of Debussy and Bizet.

A specialty will be Nathaniel Shilkret's arrangement of "In the Gloaming" for the prima donna and vocal quartet. Incidentally, the new Victor Salon Orchestra has an excellent repertoire tonight. WCAE will be the Pittsburgh station.

Countess Olga Albani, the Spanish soprano, will be featured with Rudy Vallee on the Sunshine Hour, WCAE at 8.

Conscience has at last bothered the Champion Sparkers. They will—or at least they say they will—broadcast the often advertised and much awaited "Red" Grange sensational run as part of their program over KDKA at 8:30.

If you've never listened to the Pickering String Quartet, WJAS at 7:30, we would recommend it as a pleasant half hour of chamber music.

The National Opera Company will give us "Aida" over WCAE at 11 o'clock.

The sponsor of Sacred Songs is under the physician's care, the result of overwork.

MORE "ELEVENS."

Stirred to imagination by Edwin J. Wuerthele's "All-America Radio Team," published last Sunday, more than 50 fans have submitted their ideas of a perfect radio lineup.

Apparently only one reader noticed that through a typographical error only 10 selections were printed for the "Eleven."

And this reader, "for no good reason at all," includes 15 best bets on his first team and goes so far as to choose a second and a third team with specific reasons for his selections.

Virginia Harmon is an Amos and Andy fan. She rarely misses an episode despite her busy radio, social career.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Precautions have been taken to guard the two canaries in "Cheerio" following the receipt of a letter threatening to "get them at any cost." The birds are valued at $3,000, but "Cheerio" says he will never sell them.

WCAE—Grand Opera "Aida." Story of the Opera.

Aida, the daughter of Ethiopia's king, is held in servitude by the Egyptians. She loves Radames, who loves her. Amneris, daughter of the King of Egypt, is secretly in love with Radames also. The latter is chosen leader of the troops to resist the invading Ethiopians.

Amneris learns that Radames loves Aida, as she had suspected. She is furious. Among the prisoners brought from the war by Radames is Amonasro, Aida's father, though his rank is not known to his captor. The King liberates all prisoners, save Amonasro and Aida. In addition he gives to the unwilling Radames the hand of his daughter in marriage.

Radames, whose marriage is about to take place, resolves to flee with Aida and Amonasro, but is apprehended by the high priest, Ramphis, and Amneris.

He is tried for treason and condemned to death, notwithstanding the entreaties of Amneris in his behalf. The last scene shows the reunion in death of Aida and the hero.

The cast:
Aida ..... Astrid Fjelde, soprano
Amneris ..... Devora Nadworney, contralto
Radames ..... Julian Oliver, tenor
Amonasro ..... Frederic Baer, baritone
Ramphis ..... Earl Waldo, bass
The King ..... Leon Salathiel, bass

Kidnaping Scare Proves Hoax By Child

DETROIT, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Detroit police have filed away as "finished business" the "kidnaping" case of 11-year-old Marie Mikus.

Marie's mother reported that the child had been missing since Sunday and that she had received notes indicating the girl had scribbled them just before being carried away by force. All that time Marie was at the Juvenile Detention Home, where she was taken after being found wandering on the street Sunday. At the Detention Home she claimed to be an orphan from Cleveland, seeking a mythical uncle in Detroit for a home.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

WILKINS SEEKS NEW BASE

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS
Commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition.

ON BOARD THE WILLIAM SCORESBY, near Adelaide Island, (Antarctica), Dec. 19, (via S. S. Melville and KUP, San Francisco Examiner Wireless Station)—At 6 o'clock this evening we crossed the Antarctic Circle and are now seeking an air base near Pendleton Bay on Adelaide Island.

Extensive pack ice forced us off shore at 10 a. m., and we have been following the edge since, looking for an opening to push ashore.

The sea is smooth and the packing is a small, thick stream like sugar cubes floating on heavy oil. A few seals bask lazily in the sunshine and penguins hurry to investigate us as we approach. An occasional sea bird flies by and some killer and fin whales have been seen, but life is not plentiful.

If it is possible to make land we will keep still further south, hoping to reach Marguerite Bay.

Our search for a suitable field for an airplane takeoff is a daily disappointment. The spirits of all aboard undergo barometric change with success and failure. Our greatest consolation is news messages broadcast by KUP, our only communication with the outside world.

Steam Heat Device Found in Temple Of 600 B. C.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A Greek temple of the sixth century, B. C., with 50 life-size statues, has been unearthed on the Island of Cyprus, in the Mediterranean, by the Swedish professor, Sinar Gjerstad and his associates.

In the remains of the recently excavated palace of Vouni, of the same island, dating from the fifth century, B. C., Prof. Gjerstad found a room to which water was led in three conduits and then boiled in order to heat the bedrooms on the second floor with steam.

The results of his researches show that Cyprus was colonized by the Mycenaean Greeks about 1200 B. C.

OVERHOLT HEAD GETS DRY FINE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—John Nathan Parker, president of the Overholt Distilling Corporation at Broad Ford, Pa., was fined $5,000 in Brooklyn Federal Court after entering a plea of nolo contendre to an indictment charging violation of the prohibition law.

The court dismissed similar charges against his son, James W. Parker, and against the distilling corporation. Federal officials said acceptance of the fine by the government enabled the company to ask renewal of its permit to manufacture liquor next year.

The Overholt corporation is one of the largest distilling corporations in the United States.

3 BANKS ROBBED 9 MEN HELD

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Three banks were robbed in this section yesterday, and nine men suspected of robbing banks recently in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska were held by authorities for investigation. Two men confessed to having robbed a bank in Blue Springs, near here, Monday. Although the looters of one of the banks robbed yesterday escaped, posses were hot on their trail. Two men who robbed the other bank were captured by a posse.

At Stafford, Kan., the Farmers National Bank was held up by two neatly-dressed men, who got away with $6,000 after locking seven persons in the bank vault. Officers and vigilantes were searching for the robbers over Central Kansas.

Two robbers who held up the Pattonsburg Savings Bank at Pattonsburg, Mo., took approximately $8,000, but were apprehended within a few hours by a posse near Gallatin, Mo. A gun battle ensued, but none of the men on either side was wounded. The loot was recovered, and the two men, booked as L. C. Penrod and J. E. Ester, both of Kansas City, were jailed at Gallatin.

At Ferrelview, Mo., a robber held up the Farmers State Bank and escaped with $153.

From Joplin, Mo., word came that four suspects in bank robberies that occurred recently in Missouri and Oklahoma are in jails of the two states. Officers were seeking two other men involved in these robberies.

At Wichita, Kan., five men were arrested and questioned regarding the robberies of the People's State Bank at Wichita last July and the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Omaha last month.

SKIPPER GONE, SHIP INQUIRY ON

HAVANA, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Investigations are under way in an effort to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Capt. G. W. Gower, of the Munson line steamer Bellasco, while that vessel was proceeding from Havana to Cardenas.

The Bellasco left Havana Monday with Cardenas as its destination to take on a load of sugar and on her arrival at the latter port the chief officer, R. M. Mitchell, reported the disappearance of the captain.

The matter was taken up by the port authorities of Cardenas and the British consul at that port.

Beaver County Man Held Up and Robbed

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 19.—Daniel McDougall, Homewood, reported to police he was held up by two armed masked bandits.

Sweden's Literary Shrine Razed By Flames

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Sweden's most famous literary shrine, the Rotternos Manor House in Vermland, which served Selma Lagerloef as a background for her novel "The Story of Goesta Berling," has been destroyed by fire.

The old house, which Miss Lagerloef calls Ekeby in her book, had a rich collection of furniture and pictures, which could not be saved.

Street Car and Auto Crash, Woman Hurt

When an automobile driven by her husband collided with a street car near the Avalon-Ben Avon bridge, Mrs. B. M. Davis, of 724 Washington street, Sewickley, was cut and bruised last night. The machine became wedged between the trolley and a pole and was virtually demolished.

KIN SLAIN, MAN FACES TRIAL

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 19.—Dan Mover, 37, of Driftwood, Washington County, faces a charge of manslaughter or murder as the result of the death of his brother, Joseph, 35, in the hospital here yesterday.

The younger Mover was fatally injured early Sunday when beaten by his brother during a drunken brawl following an argument over a woman, police say. The elder brother is alleged to have pinned Joseph to the floor, beating him over the head with a cuspidor until he became unconscious.

Dan Mover is being held in the Washington County Jail without bail pending a coroner's inquest and filing formal charges against him by authorities.

4 HURT IN MAIL PLANE CRASH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The westbound mail plane of the Boeing Company crashed near Loomis, 25 miles north of here, last night. W. P. Fassett, telephone company manager at Loomis, informed the Associated Press that the plane, apparently in difficulty, had flown low over the town and crashed on a ranch near the outskirts.

A Mrs. Sullivan, of Los Angeles, and G. W. Renish, of Omaha, Neb., the passengers, and Ray Little and Ted Logan, of Oakland, pilots, escaped with slight injuries, Fassett said. They were taken first to Loomis and then removed to Roseville for treatment.

ANOTHER HORST CLUE FAILS

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 19.—(AP).—Another promising clue, purporting to solve the mysterious disappearance of 4-year-old Melvin Horst from his home at Orrville, a year ago, was exploded here.

A boy of five, who answered to the name of Lawrence Smith, but who insisted that his real name was Melvin and that he had once been carried away from his home in a sack, was brought to the office of County Prosecutor John G. Chester, Jr., by County Detective Howard Lavely. Lavely had been "tipped" by a man who talked with the boy.

Mrs. Caroline Ward, who insisted that she was Lawrence's grandmother and had reared him from the time he was seven days old, accompanied the child to the prosecutor's office. While Chester was questioning both the woman and the boy, Dr. Joseph A. Turner, Columbus physician, appeared at the prosecutor's office and said he was present when Lawrence was born. He also corroborated the grandmother's story that the child's father is dead and that his mother, Dorothy Smith, now lives in Detroit.

PIANO SCHOOL ENLARGED

The Wurlitzer Music Foundation Piano School is enlarging and improving its accommodations for music students taking advantage of the Sun-Telegraph's offer of free piano lessons.

The fourth floor of the building is rapidly being cleared and decorated for class use. Classes are already meeting in the front part of the floor, and the middle and rear sections will be ready in a short time.

Classes will be composed of boys and girls, men and women, anxious to learn to play the piano by way of the new method used by the Wurlitzer Music Foundation. The course extends over a period of three months, covers the rudiments of music which, teachers say, required two years to teach formerly.

Persons who wish to take this course may do so without cost other than a slight charge for materials. By obtaining three 26-week subscriptions to the Sun-Telegraph, anyone may register in the school and start the lessons. They may register when they have secured one order; they may obtain the remaining two any time before the day of their first class.

SHE'LL WED FRESHMAN

MORTON M. HOYT AND FORMER WIFE, EUGENIA BANKHEAD

Mrs. Hoyt, daughter of Congressman Bankhead, Alabama, and L. M. Butt, University of Nevada student, have taken out a license to marry at Reno, where last week Mrs. Hoyt secured her second divorce from Hoyt, whom she married in 1920 and remarried in 1928.

Mabel Normand Improves Slightly

MONROVIA, Cal., Dec. 19.—(INS.)—No change in the general condition of Mabel Normand, former screen star, was reported today by her physicians. Slight improvement continues, although Miss Normand is in serious condition, attendants at a sanitarium reported. The once popular actress has been in the sanitarium here several months, suffering from a serious ailment affecting her lungs.

HOYT'S EX-WIFE TO WED AGAIN

RENO, Nev., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt, daughter of Congressman Bankhead, of Alabama, was not joking the other day when she obtained her divorce from Morton M. Hoyt, and said she was not going to remarry Hoyt again, but that she was going to Honolulu.

Under the name of Jeanne B. Hoyt she obtained a license to marry Lawson Butt, who gave his address as Honolulu. The license was obtained and the couple then started out to be married, but apparently went to a neighboring town, for they had not been married here late yesterday canvas of ministers and judges indicated.

Butt is a freshman student at the University of Nevada and is the son of Mrs. L. M. Butt, of Santa Monica, Cal. The couple intend to go to Honolulu.

The Hoyts were first married in 1920, divorced, and remarried in 1928. Hoyt startled the world last year by leaping from a liner in mid-ocean.

BLAME CAPTAIN IN SHIP FIRE

SEATTLE, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Investigation of the wreck of the coastal freighter Skagway, which was grounded Monday on the rocks near Cape Flattery, Wash., with a fire raging in her hold, today found Capt. Eric Strandquist and First Mate Peter L. Strom at variance as to how the ship should have been handled after the blaze was discovered.

Strom asserted the captain should have battened down the hatches and shut off the ventilators. In his testimony before United States steamboat inspectors the mate declared the captain "couldn't have created a more ideal condition had he deliberately attempted to burn the ship."

Second Mate R. E. Cook and Third Mate Peter Toft shared Strom's opinion.

Capt. Strandquist, however, testified that the ship had become unmanageable because of water turned into the hold in an attempt to put out the fire and he beached her to save the crew.

The captain's stand was supported by William T. Comerford, chief engineer.

Pantages Allowed 3 Hours 'Freedom'

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Alexander Pantages, wealthy showman awaiting a ruling on his conviction and sentence to prison for attacking Eunice Pringle, young amateur dancer, was back in his cell at the county jail today. He was allowed to leave jail yesterday for three hours to attend to business affairs.

Downtown 'Y' Will Hear James C. Mace

SUIT INVOLVES TELEVISION

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—Television patents said to be worth several million dollars were involved today in a legal battle here between Eugene B. Core, New York capitalist, one on side, and William Cox and the Television Laboratories, of San Francisco, on the other.

Core seeks an order enjoining Cox from concluding any deals with the Television Laboratories and at the same time seeks an accounting of funds spent by Cox in promotion of a television deal, which he declares is pending.

Core told the Superior Court yesterday he had advanced Cox $13,000 for expenses in July of this year after they had agreed to purchase, if possible, valuable television patents held by the Television Laboratories.

Cox denied making an agreement with Core, although he admitted he had offered $1,000,000 to the Laboratories for the patents. This offer was refused, he said. Proposed purchase of the Television Laboratories, valued by the owners at $25,000,000, the court was told, was to have been the outcome of the patent transaction.

Homestead Child Injured by Auto

Suffering a fractured skull, Mary Ward, 14, of 812 McClure street, Homestead, is in a critical condition in the Homestead Hospital today as a result of being struck by an automobile near her home last night. Joseph G. Meszaros, of 347 Johnston street, Pittsburgh, driver of the machine, reported the accident to police. The child ran in front of his car, Meszaros said.

Wants Dry Law Quiz As Part Of Census

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Edward A. McSorley, of Lakeside Villa, Pearl River, N. Y., has sent to the editor of the New York American the following practical suggestion for learning without cost the actual national sentiment on prohibition:

"Touching on the burning question of prohibition and the desirability of ascertaining the true opinion of all the people of the United States in relation to this widely discussed law, we are approaching an event which will allow, without additional expense, the compiling of this desired information.

"The census enumeration commences in 1930. The census enumeration consists of a number of questions, some of which are not for such general interest as prohibition. I would suggest that one more question be added, viz: 'Are you in favor of prohibition?' And let the answer be 'yes' or 'no.'

"Your advocacy of this suggestion would be invaluable in having it added to the census questionnaire."

2 WANTED IN FRAUD VANISH

HANCOCK, Wis., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Elmer C. Huckins and his son, George, charged at Cedar Rapids with obtaining money by false pretenses, were listed as fugitives from justice.

While authorities at Excelsior Springs, Mo., sought traces of the son, the elder Huckins, with his wife, disappeared in an automobile three hours after warrants charging the father and son with obtaining money under false pretenses were sworn out in Cedar Rapids, Ia.

The false pretense charge was made by the county attorney at Cedar Rapids on information furnished by William Speas, manager of the Cedar Rapids Mississippi Valley Baseball Club. Walter J. Barngrover, attorney for the Huckinses at Cedar Rapids, said, however, he did not believe his clients had gone into hiding in an effort to evade arrest, but that they had met in some city to discuss the situation. He expressed confidence that they would return in time to answer the charges.

Pimples Affected Face, Back, and Shoulders. Cuticura Healed.

"My face, back and shoulders were affected with pimples. They were large, red and hard, and scaled over. The pimples itched, causing me to scratch, and scratching caused eruptions that disfigured my face. At night I could not sleep on account of the soreness and irritation.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a free sample and it helped me so I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Guy Casarcia, 135 Murdock Alley, Canonsburg, Pa., April 12, 1929.

Hollywood Happenings and Christmas Week Shows in Theaters Here

MURDER TRIALS IN THEATER, ACTORS CLEAN STATUE, CHURCH TALKIE NEXT

By GEORGE SEIBEL

WHAT to do with the theaters is one question that is bothering the owners of playhouses that are passee. The famous Hippodrome in New York, which occupies an entire block on Sixth avenue, is to be razed to make way for an 83-story sky-scraper. But every theater can't be replaced by a sky-scraper, for the sky-scrapers are becoming somewhat superfluous themselves, besides being under suspicion of causing traffic congestion in our large cities.

George Seibel

Maybe we can adopt the useful hint from Guayaquil, in Mexico, where they are having a murder trial in the theater, charging admission. No, it is not the case of Mary Dugan. Nicolo Trivino, detective, has killed Bravo Malo, district attorney. There was such a crowd who wanted to witness the trial that the judge asked the minister of the interior for change of venue to the footlights.

With our courts congested as they are, and our theaters dark and empty, the Quayaquil plan is worth considering.

Billie Burke has just appeared in a drama, "Family Affairs," which lasted only five days. Now if it had been some real family affairs from the Court of Domestic Relations, perhaps the speculators would have to handle the tickets eight weeks ahead.

New Jobs for Actors

While the problem of the theaters is being solved, it might also be a good time to find fresh activities for the actors. This is really a serious matter, as hundreds of excellent artists are walking the Great White Way looking for something to do.

But it isn't that which has driven De Wolf Hopper into a new trade. He is going to clean the statue of Giuseppe Verdi, which stands in a park at Broadway and Seventy-third street. Verdi had accumulated much grime and soot in the course of years, and New York's municipal authorities are too busy with other things to bother about cleaning a statue. Perhaps they were getting even with Verdi's compatriot, Fiorello La Guardia, for the last mayoralty campaign.

Anyway, the people in the neighborhood complained about Verdi's unwashed condition, and were told they might clean Verdi themselves, using soap and water.

This is where De Wolf Hopper comes in. He lives in the neighborhood and has agreed to head the cleaning squad. He is going to call on the Metropolitan Opera for assistance. Why not? The Metropolitan has made much money out of Verdi and could afford to furnish the soap needed.

No doubt they will. If Otto Kahn hears of it, he may even volunteer to help De Wolf.

Talkies to Blame

They blame it all on the talkies, which have drawn the audiences out of the old-time theaters into the new indoor stadiums where the pictures do it all—act, sing, play, and what not. Roxy is even going to spray his audiences with perfume.

And they are always finding new uses for the talkie. In Brooklyn the other day some bandits who were about to rob the safe of a theater were frightened away when a film in the projection room was being tested, and shouted out: "What are you doing here?" The bandits took flight.

Besides that, a debate on marriage has been staged by the Fox Movietone, Bertrand Russell and John Cowper Powys taking the opposite sides of the debate.

If this keeps on, S. Parkes Cadman will soon preach all our sermons in all our churches every Sunday. It's the next step. Will Hays, who has been dropped from the directorate of the Church and Drama Association, might get even with the clergy by taking away their jobs next.

Beauty Queen

Dorothy Britton, once winner of the "Miss Universe" title and now in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," coming to the Nixon next week, speaks lines and plays parts in the production as well as reigning as beauty queen.

BRITISH MOVIE FIRM FINED

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Film Booking Offices, Limited, one of the largest firms of film renters in Great Britain, was fined $125 and costs of $250 at Marlborough Police Court for failing to comply with the requirements of the cinema films act of 1927. The case was a test.

The company had only 6.1 per cent, instead of 7.5 per cent, of British films in its exhibition of films during the year. The defense pleaded they were unable to acquire another British picture in place of a Canadian film which the Board of Trade had refused to accept as British. The magistrate remarked the Canadian picture was made in Hollywood and he was not satisfied the company had found it beyond its means to reach the necessary quota of British pictures.

Electric Light Bills Worry New Castle

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 19.—The Penn-Ohio Electric system has offered the city a new lighting contract of $77,747 a year for 616,950 candlepower. This is an increase of $758 which City Council does not care to incur. The city has offered $76,989 for 515,000 candlepower. It is also possible that the system might take over the curb lighting systems owned and operated by the city at a price of $25,000. They cost the city $35,000 ten years ago.

AUTHOR OF PLAY FREED, JAILED

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Charges of grand larceny brought against Irving Kaye Davis, 29-year-old playwright, by two persons who backed his play, "Veils," and lost money, were dismissed. He was immediately rearrested under an indictment accusing him of making false statement to sell stock in a play.

The grand jury indictment charged that Davis, to effect stock sales, falsely asserted that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and John J. Raskob were interested in the success of his play and that Lee Shubert, theatrical manager, and Adolph Zukor, motion picture magnate, wanted to invest in it.

EIELSON PLANE RESCUE HALTS

NOME, Alaska, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Four Alaska Airways pilots who hopped off from Teller to search for pilot Carl Ben Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, missing since November 9, in the Siberian wastes near North Cape, were forced to return to their base after a futile two hours battle with snowstorms and fog banks over Bering Straits.

The pilots who made the attempt to fly to Eielson's rescue were Joe Crossen, Ed Young, C. H. Gillam and J. Barnhill. They were using open cockpit planes, which are unsuited to Arctic flying, but are the only ones available in the north northwest.

Pilot Matt Neimenen flew to Teller, the base of rescue operations, to repair Frank Dorbandt's plane which was cracked up in an attempted takeoff. Repairs will be rushed on this plane as it is of the cabin type and well equipped for Arctic flying.

Neimenen returned to Nome and will depart for Fairbanks, where three large Fairchild planes are expected soon from Seattle.

'GENERAL GRANT' HE MAY BE BUT MUSTACHE IS OUT, SAYS DIRECTOR

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19.

SEVEN more days before Christmas. Judging by the beards around local stores, Santa Claus has nothing to give the barber . . . .

He was a director. He could prove it. He had a megaphone. He was directing a scene in which an actor was made up a la Gen. Grant.

"Take that guy out and remove his beard," yelled the director.

"But he's playing Gen. Grant!" expostulated a high school diploma.

"What do I care! Take off his beard. I wouldn't let Napoleon, the Great, wear a mustache on this set!"

Discovered. A dark and indigo slice of S. P. Schulberg's past. Ben is the high mogul of Famous today. Day before yesterday, he was publicity man for the same kumpny. In the days of Mary Pickford, Sarah Bernhardt et al. And—here's the dark and indigo part—'Tis he who coined the slogan that adhesives to Miss Pickford to this day: "America's Sweetheart."

Mary Pickford

Al, by the by, has dabbed his pen into several sketches which will be used for the new M. G. M. revue. Including several for the old-timers—Fay Templeton, De-Wolf Hopper, Louis Mann, et cetera. There's a chap on that set imported along with the old-timers who is 80 years old. He originated tap dancing.

"Queen Kelly" Delayed Again

DIDJA hear the one about the producer who called several writers in and told 'em to write a minstrel show? "I saw my last minstrel show 30 years ago," volunteered the producer. "I don't know anything about 'em," modestly. "But now look, this is what I want!" . . .

Gloria Swanson

And now production on Gloria Swanson's "Queen Kelly" has been postponed until January. Will Kelly ever ascend her celluloid throne . . . ?

John McCormack's daughter, Gwendolyn, is a Hollywood success. Um, she is playing a part in her daddy's initial outloud, as yet a title orphan. She's a clerk in an Irish village postoffice. And having recovered from "mike fright," Gwendolyn is a bit of a sinematic vet.

FIELD HEADS LARGE CAST IN REVUE

Besides W. C. Fields and Dorothy Britton, the two leading characters in Earl Carroll's Vanities, to be seen in the Nixon next week, the cast numbers 100 persons and includes such talent as Ben Blue, the Bennett boys, Joey Ray, Grace Wells, Dorothy Lull, Paul Russell, Theodore, Enrica and Novello, Patrick Henry, Vivian Wilson and Elsie Connor.

In connection with William Gillett's farewell tour in "Sherlock Holmes," it is interesting to recall that when this actor went to London to act "Secret Service," a young girl named Ethel Barrymore, was playing a minor role, and understudying Odette Tyler, the leading woman. Miss Barrymore tried to get another engagement in London when Gillette ended his season there, and she was about to return to America, completely discouraged, when Henry Irving and Ellen Terry asked her to join their company. Miss Barrymore appears in the Alvin next week in "The Kingdom of God," and during New Year's week in "The Love Duel."

George Sharp has sent to New York for a large round top tent, such as is used by carnivals on the road, for the setting of "The Barker," which will be presented in the Pitt next week. The whole action of the play is about men and women who travel with a carnival.

NEW FILM IN GRAND

"Show of Shows," all song, talk and color picture produced by Warner Brothers, opens today in the Grand. Seventy-seven prominent stage and screen players are in the cast. A chorus of 1,000 girls appear in dance routines.

Usually it is very hard to get a chance in pictures, but Don Terry is the exception that proves the rule. Twelve days after the young Harvard man and former English light-heavyweight champion, came to Hollywood as a mere tourist, he was signed on a long term contract by Fox for "Me, Gangster." The latest appearance of the tall and husky baseball and football player and pugilist, is in "Untamed," the Joan Crawford all-talking picture, which comes to the Penn Monday.

"Pointed Heels," featuring William Powell, Helen Kane and "Skeets" Gallagher, will open tomorrow as the all-talking film attraction in the Stanley. On the stage, Dick Powell will present "Season's Greetings."

"The Battle of Paris," starring Gertrude Lawrence and Charles Ruggles, will be the all-talking attraction in the Enright, beginning Saturday. On the stage, Jay Mills present "Jingle Bells."

COLMAN COMING

Ronald Colman, star of "Condemned," the new Samuel Goldwyn picture which comes to the Aldine Monday, is not one of those screen heroes who believe that they must always appear in front of the camera in a spotless shirt and with every hair in place. On the contrary, he prefers roles in which he can vary the customary picture of a movie hero and rough it in old clothes. Previous to "Condemned," in which he plays the part of a debonair thief, he appeared as a freebooting South Seas trader and a Gypsy chieftain.

"Christmas Follies" week opens in the Harris Saturday with Keith vaudeville bookings, including the Six O'Reillys, making a first tour of American theaters in a startling gymnastic act. Betty Compson in "The Street Girl" will be the screen attraction.

During the six weeks it took to film Radio Pictures, "The Vagabond Lover," Rudy Vallee, the featured player, was reported engaged six times to as many different screen beauties. Sally Blane plays opposite Vallee. The production will open its Pittsburgh engagement Saturday in the Sheridan Square.

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

WE SHOULD like to complain about the sport of bowling. Yes, we should. All these years we have gone serenely on, hiding our true feelings about bowling, but the time has come to call a duckpin a duckpin.

We intend to speak our mind on the subject. The veiled threats which have come our way we shall disregard. We say now, fearlessly and without qualification, A DUCKPIN IS A DUCKPIN!

What we started out to say was that we don't like the scoring system in bowling. Why not give greater rewards to the bowler who topples over five, six or seven pins than to the bowler who knocks 'em all down? Certainly it is harder to bowl over just five, if one understands that bowling over five is perfection.

Tomorrow: a critical study of parchesi.

ALEX STEVENSON, Pitt's football scout, was in New York for a week to see the Army-Notre Dame football game and the tall buildings. At his hotel Alex gave instructions to valet service that his idle suit (he had two with him) be pressed daily.

Alex intended to change suits daily. He forgot. He wore the same suit six days running. Result: The other suit, unworn, was pressed six days running.

Where are the corner mail boxes of yesteryear? Those were the good old days when a mail box stood proudly on each corner, beckoning to the letter-laden citizen. Ah, but those were the good old days . . . before the horseless carriages, ahead of the electric refrigerators, yes, even before the war!

The corner mail box is fast disappearing. It is being moved into office buildings and attached to long chutes. Nowadays if the pedestrian wants to mail a letter—a harmless letter, even — he must have the patience of a hiker.

The corner mail box is being sacrificed to this age of reckless speed. Youth must have its fling! We feel very old today.

ONE of the officials of the recent Duquesne-Haskell Indians' game executed ingenious strategy in support of his suspicions. He suspected a Haskell man from the bench was signaling plays to the quarterback, a time-honored trick practiced by more than one.

"Listen," he advised the Haskell quarterback as the team lined up for the next play. "I've been watching things. I think I just saw the signal for a triple pass. If you call for a triple pass on this play you're penalized 15 yards."

The next play was a line buck.

'BULLET-PROOF' MACHINE HITS ANOTHER

Monastero Accused of Passing Two Cars on Left; Pair Suffer Fractures of Legs

Sam Monastero, 41, brother of Louis Monastero, alleged bootleg supply king killed last summer by rival gangsters in front of the St. John's Hospital, and his bullet-proof automobile again were in custody of police today following an accident in East street.

Monastero's car collided with one operated by Louis Merriman, 69, of 519 Melroy street, Ambridge.

Merriman and John Heineman, 34, Overbrook street, suffered fractures of the left legs and are in Allegheny General Hospital.

Police said Monastero passed two street cars on the left. He was arrested for violating the auto laws. Merriman will be charged with reckless driving when he is released from the hospital. Both cars are held by police.

The Monastero car figured in the killing of Louis. He and Sam had gone to the hospital in the machine to visit a friend, and when they stepped from the car slugs from a gangster's sawed-off shotgun riddled Louis. Sam battled with his revolver, but escaped unhurt.

HILL TOP LOSES TRANSFER PLEA ON INCLINES

Decrease in Revenues Is Cited as Cause for Refusal of Requests

Efforts of the Duquesne Heights Civic Association to obtain transfers on the Mount Washington and Duquesne Heights inclines, good on Pittsburgh Street Railways Company cars, have failed.

Vice President T. J. Fitzgerald, of the railways company, says that after four conferences were held between the railways company and the owners of the inclines it was decided that an anticipated decrease in revenues prevented the adoption of such a plan.

Several months ago a large delegation of Duquesne Heights citizens stormed the office of the railways company and requested that car riders be given transfers good on the inclines and for the one cash fare.

Mr. Fitzgerald promised at this unheralded gathering he would consider the question and met the representatives of the Monongahela Incline Company, owners of the Mt. Washington incline, and those of the Duquesne Heights Incline Company. It was finally decided that neither company was in a position to decrease the revenues.

Getting dolls ready for Christmas, just like most all the girl employes at the Internal Revenue offices. The doll in white is to be sent to an Alaskan mission for a child in the far North.

FORGET DUTIES TO AID SANTA

When there are only a few more shopping days before Christmas the prosaic matter of money is forgotten in the Internal Revenue office, Federal Building. Only dolls have any place in the minds of the young women clerks employed there.

Every year the toy mission sends hundreds of unclothed dolls to the revenue office, where they are dressed by Miss Elizabeth Keenan and her co-workers. Miss Keenan will tell you that there is a Santa Claus and that she has been aiding him for several years by dressing and repairing dolls.

Miss Keenan points with pride to a 35-year-old doll, dressed in white. It was owned by Miss Margarete Barterger, a missionary in Anvik, Alaska. Miss Bartberger's sister sent it to Miss Keenan to be repaired and mailed to the mission in Anvik.

Secretary Wilbur, who is a former president of the American Medical Association, was recently appointed by President Herbert Hoover to serve as chairman of the forthcoming White House conference on child health and protection. He was Hoover's aid during the war in food conservation.

WITNESS WON'T FIT STAND

Before Frank M. Winters, a defendant in the Greensburg Brewing Company "wort" case in Federal Court, was called to testify in his own behalf, Attorney Ben Paul Brasley, of defense counsel, made a careful inspection of the enclosed witness stand. He was then granted permission by Judge Nelson McVicar to remove the chair from the stand.

The action of the attorney was made clear to spectators and attaches of the court when Winters appeared. He weighs 425 pounds and is of medium height. His counsel was afraid that Winters would not fit comfortably in the enclosed stand.

Winters is an employe of Charles Luebbe, said to be a distributor of the brewing company product, and the latter two, together with F. A. Maddas, banker, and other officials of the concern, are on trial on a charge of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law by alleged manufacture and sale of "wort" to be used in manufacturing beer with an illegal alcoholic content.

VOTE HEARING SET FOR JAN. 6

Judge Harry H. Rowand, presiding in Quarter Sessions Court, has tentatively set January 6 for a hearing of the Glenshaw election contest and assigned Judge Thomas J. Ford to hear the case.

The answer of Clyde E. Cathers, declared elected commissioner for the fourth district of Shaler Township, or Glenshaw, is on file today and not only denies that he was elected by illegal votes, but asserts that George P. Thomas, his opponent, is not a naturalized American, but is a citizen of France.

E. L. Ainsworth and 36 other Glenshaw voters, filed the contest against Cathers December 3, alleging that seven of those voting for Cathers were not residents of the district and that 16 others who voted had not paid taxes within two years. The vote was Cathers, 185; Thomas, 178.

In the answer, filed for Cathers by Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, it is alleged five of the signers to the petition contesting the election, are not qualified electors, and that 14 who voted for Thomas had not paid taxes within two years.

24 Companies Have No-Accident Month

Twenty-four local companies operated their trucks during the month of November without an accident, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council announced today. The 24 fleets were entered in the inter-fleet drivers' safety contest which was held under the auspices of the safety council and the Better Traffic Committee. Sixteen of the above companies also operated without an accident in October. The contest started October 1 and will run six months. There are approximately 60 companies competing with 3,901 vehicles entered.

'SURPRISE' EXPENSE BOBS UP

Sum Asked for Sixteenth St. Bridge; Mayor Quizzed On Knowledge of Item

City Council, meeting today to pare down the 1930 budget to fit the revenue accruing from the 26 and 13 mill tax levy ordered on Tuesday, were jolted when they learned another $125,000 must be provided for. Estimated expenses for 1930 top those of 1929 by approximately $2,000,000.

City Solicitor C. A. Waldschmidt explained that the $125,000 was due as the city's share in the cost of constructing the Sixteenth Street bridge. A motion to determine whether Mayor Charles Kline knew of these extra expenditures and neglected to put them into the budget, was passed.

HERRON OFFERS MOTION

John S. Herron, in presenting the motion, said he wants to know whether new items are going to continue to crop up. The motion also asks the controller whether the Mayor was notified of the two items.

Another motion, asking that a survey be made of the large amount of coal being used in the new heating plant at the city hospital at Mayview, was also passed. Morris Knowles, engineer, who put in the new plant, was ordered to check its efficiency.

DAMAGE COSTS HIGH

Council got its first jolt yesterday upon learning that $726,000 would have to be provided next year to pay property damages caused by this year's program of raising North Side streets above flood level.

On top of that, another $1,070,000 was estimated as property damage that will be caused by next year's program, principally the improvement of General Robinson street.

John S. Herron called upon the Bureau of City Property to report the amount of revenue coming in from abandoned No. 8 fire engine house, Highland avenue and Broad street.

"Somebody is using it," Herron said, "for the outside of the building is covered with advertising signs and the inside is filled with used automobiles."

HOLD UP PAY BOOSTS

Ordinances authorizing pay increases for policemen and firemen and other city employes receiving not more than $2,040 a year will not be considered until the present Council expires next January 6.

The delay is seen as a move by Mayor Kline's majority to deprive McArdle and President Malone of a vote on the pay raisers as reprisal for their opposition to the Mayor.

A new Council will organize in January with the addition of Clifford B. Connelley and M. J. Muldowney as members, increasing the Mayor's majority to seven.

The present majority is expected to block consideration of McArdle's motion, now on the table, to raise the pay of all policemen and firemen, excepting chiefs and assistant chiefs, and giving a 15 per cent increase to all other city employes getting not more than $2,500 a year.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Pittsburgh's divorce rate is astounding! What is your suggestion to correct the malady?

MARQUIS CHISHOLM, continuity writer, East End: "Divorces are usually the outgrowth of misunderstandings. In the cases of those who have children, it is the result of either one or both in failing to comply with the principles of fair play. Either of the participants should have more tolerance. Both should live closer to their children. Tolerance and family ties sum up everything."

Marquis Chisholm

JANET E. KING, secretary, Wilkinsburg: "The solution of the divorce problem is just this: If two persons of the same interests and likes, agree never to be untrue, always to talk everything over, never intentionally hurt one another's feelings and always be real pals, there never will be any divorce as far as they are concerned."

Janet E. King

MRS. ALICE C. ROOP, singer, Wilkinsburg: "Most married folks make the mistake of not talking over their difficulties. This is very true in the important subject of money matters. Neither has a complete understanding of the other. If one hurts the feelings of their mate, and the couple don't thresh out the matter amicably, the match ends up in the divorce courts. Real love results in very few divorces, however."

Mrs. Roop

LLOYD F. DRAKE, artist, Wilkinsburg: "A question of as much importance to society as that of divorce is a hard one to answer. Off-hand I should say the one and only solution would be careful consideration, selection and discrimination before marriage—tolerance and a desire to do one's utmost in uniting the respective personalities and ideals after marriage. In other words keep on being sweethearts after the honeymoon."

Lloyd F. Drake

MILDRED HIXON, operator, Homewood: "The right solution for divorce is to take precautions in seeing that the person you marry has the same interests as you do and that you are really loved by that individual. I've seen too many of these so-called hasty marriages go on the rocks from want of a real foundation of love and affection to take any chances myself by haste. Slow but sure should be the policy of those contemplating wedded bliss."

Milded Hixon

GLENN RIGGS, radio announcer, Wilkinsburg: "Tolerance is the only possible solution for the divorce problem. Not only is it effective in married life but also in ironing out the problems of many other individual issues. Both the man and the woman should be tolerant to the brim and go half way on every subject concerning each other. With this thought in mind the question of divorce would be but a negligible one."

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 19.—Secretary Stimson and the Japanese have conferred on their demands at the disarmament conference. That's like two jurymen getting together and agreeing on their verdict before the court even opens.

We mustn't be too hard on that poor misguided district attorney at Laredo, Texas, who wanted to arrest Calles, and almost caused us war. Maybe he was only following the usual district attorney's methods—trying to attract enough attention to become governor.

Its funny about that office, but in every state in the union its the same. There should be a clause in every district attorney's contract, "this office does not necessarily entitle you to governorship ambitions. Keep your mind on your job."

Yours,

WILL.

Lions Pick Needy Families For Christmas Aid

At the "Past Presidents' Day" meeting of the East Liberty Lions Club in the East End Y. M. C. A. yesterday, the sermon of the Rev. W. W. T. Duncan, in which he advocated the aiding of selected families rather than indiscriminate distribution of Christmas baskets, was unanimously indorsed.

Dr. Duncan, pastor of the Emory Episcopal Church, in his sermon Sunday, said that wholesale distribution of Christmas baskets defeats the purpose of the donors and promotes poverty. The Lions Club selected a committee which determined the families most deserving of aid.

D. T. Howell and Dr. Duncan composed the committee. Between 15 and 20 families will be helped by the club, members of which have contributed $200 toward a special Christmas aid fund.

Past Presidents Lou Hartman and Dr. Wallace Ohl were honored at the meeting and were presented with their certificates from the Lions International.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—Some fellows can't help being big. Take my old friend, Will Rogers, for instance. He devoted his entire column in the Tuesday's paper welcoming me to the writing clan.

Rogers told his readers that I am a specialist in matters pertaining to finance and Wall Street.

The cowboy humorist is right.

I know so much about finance and Wall Street that I was forced to write my book, "Caught Short," and to do a daily column in order to recoup the losses caused by my expert knowledge of things financial.

Will Rogers calls me another Babson—but he should hear what they're calling Babson.

P. S.—If the editor omits the title "Caught Short," written above, he can get another boy to write giggles for his old paper.

G. E. TOOLE

PAIR BEAT, ROB PITTSBURGHER

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 19.—Residents of the Smiths Ferry district today were caring for G. E. Toole, 32, former manager of the Sears-Roebuck Company store in Pittsburgh, who early yesterday was beaten by two young men on a lonely road after he had asked help in repairing a tire. Toole lives at 647 Gettysburg street, Pittsburgh.

Toole was beaten and robbed, and then stripped of his clothing. The thugs then threw him over a 25-foot embankment into the waters of Upper Dry Run. The victim, confined to the home of Mrs. Jennie Duncan, of Smiths Ferry, told his story yesterday to state police and county detectives.

Mrs. Ida Walker, daughter of Mrs. Duncan, heard Toole groaning as he lay in the shallow water of the creek as she was en route home at 4:30 Tuesday morning. She summoned aid and the man was removed to her mother's residence. Dr. J. A. Helfrich, of Midland, was called, and said Toole would not be able to leave for a few days.

An automobile, believed to be Toole's, was found stripped of accessories on the road near where the attack occurred. Toole had been on a business trip to Cleveland and was returning home when attacked. His car also was looted of a traveling case containing extra clothing.

GIRL ATTACKED, ROOMER HELD

After being released from the county jail where he had served a 10-day sentence for drunkeness, Wallace Thompson, 25, of Butler street, faced a more serious charge today, that of attacking a 7-year-old girl, detectives reported.

The alleged attack occurred December 6 in the home of the girl's grandmother where Thompson roomed. The victim, with her parents, who live in East Liverpool, O., were visiting the grandmother at the time.

The girl was reported in a critical condition in St. Francis' Hospital as a result of the attack, Detectives Frank Morgan and M. V. McGraw declared.

The first intimation of the affair came Monday when the girl became violently ill. A physician ordered the girl's removal to the hospital. The child then related the story of the attack and a search was instituted for Thompson.

Tuesday night, a relative of the victim, employed as a relief engineer at the county jail, chanced to see Thompson while he was serving his sentence there. Unaware that Thompson was being sought in connection with the attack, the engineer informed other relatives of the roomer's whereabouts.

After hearing of his incarceration, the girl's parents hurried to the office of Alderman F. T. Halloran, Penn avenue and Forty-second street, and swore out a warrant which was served on Thompson at the expiration of the 10-day sentence.

Because of the girl's age the Sun-Telegraph is withholding her name.

AMOUNTS ASKED CONSIDERED EXCESSIVE

Property Owners Near McKees Rocks Structure May Delay Work by Acts

Approximately 110 property owners are asking fabulous sums for property damages for land necessary to construct approaches to the McKees Rocks Bridge, to span the Ohio River between the old Indian mound town and California avenue, near Termon avenue, North Side, county officers say.

Assistant County Solicitor Artemus Leslie, who has been attending the hearings conducted by the Board of Viewers of Allegheny County, says that unquestionably many claims will be contested, unless the owners accept a reasonable sum for their property.

The bridge, which is to be more than 7,000 feet long or practically a mile and a quarter, is said to be the largest individual undertaking of its kind ever attempted by the county. The electors have voted $7,000,000 for the building of the structure.

The new bridge will connect with the proposed Ohio River boulevard on the North Side and will come to the surface at O'Donovan's Bridge in Island avenue, McKees Rocks.

About 60 claimants for damages have been heard, hearings having been suspended this week until January 2 and 3 next.

POSTAL WORKER HELD IN THEFT

Alfred J. Weigand, 60, has been sorting mail during 16 Christmas rushes in the Butler postoffice. But this year there'll be a substitute.

Weigand was held for court today, charged with the theft of a letter containing $3.25.

At a hearing before the United States commissioner, Postoffice Inspector R. C. Alexander testified that $1 and a 25-cent piece, both marked, were found in the man's possession. They had been sent through in a test letter after reports had reached their official ears that money letters were being lifted from the mails. Weigand said, it was testified, that he had spent the other $2.

Alexander said Weigand admitted to taking other letters and money.

"I was hard up," he said.

He was held in default of $2,000 bail, charged with embezzlement.

SLAYING TRIAL SPEED VETOED

ROMNEY, W. Va., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Walter Crabtree, 35, will be brought to trial in January for the killing of Justice of the Peace H. Carter Inskeep, Ed Wolford and County Jailer Ben Miller, Judge G. K. Kump, presiding jurist of the Circuit Court, said today. Judge Kump said there would be no undue haste in arraingnment of the man.

Judge A. Jay Valentine, of Parsons, will be asked to try the case because Judge Kump regards himself as a material witness. Judge Kump was staying at the home of Justice Inskeep and answered the call at the door early yesterday when Inskeep was summoned by the slayer. In answering the summons, Judge Kump inquired who was wanted, and the man told him he wanted the Justice. Judge Kump called Inskeep and went back to bed. He said that as he was dropping off to sleep, he heard a shot and heard the Justice gasp.

The Circuit Court convenes here January 7. Indications were that Crabtree will go directly before the grand jury.

Funeral services for Wolford were held today and those for the other victims will be held tomorrow.

Hampshire County officers believed Crabtree killed the men in vengeance for his incarceration in the county jail on charges of violating the prohibition laws. Sheriff Saville described Crabtree as a "bad man" and said he had been jailed from time to time. Crabtree apparently was intoxicated at the time of the killings, authorities said, but Sheriff Saville said he did not "appear so drunk when we arrested him."

3 BANDITS GET $475 IN STORE

East End police today had found no trace of three bandits who obtained $475 in the holdup of the Roth Brothers' meat market, at 6335 Frankstown avenue, last night.

The trio entered the shop and ordered a ham. Hyman Roth, one of the proprietors, was tendered a $10 bill in payment for it and as he turned to the register, the thugs drew revolvers and commanded Roth and his brother, D. N. Roth, to "stick 'em up."

While two covered the brothers with revolvers, their accomplice carried the cash register into the rear room and ordered Hyman to turn out the lights in the store. There he rifled it of $475. Warning the victims against making an outcry, the robbers made their escape through a rear door and disappeared in Flavel street.

Less than five minutes after the robbery police scoured the neighborhood for the bandits who were believed to have made their escape in an automobile, but found no trace of them.

REFUSES NEW TREES SUIT

Reopening of the suit of Coulter E. Glenn against J. C. Trees, M. L. Benedum and H. S. Grayson in the $6,000,000 Texas and Louisiana oil property deal today was refused by Judge Thomas J. Ford in Common Pleas Court.

Glenn first sought an accounting in 1919 of the deal whereby A. C. Bedford, president of the Standard Oil Company, obtained 114,000 acres of oil lands in which Glenn was interested. He charged the defendants sold in the name of the J. C. Trees Oil Company and only accounted for $4,150,000, retaining $1,850,000 for themselves. The sale took place in 1910. The case has been in litigation since that time.

OFFICER MET WITH GUN

Mrs. Sophie Evak, 33, of Brown avenue extension, Turtle Creek, and her son, Lawrence, 18, were under arrest today, following their alleged armed resistance of Constable John T. Sullivan's efforts to serve a warrant on the mother.

Sullivan, attached to Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan's office, went to the home with a warrant charging Mrs. Evak with false pretense. The nose of a sawed-off shotgun answered his knock, and when he pushed his way in, he found a revolver also pointed at him, he said.

Mrs. Evak had the revolver, according to Sullivan, and her son had the shotgun. In the center of the room a young daughter had an ax, Sullivan charges. Sullivan called Constable John Pavlick, of East Pittsburgh, to his aid, and when they returned the mother and son were fleeing. They were arrested after a four-mile chase.

The mother posted $1,000 bail for the son, but was unable to get $3,000 needed for her bond. They will be arraigned tomorrow in Alderman Flanigan's office.

Hit By Truck, Sues for $25,000

J. Kenny, doing business as the J. Kenny Transfer Company at 101 Carson street, was sued by Anna Richardson, of Beaver Falls, asking $10,000 damages, and John M. Fiebig, of Kilbuck Township, asking $15,000 damages, in Common Pleas Court. Fiebig was driving his automobile, with Miss Richardson as a passenger, along the Beaver road in Leetsdale November 21 last, when it was struck by a truck of Kenny, as a result of which Fiebig suffered fractures of the left arm and other injuries, and Miss Richardson sustained three broken ribs and other serious injury, the suit alleged.

WED 42 YEARS, ASKS DIVORCE

A span of married life extending nearly 40 years was broken when William O'Hara deserted his wife, Mrs. Ella M. O'Hara, 58, at their home, 513 South Dithridge street, because she remonstrated with him for spending money for drinking, according to her testimony before Judge James B. Drew in Common Pleas Court, hearing her suit for a divorce.

O'Hara never heeded his promises to quit drinking and on occasions during their married existence he disappeared for periods of two or three months after her admonitions, she testified. They were married in Madeira, Clearfield County, in 1887, and his final desertion occurred in April, 1924, Mrs. O'Hara testified. There are eight adult children of the marriage.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Alice Rust Makes Bow At Lunch

FIVE more days after today until Christmas! And four shopping days! But the debutantes and their hostesses are far too busy to do much "Santa Clausing," with every day bringing three and four and even five entertainments for the buds.

Today there are no less than three especially important social events. First of all, Alice Coburn Rust, who's home from Smith College for the holidays, is being presented to society today at a buffet luncheon, given by her mother, Mrs. S. Murray Rust, in the family home, Murrayhill avenue.

And this evening Miss Edna Woods Sutton will give a dinner in the Pittsburgh Golf Club for Mary Elizabeth Floyd, debutante daughter of the T. A. McGinleys.

Later this evening there's the ball the George H. Clapps will give in the Pittsburgh Golf Club in honor of their debutante granddaughter, Katherine Collin.

THE Rust home is decorated in Yuletide spirit for Elizabeth's debut. Holly, smilax and mistletoe, too, are used in profusion, with the bud's gift bouquets adding color.

Receiving with the debutante, gowned in blue chiffon, in the princess mode, are her mother, in black velvet, and her aunt, Mrs. H. B. Rust.

And Mrs. Stanley N. Brown and Mrs. Thomas Michie are pouring. Of course, the debutantes are guests.

YESTERDAY afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock, Mrs. Wallace Hurtte Rowe gave a luncheon in her Morewood avenue home. EVERY day it seems I hear of more and more students returning from school to spend the holidays at home and today I happen to know that Isabelle Bown, daughter of the E. Elmer Bowns, of Wellesley avenue, is returning from Wellesley College. She will have Ruth Perry and Sylvia Breck, of New York, as house guests. And on Friday, December 27, Ruth and Sylvia will be honor guests at a tea given in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association by Isabelle and another Pittsburgher, Louise Sedenburgh.

COATS THAT ARE IDEAL FOR DRESS AND SPORTS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Dec. 19.—Coats may have their moments, and we are quite sure that they have their hours. For this season, time is the essence of the contract in the choice of a coat. There is, one type of coat for the morning hours, another for the afternoon until one dresses for dinner. And these coats are radically different, and provide the only possible answer to the length and hemline question. Then too, coats are so sumptuous this year, that it is obvious that an elaborate coat, with a dipping uneven hemline, of velvet, richly trimmed with fox, mink of kolinsky would give something of a comic opera suggestion to the busy morning hours.

A WELL cut coat of broadcloth, trimmed with such furs as astrakan or caracul is an ideal choice until lunch or even after if one is to put in the afternoon shopping. But when any function is to be attended, or if one expects to join ones friends during the five till seven link between tea and dinner, then it is necessary to wear a coat that is sumptuous both in fabric and trimming. But for the busy or business woman, or the woman who is restricted to one coat, the black broadcloth coat with flat curly fur, such as astrakan or caracul in black, is the ideal choice. It never outwears its welcome and is unobstrusively smart.

MANY members of Parisian society remain faithful to Longchamps long after the late Spring racing season, and so even at the early Winter races, one finds enough to interest the fashion observer. The coat at the right was worn last week at Longchamps by a well-known Parisienne who dresses at Patou's. It is of heavy black velours de laine cut very long and circular in back and bordered all around with mink. A bow-knot of the fur is poised at the side back of the upright collar and the straight sleeves have deep borders of mink.

IDEAL for morning wear is this smart Molyneux coat of gray ribbed tweed with set-on bands of fabric to match the accompanying frock, which is of crepe de Chine in two shades of gray. The large shirred collar is of gray astrakan. Gray coats are not much seen here, unless they are part of an ensemble. Black, brown and green, being the colors most in demand, black of course being the supreme favorite.

Forum Holds Christmas Party

THE Forum had yesterday what it called "only a family party" at the Congress of Clubs. Certainly it had all the formality of a family affair and all its charm. There was Christmas caroling, melodious and at the same time lusty, with Mrs. Lucretia Carroll at the piano, and then there were games, than which nothing could have been more informal. Mrs. Earl McKnight read an original poem which she had written for the occasion and Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher added a note of jollity with her reading of the modern version of Moore's "A Visit From St. Nicholas."

Mrs. J. H. Lesley, with the addition of a nice fat pillow, made a rotund Santa who distributed lovely gifts to each of the members, the gift packages and silver rain adorning the pretty little tree that stood in one corner of the room. A note of greeting was read from Mrs. W. J. Fendner and a gift of gold was received from one of the members for the club's philanthropic work.

MRS. GLENDON CURRY will be hostess for the December meeting of the Pittsburgh Female College Association, which will be held on the thirtieth in the College Club. For the program, Mrs. Walter E. Close will pay her annual visit to the association and will entertain with readings and vocal solos, and Mrs. Elmer W. Flaccus will also sing, Mrs. W. D. James accompanying at the piano. As aids for the tea there will be Mrs. Armand C. Hess, Mrs. Samuel H. McKee, Dr. Sue Taggart, Mrs. Penn S. Spangler, Mrs. Charles Mahey, Mrs. Edward Harmes, Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Mrs. William Finley, Mrs. W. P. Cooper, Mrs. Charles Dinkey, Mrs. G. W. Haas and Mrs. Frederick H. Steele.

"ONE of the nicest Christmas parties we ever had" was the way one of the members described the Christmas program given yesterday by the Wednseday Current Events Class. The tables were arranged in a hollow square in the Congress Auditorium, in the center of which stood a silver-decorated tree, other attractive seasonal decorations adorning the tables. The program, which was given by candlelight, included a reading of "The Town That Didn't Keep Christmas," by Mrs. William A. Crawford and caroling by a group of Calvary Episcopal Church choir boys. Mrs. Mary Hemphill, in charge of relief work at the Veterans' Hospital to which the club is a contributor, spoke, and Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston, president of the Congress, added a word of greeting.

A NUMBER of changes resulted in an unexpected but none the less enjoyable program for the Woman's Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon yesterday afternoon. In place of Mrs. John M. Phillips, the scheduled speaker, who was ill, Miss Suzanne Beatty spoke, her general subject being community life, which she prefaced with a history of Christmas customs. Miss Beatty noted that 600,000,000 people celebrate Christmas, not all of this number being Christians, however, but their celebration is a festival of good will and rejoicing. During the talk the members hemmed towels for the South Side Hospital and a gift of six dozen towels was made to the Brashear Settlement Farm Home. Mrs. M. L. Gardner led the club in assembly caroling. The meeting was at Mrs. R. T. Charters' home in Bower Hill road, Mrs. E. P. Hays assisting the hostess.

IN a challenging address before the Edgewood Woman's Club yesterday, the Rev. Dr. William R. Farmer sounded a note of warning against over-emphasis on self-expression and action in this day when both are encouraged and emphasized. His plea was for a more passive sensitiveness to the world about us, resulting in more experiencing and less assertiveness, a plea for ears ready to listen to the voices of nature art, the personality of individuals and groups, the voice of religion. It was the club's Christmas meeting and an open one with Christmas refreshments, Mrs. George Taber presiding at the tea table.

POLICE HEARD IN AUTO THEFT

Charges that policemen and garage owners of the Hill district were involved in an auto-stealing syndicate were aired today before Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Central Police Court.

At the conclusion of a long and lively hearing, marked by frequent clashes, Jones announced he would render his decision a week from today.

DISCHARGE REFUSED

The magistrate refused a motion by Attorneys Walter L. Dipple and Albert Martin to discharge the five defendants for lack of evidence.

Those arraigned, all charged with conspiracy to defraud, were Lieut. William Lavery and Patrolman Martin Lappe, of Center Avenue Station; Louis Schwartz, Public Safety Department clerk; Morris Wolf, proprietor of a garage at 2414 Center avenue, and Morris Fried, owner of a garage at 1911 Center avenue.

Inspector James N. Hoey, who brought the charges, sought to link Lavery, Fried, Wolf and Lappe in a conspiracy to cheat Everett Graham, of Vandergrift, supposed owner of a Hudson coupe valued at $2,000, found abandoned in front of 210 Ninth street, October 31, and towed to Fried's garage. Graham has not been located, Hoey testified.

"PLATES FAKED"

According to Hoey, the license plates on the coupe were removed and replaced with plates formerly on a car owned by Lavery.

The coupe license plates were found in the rear of the car.

Lavery used the coupe for his own and police business and collected damages from persons with whom he had collisions, Hoey testified.

Hoey also tried to connect Lavery, Wolf and Schwartz with an alleged conspiracy to defraud Isaac Morshm of his car, valued at $1,200.

Morshm's car was sold at public auction for repair charges in Wolf's garage, notwithstanding that the motor and serial numbers had been chiseled off, making the sale in violation of the motor laws, Hoey testified. Schwartz bid in the car for $55.

Constable Harry Cohen, of the Fourteenth Ward, testified he had conducted the sale of autos in Wolf's garage for store and repair bills at the instance of Schwartz and Lavery.

None of the defendants testified.

Constable-Elect Held for Attack

BELLAIRE, O., Dec. 19.—Robert Monroe, Shadyside constable-elect, is free under $1,000 bail today on a charge of cutting John Schmidt in a fight as an aftermath of the open-shop coal mine operations in Eastern Ohio. Monroe is said to have slashed Schmidt with a pocketknife from temple to throat, just missing the jugular vein. Schmidt walked to the police station, where a physician stopped the flow of blood. Monroe followed and gave himself up.

The constable-elect was a guard at the Webb mine when it was started open shop in 1927. Schmidt was a union miner there.

JUDGE HOPKINS CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—After a three-day battle, the Senate this afternoon confirmed President Hoover's appointment of Richard J. Hopkins to the federal bench in Kansas.

Confirmation came after the Senate refused to return the nomination to its Judiciary Committee for further investigation.

Hopkins, a State Supreme Court justice and former attorney general of Kansas, was confirmed in the face of numerous charges, attacking his qualifications as a judge. He was accused of abusing his power as attorney general of Kansas by invoking a vagrancy law against striking miners. He also was charged with taking fees from and holding office in the Anti-Saloon League of his state while on the Kansas Supreme Court bench. This was termed a violation of the state constitution.

In the face of these attacks, Senators Allen and Capper (Rep.), of Kansas, argued that the people of Kansas has passed upon these charges by twice electing Hopkins to its supreme bench. They argued the attacks were inspired first by corporation attorneys who opposed Hopkins' liberal political views and were continued by those who opposed his dry belief.

The vote refusing to send the nomination back for further inquiry was 25 to 48, with the Insurgents standing almost solidly with organization Republicans.

The final vote confirming Hopkins was 49 to 22. Only two Republicans, Blaine and McMaster, joined with 20 Democrats in opposing the confirmation, while seven Democrats supported it with 42 Republicans.

PRIVATE SAVING PLAN ILLEGAL

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Savings funds for employes by department stores, manufacturers and other large employers of labor are illegal, the Department of Justice held today in an opinion written by Deputy Attorney General Harold D. Saylor to Peter G. Cameron, secretary of banking. A corporation without banking powers cannot engage in such an undertaking, Saylor's opinion said.

A number of large corporations and stores in the past have conducted savings funds for employes and distributed the money at Christmas time. These savings have been collected weekly from employes and placed on deposit in banks prior to distribution.

In many instances, unincorporated associations have been formed from the employes of the employer concerns, and in some cases the corporation has been acting directly for the workers. Under the rules of most associations, it has been possible for employes to borrow sums of money, repaying the loan before the date of final distribution.

The opinion also ruled as illegal the practice of some loan companies limited by their charter to loaning money to the public and to purchasing and selling various kinds of securities in connection with the conduct of the loan business. Under the guise of selling subscriptions to these bonds by weekly payments of small amounts on account of such purchase, these companies are actually conducting Christmas clubs and not primarily endeavoring to sell bonds, Saylor held in his opinion.

Half-Gallon Present Sends Two to Jail

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 19.—A package containing a half-gallon of liquor which Sheriff Harry C. Smith found in the automobile of Carrie Ross in a downtown street, caused him to arrest both Miss Ross and Vernon Stucky, who, bystanders said, placed the package in the car.

"Stucky promised me a Christmas present, but I did not know it was to be liquor," she explained.

SENATE PASSES HOSPITAL BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—A $15,950,000 hospitalization bill was passed by the Senate with less than three minutes' debate.

The bill carried the $14,000,000 authorization for new veterans' hospitals which the House approved yesterday, and $1,950,000 of projects added by the Senate Finance Committee.

The additional projects included $700,000 for the new hospital in West Virginia, $400,000 for one in Salt Lake City, Utah; $450,000 for additions to the Camp Custer (Mich.) Hospital, and $400,000 for a new hospital at Memphis, Tenn.

The Senate amendments must be approved by the House before the bill becomes a law.

SUSPECT BOMB IN FATAL FIRE

DETROIT, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A belief that the fire which swept the Study Club, a Detroit cabaret, September 20, and resulted in the deaths of 23 persons, might have been of incendiary origin, was expressed today by Capt. Jacob A. Pomnitz, of the Detroit fire department, testifying at the trial of Martin Cohn, the proprietor, charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Capt. Pomnitz said he talked with Cohn immediately after the fire had been extinguished and the bodies removed. At that time he said Cohn declared, "the racketeers have got me at last."

The officer said the character of the fire, coupled with Cohn's remark, had led him to the decision that the fire might have been caused by the explosion of a bomb.

Funeral Autos Lost in Dense London Fog

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Northern London last night experienced a fog so dense that a funeral procession became separated and was not reunited until hours later.

It was said the fog was one of the worst remembered in the last 20 years. The funeral was en route to the suburban Edmonton cemetery when the following automobiles became separated from the hearse in the dense mist. The pallbearers and mourners halted until the fog lifted slightly, when the procession was reorganized and proceeded to the burial ground.

Pilot Lands 10 in Blazing Plane Safely in Water

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The story of how a pilot brought a blazing airplane to a safe landing in the water off Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, without injury to the 10 persons aboard reached the New York offices of the New York-Rio-Buenos line today.

The plane, the New Havana, enroute from New York for inauguration of service by the line in February, was making a hop from Port of Spain yesterday when one of the motors developed a broken gas line and the wing covering over it caught fire.

Capt. R. H. McGlohn, the pilot, calmly headed his ship straight for shore and brought it down to a safe landing in the water. The five passengers were landed without injury and the flames extinguished and the members of the crew went ashore.

McGlohn reported that the only damage to the ship was the burned wing covering. Materials were being sent out today for repairs to the ship.

McGlohn's passengers were J. H. Edwards, vice president of the line; Mrs. J. H. Edwards; D. Cordan, traffic manager, of Argentina; Louis Martinez, traffic manager, of Uruguay, and A. Servin, assistant traffic manager, of Argentina.

Members of the crew, besides McGlohn, were R. W. Ritchie, mate pilot; J. L. Blackman, radio operator; C. L. Clements, mechanic, and C. A. Thibodeau, second mechanic.

Pittsburgh Girl's Query

"How Can I Attract?"

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am quite good-looking, really, but Miss Fairfax, men don't know I'm alive! Other girls no better looking than I am, seem to attract men so easily. It must be their clothes—yet I buy the same styles they do and pay just as much. Miss Fairfax, what can I do—I do so want to be popular. Joyce R.

ANSWER: I am sure you are right, Joyce, in thinking it is their clothes—but don't worry—I'm going to let you in on a little secret that will help you.

Psychologists, my dear, know that color has a wonderful power to arouse the emotions. Especially colors worn by women.

That's why the clever people who design color effects devote years to studying the emotional reactions of men to colors. Every color in fabrics was actually worked out to be magnetic and alluring—all you have to do is to choose those most becoming to you—then you will have the emotional power of color add a fascinating glamour.

But—and this is very important—a noticeable fading distorts the emotional effect colors achieve.

But there is one sure way to preserve the original appeal of color to masculine emotions.

There is a famous product that is especially made to take out dirt without disturbing the colors at all. If a color is safe in plain water alone, Lux will preserve all of its original magnetism. When you are always wearing colors that look like new, romance seeks you out.

Try Lux FREE

Try this wonderful Lux care for your clothes, at our expense. Just send us your name and address, and by return mail you will receive a full-sized package of Lux free. Write today to Lever Bros. Co., Dept. H-94, Cambridge, Mass.

The Secret of Clothes Appeal

Washed in Lux, the color has all the thrill of new—when you wear it the full emotional power of color adds its glamour to you. You seem more attractive!

Washed in ordinary good soap—the color of this lovely print has lost its freshness, its emotional appeal. It looks dull, lifeless, and it makes you look so, too!

If it's Safe in Water
It's just as Safe in LUX!

NEW CASTLE, Dec. 19.—Mental deficiences in the forebearers of John D. Seevers, of Cleveland, now on trial here for the murder of his wife, Estella, July 25, was the basis of the defense to be followed today by Major M. J. Meyers, chief counsel.

Numerous witnesses including physicians, newspaper men and the mother and father of the defendant went on the stand yesterday.

Seevers, himself, when placed on the stand told of his parents separating when he was about 10 or 11 years of age. He had, he said but two or three years education.

Drafted during the World War, Seevers was discharged from Camp Meade because of a diseased physical conditions, he testified. He then went to bootlegging, he said.

Mrs. Catherine Rodgers, who furnished the money for him to go into the bootlegging business, and his wife had often quarreled over him, he added.

Testimony of his mother, Mrs. Ella McCombie, was to the effect that she had been held under mental observation one time but had been released. J. W. Seevers, father of the defendant, testified that his own mother had been committed to an asylum.

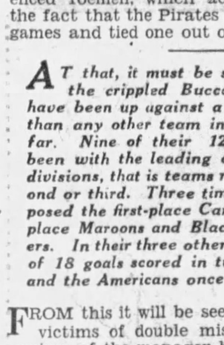
DEMAND FOR ICERS EXCEEDS SUPPLY

IT'S one thing to go out after new players for the purpose of bolstering up a hockey team, but it's quite another thing to get them. The ice sport is much like baseball in that respect. Apparently the supply of major league material is not equal to the demand. There are not enough first-class players to go around. Approach the owner or manager of a rival club with an offer for an athlete of established class, and all you get is the information that he is not for sale, or a counter proposition for some of your own valued timber that makes you beat a hasty retreat.



Harold Darragh

Manager Frankie Frederickson and other officials of the Pittsburgh club traveled to the scene of the National Hockey League's meeting in Chicago this week with a big check book and a determination to buy some capable players at any cost. They came back with the said check book intact and the newly acquired knowledge that every club in the circuit is in the market to buy skaters, not to sell them.

WHEN Skipper Frederickson broached the subject of a purchase to the New York Rangers, the only response he received was: "We can't part with any of our players, but we'll give you $35,000 for Harold Darragh and Hib Milks." When he tackled Toronto his proposal was turned down again and that club came back at him with an offer of $25,000 and two mediocre puckmen for the same pair of Pirates sought by the Rangers.

It was the same in all other directions. Everybody was willing to buy, but nobody could be induced to sell. So Frederickson finds himself up against a proposition like that which confronts big league baseball managers whose teams need strengthening. He has got to find rookies who have the right kind of stuff in them and develop them until they are able to hold their own in fast company.

INDEED, Frankie was far-sighted enough to realize that in the first place, but the long run of injuries suffered by his men upset his plans. His idea was to bring his youngsters along gradually and give them experience by using them as spares for the regulars when it might be safe and convenient to do so.

But with one first-string icer after another added to the hospital list he has been forced to use the kids as regulars much of the time. Naturally, they have not been able to cope successfully with more experienced foemen, which accounts largely for the fact that the Pirates have won only two games and tied one out of 12 played.

Hib Milks

AT that, it must be said in justice to the crippled Buccaneers that they have been up against a harder schedule than any other team in either group so far. Nine of their 12 contests have been with the leading clubs of the two divisions, that is teams ranking first, second or third. Three times they have opposed the first-place Canadiens and Bruins, four times the second-place Maroons and Black Hawks, and twice the third-place Rangers. In their three other games, of which they won two with a total of 18 goals scored in two hours of play, they met Toronto twice and the Americans once.

FROM this it will be seen that Frederickson's skaters have been the victims of double misfortune, for not only have they lost the services of the manager himself, Darragh, Drury, Lowrey and others for extended periods—and Smith is playing under the handicap of two fractured ribs—but they have been forced to meet the strongest teams when their own lineup was at its weakest.

Under the circumstances, there is hope for better things during the remainder of the season, when the team gets on its feet again and is favored with an easier schedule. Meanwhile, Frederickson will continue his efforts to add helpful new material, from the minors if he cannot get it in the big show. One live prospect for the future is Yank Boyd, crack wingman of the Boston Tigers. Both Les Canadiens and the Rangers made large offers for this youngster at the recent meeting, but the Pirate manager refused to consider them.

NOW that night football has proved successful here and elsewhere, and at least one minor league club has decided to try baseball by electric light next season, the Middle West has evolved the idea of branching out and putting on a track and field meet under the same conditions.

Elmer Yoter

The scene of the experiment will be the new stadium of Central Missouri Teachers at Warrensburg, where night football was played regularly this year. The athletes of the Central and Kansas Conferences will compete with those of the Missouri College Union and the Missouri Intercollegiate A. A. The meet is to be held in May.

PUBLISHED figures that gave Elmer Yoter a batting average of only .217 for Columbus in the American Association this year were incorrect. A slip of the types deprived Yoter of a full hundred points, as his actual average was .317. The McKees Rocks resident had a big year all around and was Association's standouts. In 687 times at bat in 167 games he scored 148 runs and made 218 hits for a total of 294 bases, his hits including 50 doubles, seven triples and four home runs. He also stole 31 bases and made 10 sacrifice hits.

OF the batters who topped Yoter in the averages, only one Chapman, of St. Paul, played in as many games. Chapman was in 168 contests. Monahan, of Indianapolis, was the only other player in the league to take part in more games than Yoter, who missed but one.

Elmer was fourth in the Association in number of hits made, being nosed out by only Cuccinello. Chapman and Rigell; third in runs scored, ranking behind only Cooke and Chapman; second in stolen bases to Emmer, and second in doubles to Cuccinello. At third base he accepted 544 chances out of 581, leading the third sackers of the circuit in both putouts and assists.

JIM CORBETT believes boxing is riding to a fall. "There are too few real fighters and too much maneuvering by promoters," he is quoted in a Kansas City interview. "Some day the goose that lays the golden eggs these fighters are collecting is going to die and it will be a long time before the sport is brought back."

The former heavyweight champion says the ending of so many bouts on fouls is the bunk and an imposition on the ticket buyers. "I think I know something about boxing," he observes, "and I know that a fighter cannot be so severely injured by a low blow as to prevent him from continuing the contest.

Jim Corbett

"BOXERS nowadays wear such protective apparatus that the ordinary low blow does no damage. It's really silly. These bad endings do the sport no good. For another thing, the losers are making too much money. Second and third-raters can make handsome incomes, even though they seldom win. They don't have to win. If a champion now doesn't want to meet a certain op-

PITT FAVORED OVER U. S. C.

MENTORS SHY AT MAKING CHOICE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

In the event Pitt and Notre Dame were to meet in football this year, with each a contender for the National championship, along with Purdue, the Big Ten champion, which would win?

The fans have been vainly trying to answer this poser for weeks. Judge Walter P. Steffen, Carnegie Tech coach, was asked to give his views and came up with a 13-7 score in favor of Notre Dame, despite the fact that his Tartans held Notre Dame to a 7-0 score and in turn were swamped by Pitt, both games being played at the Stadium here.

With a view to clearing up the situation, a reader's suggestion that a group of leading coaches be polled for their views has been followed by the writer, with interesting results. A humorous feature is that almost all of the mentors displayed rare tact in sidestepping the issue. Seemingly they are exercising the native caution of most coaches or they have profited from the volcanic reaction to Steffen's estimate of the two teams. None of the local coaches was included in the consensus, for obvious reasons.

WHAT THEY SAY

Here's what the others said, out of a group of 20 who were queried by wire for their views:

FIELDING H. YOST, Michigan—Would not hazard a guess at end of half as to final score of a Pitt-Notre Dame game, so could not do it before kickoff.

ROBERT ZUPPKE, Illinois—I would pick Pitt one day, Notre Dame the next. It would depend on the way the men were keyed up and the breaks.

MAJ. FRANK CAVANAUGH, Fordham—Notre Dame to win.

CAPT. BIFF JONES, Army—Have not seen Pitt play. Would risk this guess: Notre Dame, 7; Pitt, 6.

GILMOUR DOBIE, Cornell—Have not seen Pittsburgh play and therefore have no way of comparing the teams.

JAMES PHELAN, Purdue—What would you expect a Notre Dame man to say? I would pick Notre Dame to win by one touchdown, but would not venture as favorable a guess for Rockne in a fight between Jock Sutherland and Rock.

RODGERS LIKES PITT

IRA E. RODGERS, West Virginia University—Having seen both Pitt and Notre Dame play this season, I believe Pitt would win by two or three touchdowns. I think Pitt has a better line and a better line-bucker.

CAM HENDERSON, Davis & Elkins—I saw Pitt play Ohio State and Notre Dame play Army. Would say, Pitt, 14; Notre Dame, 7.

BILL AMOS, W. & J.—Impossible to predict a score. Under normal conditions, believe Pitt would win.

LOU LITTLE, Georgetown (signed by Columbia University for next three years)—Pretty hard to decide which would be the better team. Have not seen Notre Dame, but saw Pitt in practice here and they looked wonderful. Doubt if there is a team playing that could beat them. If forced to a decision, would take Pitt.

ELLSWORTH SETS GOAL

Rod Ellsworth, the distance runner of Monongahela, who was one of the stars of C. C. Pyle's first cross-country Marathon race, in 1928, and declined to accept the conditions for the second race last March, has taken steps to gain reinstatement in the amateur ranks with a view to becoming eligible for the 1932 Olympic Games at Los Angeles. He will remain out of competition until he can return to the field under the rules of the A. A. U.

Ellsworth is an inveterate runner and says the sport keeps him fit. He works as a lineman for the West Penn Power Company.

If his application for reinstatement in the amateur ranks is favorably acted upon, Rod, who is one of the best runners in this section, plans to move to Los Angeles and make his home there and become acclimated and train over the Olympic Marathon route

Goalie Worters Is Lost to Americans

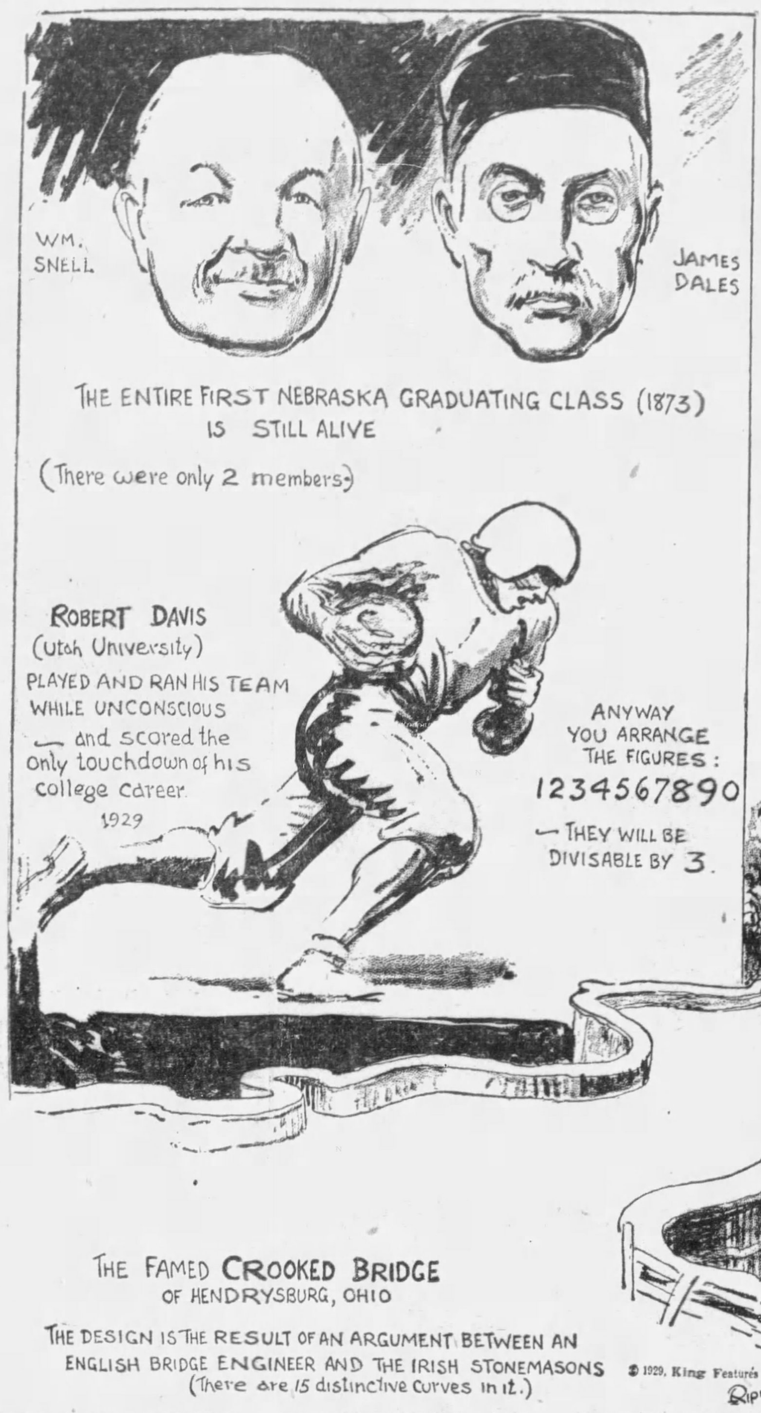
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—If you are blue and downcast today think of the New York Americans and be cheered.

For the down-trodden star-spangled ones must meet the Maroons on the Garden ice tonight, and, as if meeting the battering, banging Montreal outfit was not enough, the Americans must play without the service of their ace performer. Roy Worters, goalie de luxe, came out of the Ranger game with a badly wrenched left leg and must sit on the bench.

Normie Hines is scheduled to take Worters' place in the nets.

Believe It Or Not By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Robert L. Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)



YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS — THE THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL PISTOL EXPERT—This little girl is Arlayne Brown, of 519 Walnut street, St. Louis, who out-shot the national champions in Toledo this year. She is a non-professional. PYTHON SWALLOWED A KANGAROO—The python that swallowed a kangaroo is an extraordinary specimen for its length alone. Large snakes are capable of unhinging their jaws to accommodate an animal of the size of a kangaroo. THE RED LIVE LOBSTER—The red live lobster is a real freak of nature because a lobster is not red until it is boiled. This one is red, alive and has a home in the New York Aquarium. 300,000,000,000 MARK LOAF OF BREAD—In 1924, German currency sank to its lowest and stabilized at one trillion paper marks to one gold mark (about 24 cents). The amount paid for a loaf of bread was about 7½ cents.

TOMORROW—A REMARKABLE KICK.

NUSS, BETHANY GRID COACH, RESIGNS

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 19.—Furman Nuss, for the past five years head athletic coach at Bethany College, resigned last night, effective at the close of the school year. Nuss, it is understood, was unable to reach an agreement with Bethany College heads over the athletic policy to be adopted for the coming year.

Nuss has been under fire from Alumni for the past two years over the poor showing of his football teams.

Nuss has characterized the situation by saying that the material at Bethany is not on a par with that of other tri-state conference schools, and that, therefore, the team could not hope for success.

He was scoffed at by followers of the school, but this past season he practically proved his contention by hiring Dave Morrow, former Washington and Jefferson College line coach, and Hubbard Shoemake, a former star linesman at Bethany, to assist him in developing a team from the material at hand. The team won only one game.

Nuss, in resigning, winds up a career that has been stormy and marked by many clashes over the athletic policy of the school. Alumni, of late, have caused more than a little worry, and it is thought that Nuss refused to take the responsibility of developing Bison elevens in the future without more aid from the administration, especially in the expenditure of athletic association funds, and in the practice of "scouting" for promising athletes.

PIRATES OFF FOR TORONTO

By CARL W. SHATTO

The Pirate ice squad will entrain for Toronto tonight, where it will play the Maple Leafs Saturday. From the Canadian metropolis the Buc skaters will move on to Detroit, where they are scheduled to encounter the Cougers on Sunday.

The locals will not make another appearance here until after Christmas. Several of the Pirates will pay quick holiday visits to their Canadian homes before returning to Pittsburgh to meet the Detroiters at Duquesne Garden a week from tonight.

The leading clash tonight brings together the New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens at Montreal in a battle which has an important bearing on the league standing as well as their rather warm rivalry. The Rangers, third in the American Group, are only one point behind Chicago's Blackhawks and have a chance to go back into second place by winning. Les Canadiens top the International Division, two points ahead of Montreal's Maroons.

LOCAL TEAM ON LONG END OF ODDS

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—They are taking the game with Stanford as a basis for figuring Southern California's chances with Pitt in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena New Year's Day. At present writing, despite the efforts of Easterners to talk Pitt down in the hopes of bringing the odds up, it is very difficult to get the Panthers on the short end when it comes to wagering.

Stanford is the Pitt of the West Pop Warner and his system, or systems, has instilled a wholesome fear in the minds of West Coast football fans and any team that rolls out of the East to play here using the Warner, Sutherland or Kerr system, is accorded far more respect than a team using any other style of football, save Notre Dame.

MUST IMPROVE

The impression seems general here that if the Trojans play the same brand of football against Pitt that they did in beating Stanford early this season, that all of the power and speed, strength and reserves of the Panthers will avail them nothing. In a way, the impression is O. K., for I have never seen more possibilities in a football squad than are to be found ir this Trojan army.

U. S. C. looked to be two touchdowns better than Stanford, although the locals won by a 7-0 margin. This was volunteered by one of the keenest football men on the Coast—Mark Kelly. Kelly is not especially a U. S. C. booster, either, and his word should carry weight.

Southern California, on four occasions this season, including last Saturday against Tech, was outplayed and outclassed in the first half, and was forced to use its tremendous reserve power to batter out its triumphs. Coach Howard Jones still is trying to remedy this defect in his team, but as he has been attempting to attain the same end all year, there is nothing to indicate that his machinations will meet with success between now and the time for the game with Dr. Sutherland's team. They will be opposing one of the best-conditioned elevens in the East, one boasting both speed and power, and along with Notre Dame, the best drilled eleven in fundamentals in football today.

CARDS FAMED

I didn't see the U. S. C.-Stanford game, naturally, but, if Southern California doesn't play 100 per cent better football against Pitt, and play it all afternoon, than it did against Tech, the Trojans won't have a look-in, and they tell me that the Trojan form last Saturday closely approached the Trojan form against the Cardinals. Tomorrow, this correspondent will hop out of here and meet the Army eleven as it treks toward San Francisco. The Cadets are due to strike 'Frisco Sunday afternoon, moving from there to Palo Alto, where they will train for a week before playing Pop's team on December 28.

Of all the intersectional games of the year, this game is the only one that appears to be "in." Stanford, almost two weeks before the game, is a prohibitive favorite. The situation is really unique, for it is almost impossible to find anyone willing to credit Army with a ghost of a show against Stanford. This, in a way, is only natural, for Stanford went East last year and kicked the tar out of a better Army team than this 1929 one. The Cardinal record, in spite of two defeats, is more impressive than Army's, which has been beaten by Yale, Notre Dame and Illinois and tied by Harvard.

At the same time, the Cadets have two football players good enough to make trouble for any ball team in Cagle and Murrell, the Cadet ends. Messinger and

GREAT SHIRES GIVES FANS GOOD SHOW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

The Shires influence in baseball, in this writer's opinion, will not hurt the game. And while on the general subject, I think that his long-distance ring rival, Hack Wilson, is one of the best drawing cards in the National League. It's a pity that we do not have the Great Shires in the Heydler circuit. Donie Bush, new White Sox manager, is fond of the picturesque player.

Perhaps the Illinois Boxing Commission would be within their rights to stop bouts of the kind

LOOKS LIKE A DOUBLE KNOCKOUT, BUT IT ISN'T

110 ARMY GRIDDERS HEAD FOR CALIFORNIA

LETZELTER CUT FROM TRIP BY GRADES

WEST POINT, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Carrying 110 players on Army's first football invasion of the Far West, the "West Point Special" steamed away yesterday afternoon bound for Palo Alto, Cal., where the football season will be closed with a game with Stanford, December 28.

The football players were cheered on their way by 500 Cadets who were left behind, the vocal encouragement being made possible by a last-minute reversal by Major General W. R. Smith, the superintendent, of a previous order. General Smith had ruled that the Cadets could not be present at the departure, on account of examinations, but relaxed later to the extent that 500, free for most of the afternoon, could send a hearty cheer ringing clear about the little West Point station as the train pulled away.

There were two football players who found little joy in the occasion. Letzelter, former Carnegie Tech back, and O'Reilly, a lineman, members of the plebe squad, fell short of passing marks in English in the December examinations and were not permitted to make the trip.

The plebe, or freshman, team will furnish the practice opposition for the varsity along the way. Neither Letzelter nor O'Reilly could have played against Stanford, but, had they not flunked the English writs, they would have had the trip to the Pacific Coast as a reward for conscientious work on the plebe team during the season.

Letzelter made a grade of 1.9 when the passing grade is 2.2. Perfect is 3.0. O'Reilly scored 1.5 in the same examination. The ill luck of this pair was good luck for three plebe players, for Watters, Underhill and Seridan were named to take their places in the party.

The first stop of the special train was to be made at Syracuse. At Galesburg, Ill., this afternoon at 3 o'clock a practice will be held. The party leaving numbered 140, including 110 varsity, scrub and plebe players.

CARDS SET PLANS.

STANFORD, Cal., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Plans for entertainment of the Army football players when they arrive here to begin practice for the game with Stanford, December 28, were announced today by Maj. Morgan L. Brett, of Palo Alto. The Cadets, who arrive Sunday, will be received by Maj. Gen. John L. Hines, commanding the Ninth Corps area, and Alfred R. Masters, graduate manager of Stanford. Bands from the Thirtieth Infantry and the Coast Artillery will be on hand.

One of the dormitory halls will be turned over to the West Pointers and all their football practice will be held in Stanford Stadium. Next Thursday the Stanford Club of San Francisco will give a luncheon in San Francisco for the visitors.

CHICAGO WILLING

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Chicago is in the market for the annual Notre Dame-Army football game next year if Military Academy officials decide to take the classic from New York.

The City Council has unanimously adopted a resolution by Alderman Jacob M. Arvey, inviting Army to bring the contest to Soldier Field.

FETE PLANNED

A TESTIMONIAL stag dinner will be tendered the McKeesport Olympic football team Monday evening at the Cotton Club, Long Run Road, in recognition of its prowess.

SHIRES GIVES FANS SHOW

that involve Shires, but if Art and his opponents pass the physical tests and then follow up by giving everything they have in the ring, to the extreme satisfaction of the fans—why should the ring officials move to prevent the spectacle?

Did you ever go to your favorite boxing show to see two highly-touted main-go performers stage a fiasco? And on the same bill, did you thrill at the sight of two willing so-called "ham-and-eggers" throwing fists at each other at a furious rate. You came away from the arena denouncing the boxing powers for allowing the public to be fooled by the misnamed main attraction while extolling the two boys who did their best, and probably for a purse of $10.

DIDN'T "GYP" FANS

Well, you might compare the colorful White Sox first-sacker to the "ham-and-eggers." Shires and his latest opponent were fighting so hard at the end of the first round, the referee could not hear the bell so great was the din of the cheering. Apparently the public, which generally holds the bag, enjoyed the affair.

The difference between Shires and the average "ham-and-egger" is significant. Like the preliminary boy, he doesn't know anything about boxing, bue he seems to have outsmarted everybody connected with putting the sport before the public.

The diamond star has keen wit, exceptional humor, unlimited nerve and a keen appreciation of the value of publicity. When he talks to a newspaperman, he immediately assumes the wise-cracking role—and judging by the fast ones he has put over in the past 10 days, he is in class by himself on banter. The fact that the Associated Press, International News Services and other big news organizations have given him unlimited space proves that he knows how to get his stuff over. If Barnum could see this young man work, he would pat him on the back.

Shires apparently is in the professional sports game for money. He probably made as much on two fights as he collected for last year's stunts on the diamond. On the strength of his next year's drawing power, he doubtless will have his baseball salary doubled, perhaps trebled.

FEW EQUALS IN COURAGE

Shires knows his stuff. A prominent Chicago newspaperman told me that Art even knew how to collect as he played under assumed names on some of the well-known college elevens. Somebody ought to get him to sound off on the Carnegie Foundation report. The same newspaperman, by the way, declares that Shires, in a serious mood, can give one of the most interesting discourses on baseball one would wish to hear.

Baseball has had a lot of appealing figures who had as much wit as Shires, but they all fell short of jumping into the squared circle to challenge all comers. He, or his advisors, appear to have pulled a rather serious blunder in overmatching him 40 pounds. But he had the courage to go through with the engagement, and the ringside reports state that he got up off the resin twice to continue against the heavier foe. Outside of Harry Greb, whom can you name who will give away 40 pounds?

SHIRES IN DEFEAT

SHIRES TRAFTON

Camera catches Art the Great Shires at what is popularly known as an embarrassing moment. He is down for one of three floorings in the first round of his five-round battle with George Trafton, Chicago football player, which ended his winning streak at one consecutive bout, Trafton carrying off the decision.

JOE KORCH'S KIN STARS

Back in 1919, '20 and '21, one of the leading lightweight boxers in the Pittsburgh district was Joe Korch, of Rankin, who now is a business man in that town. Now another Korch has gone forth to emblazon his fame in the athletic world. He is Michael (Babe) Korch, nephew of Joe, who was raised by Joe's parents from infancy.

Babe was the star quarterback of the Syracuse Universiay freshman eleven this fall and will be a leading candidate for the varsity berth next year. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds, and also plays on the Orange freshman basketball team and is a fine baseball player. He will be home for the Christmas holidays.

The youngest Korch to attract attention in the sports realm is 21 years old. Upon graduation from grade school he went to work for the Union Switch & Signal Company for two years and then decided he wanted to go to college and prepped at Rankin High School, where he was an athletic star. His work so caught the fancy of R. E. Cadigan, of Swissvale, former Syracuse star and now a leading official, that he pointed Korch's steps in the direction of his own alma mater. In addition to his scholastic activities, Korch also played for the Rankin Firemen in the Tri-Borough Baseball League, starring at second base and in the outfield.

Joe Korch and all of the other Korches are proud of Babe's achievements at Syracuse and are looking forward to starring feats by him on the varsity next fall. Newspaper reports of the games in which he appeared as a freshman this season shower him with considerable praise.

New York to Keep Army-Irish Game

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Although Army football authorities feel that New York's hospitality at the recent West Point-Notre Dame football game was not all that it should have been, good old Father Knickerbocker will have another chance in 1930. The game will be played at the Yankee Stadium, November 29.

As invitations for the annual football classic poured in from several sections of the country, including Philadelphia and Chicago, E. G. Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, who furnished the playing field for the 1929 game, announced that an agreement had been reached for an encore in 1930.

Blizzard Delays Army's Special Train

ELKHART, Ind., Dec. 19.—Delayed by the blizzard that swept the Middlewest, the special train carrying the West Point football squad to the West coast for their game December 28 with Leland-Stanford was two hours late in getting here.

The train paused here 15 minutes while the players limbered up following their first night out from the academy.

Because of the bad weather, Coach Biff Jones said it was doubtful whether the team would work out at Galesburg, Ill., the first major stop.

Fight Results

At New York—Kid Chocolate defeated Dominic Petrone, 10 rounds; Jack (Kid) Berg won on foul from Tony Caragliano, 2 rounds; Rene De Vos defeated Babe McCorgare, 10 rounds; Jimmy Jones defeated Young Leonard Zavarino, 10 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Billy Rose defeated Vincent Hambright, 10 rounds.

At San Francisco—Pablo Dano knocked out Jimmy Ketchel, 2 rounds.

At Oakland, Cal.—Wesley Ketchel defeated Jock Malone, 10 rounds.

Sisler to Become Pinch-Hitter And Coach

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—George Sisler, for years one of baseball's leading first basemen, will retire from the active list this year and confine his activities to coaching and an occasional pinch-hitting assignment, Bill McKechnie, new manager of the Boston Braves, announced yesterday. Johnny Noone, a newcomer, will be given the first base assignment if he can manage it.

GRID COACHES DIVIDED

in order to be ready for the big test when it comes.

State Senator Frank Harris pulled a good line at the Dukes' banquet the other night when he introduced John D. Holohan, graduate manager of the Dukes, as the man who introduced "night club" football in Pittsburgh. At the same affair, R. E. Cadigan, famous football official, let it be known in an aside that he had played night football more than 20 years ago at Elmira, N. Y. Isn't there ANYTHING new in the world?

BOOST FOR JOCK

The swell hand the Dukes gave Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt head coach, at their affair, was one of the finest tributes ever accorded the coach of a rival institution here. And on his record of achievement at Pitt, Silent Jock merited every echo of it. We Pittsburghers have come to take the good doctor and his equally good teams as a matter of course. One has to go out of town to learn how much they really are appreciated by the football world at large.

DANO STOPS KETCHEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Pablo Dano, Honolulu, flyweight, gave Jimmy Ketchel an all-around beating before stopping the Seattle flyweight in the third round here last night.

MOOSE CARD COMPLETE

The card has been completed for tomorrow night's boxing show in the Moose Temple with the signing of Young Ketchel, of Steubenville, O., to meet Jackie Wilson, local Negro bantamweight, in the opening bout. It will be Ketchel's first appearance in Pittsburgh.

George Panka, of Homestead, and Harry Williams, Negro, of Rankin, heavyweights, will box the 10-round windup. Jack DeNeri, of Cleveland, meets Frankie Buff, of New Kensington, in the semi-final, and Georgie Chambers, of the East End, opposes Young Penno, of McKees Rocks, in the second bout.

Between Rounds

The State Athletic Commission will begin tomorrow to issue licenses for 1930.

The Keystone A. C., of Franklin, Pa., will stage its third show New Year's afternoon and plans a card of five bouts. The club has lost $350 on its first two ventures and unless it does better with the next bill it probably will suspend operations.

Midget Mike O'Dowd boxes Benny Gershe in Cleveland tonight. Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, meets Chet Smallwood, of Akron, at Wellsville, O. Petey Patch, of Wheeling, and Bus Hardy, of Beaver Falls, are in the semi-final of the latter show.

Three more boxing shows will be held in the Moose Temple after tomorrow night before Promoter Francis Flynn shifts his base of operations to the Columbus Temple, which will be called the Coliseum. Flynn's lease at the Moose expires with his show on January 10.

Young Rudy and Young Joe Walcott have been matched for the semi-final to the Jimmy Belmont-Tiger Joe Randall bout at Motor Square Garden Christmas afternoon.

Fight Commission Adds $114,000 To Treasury

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—Boxing and wrestling for 1929 under the supervision of the state athletic commission enriched the state treasury by approximately $114,000, it was announced yesterday by Bob Young, secretary of the commission. This is an increase of about $10,000 over last year. The total attendance reached about 1,500,000.

Gross receipts were $1,788,403.24, the tax on which amounted to $89,402.16. The rest of the total is made up of money collected from licenses, fines and forfeits.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The Naval Academy basketball quintet, on the eve of their Christmas leave, celebrated their coming freedom with a 58-to-24 victory over the Lafayette College five here last night.

TWO SCHOOLS DINE GRIDDERS

Two high school banquets are carded for tonight to honor athletes for their achievements during the recent season. They will be staged in honor of the grid warriors of Clairton High School and East Pittsburgh High School.

Clairton recently was awarded the W. P. I. A. L. championship and has a record of 27 victories, one tie and no defeats for the last three seasons. Its banquet will be held in the auditorium of the school building and Dr. A. W. Colcord, president of the school board, will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be the Rev. William W. McKinney, H. J. Davis, F. F. Marquard, E. M. Lizevey, W. B. Farnsworth, mayor of Clairton; J. R. McVey, mayor-elect; H. B. Teal, W. M. Bryson, Joe Kalcevich, captain of the 1929 team; Kenneth Stilley, captain-elect; G. M. Woodman, coach; William J. Wyke, coach of Clairton Junior High School; Paul O'Neil, I. A. Nicholas and Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Buff Donnelli, captain of the Duquesne University eleven the past two years, and Charles J. Doyle, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be among the speakers at the East Pittsburgh affair.

Crank cases flushed. Transmissions and differentials drained and cleaned in a jiffy. Free air for your tires. Handy places to fill up the radiator. But better service even than that—service that begins with superior products. For you get the same pure "Standard" Gasoline that powers many millions of motors. Esso too—the giant power fuel. A quart or a fill of "Standard" Motor Oil. It is new—an oilier oil that resists friction. You cannot get better service than that. You'll be glad to get it from a neighbor.

PANTHER GRID SQUAD WORKS ON DEFENSE

SUTHERLAND AIMS TO STOP SAUNDERS

The problem of how to stop the University of California backfield in general and Russell (Racehorse) Saunders in particular was tackled yesterday by the Panthers of the University of Pittsburgh, who have a football engagement with the Trojans at Los Angeles on New Year's Day.

Coach Jock Sutherland drilled his undefeated proteges in defense. The fact that Pitt is none too strong defensively against an aerial attack has afforded its followers little comfort, since the Trojans filled the air with footballs against Carnegie Tech.

And the other defense worry for Pitt is Saunders, the Trojan quarterback, who called signals, passed, plunged, engaged in some open field sprints and did about everything else in the wrecking of Tech except referee the game.

One week from last night some 30 players take up the long trek to the Pacific Coast.

CUE PLAYOFF TONIGHT

DETROIT, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Erwin Rudolph and Ralph Greenleaf will play off a tie tonight for the world's pocket billiards championship. Greenleaf defeated Rudolph by 125 to 79 in 10 innings last night. Each has had six victories and one defeat in the tournament.

Greenleaf was the superior to Rudolph under the severe strain. He broke away with a run of 89 in the third inning, but this advantage soon was cut down when Rudolph replied with 54 in his half. A duel of safety followed, with a few scratches thrown in. Rudolph began to feel the strain, and three times during the match he missed on easy shots. Greenleaf, on the other hand, was confident and careful. He played with plenty of skill and self-assurance.

Frank Taberski took third place by defeating Onofrio Lauri, of Brooklyn, in the first game yesterday afternoon by 125 to 71 in 23 innings. Taberski finished with four games won and three lost. Pasquale Natalie was the victor over Marcel Camp, of Detroit, in the other afternoon game by 125 to 64.

Lauri, Camp, Natalie and Spencer Livsey, of Los Angeles, finished in a tie for fourth in games won and lost with three victories and four defeats, but the places were decided on a point total basis. Lauri scored 685, Camp 668, Natalie 629 and Livsey 578. The standing of the players:

PITT FAVORED OVER U. S. C.

Carlmark are better wingmen than they were a year ago. Let Stanford's young men of the gridiron become too cocky and we may have a bit of an upset on the twenty-eighth.

Carnegie Tech's Tartans are paying their respects to the campus at the University of California at Berkeley today, winding up their stay on the Pacific Coast. After checking up on California, the squad and returning party will board their sleepers and head for Ogden, Utah, and Salt Lake City.

The Coast gave Tech a great welcome, a great time while the boys were here, and a great send-off. A number of the Skibo tourists remained over for the Tournament of Roses game, with Graduate Manager Buddy Overend chaperoning the stay-overs. No Eastern team has made the hit Tech did in years. Beans Reardon has taken charge of the special entertainment activities of the Eastern visitors who are still with us. When Beans takes charge, he takes charge.

Dutch Kreider is no mean help, either. He may not show you all the public buildings, monuments, beauty spots and glorious sunsets, but he'll show you plenty else.

ponent, that's the end of it. He couldn't have got by so easily in the old days. The challenger would demand a meeting, and the champion would have to give it to him And unless you won, there was little pay. When a modern fighter signs he wants to know how many rounds he is to go. Old-time fighters always preferred the long bouts. They believed they had a better chance to win. Boxing is losing caste with sport followers."

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement House basketball team, favorite to win the Central Pittsburgh League championship, will go after its seventh successive league victory tonight when it opposes Jim Black's crack Manchester Community passers on the Manchester floor. The game is the only contest carded in the Central Pittsburgh League and is expected to draw a large crowd of rooters.

Ziggy Kahn

Ziggy Kahn, athletic director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House, has warned his players not to take tonight's contest too lightly and it goes without saying that the Hill District favorites will be on their toes from the start to finish.

I. K. S. GOOD

The Settlement quintet this winter is one of the best ever to represent that organization on the floor, including among its stars such sterling performers as Harry Siljander, Nate Lippe, a brother of the Fintex flash bearing the same name; Ward Murphy, former Kaufmann veteran; Sammy Smith, of Y. M. H. A. fame and other former scholastic luminaries.

Coach Jim Black, of the Manchester passers, has been working his boys overtime in preparation for the battle with the IKS and will send a smooth-working quintet on the floor tonight. The IKS have scored six successive league victories without meeting a reverse, but they face a tough test tonight in the North Siders.

GOLDENSONS COP

Eddie Siegel and Monk Ketchel played stellar roles last night as the Goldensons defeated the Elizabeth Independents, 44 to 27, in their Allegheny County League battle in the South Side market House. It was the Goldensons' third league win. Siegel accounted for four field goals, while Ketchel snared five.

The Elizabeth club trailed 11-4 in the first quarter, and further widened the margin in the next, the score at half time being 26-14 in the victor's favor.

In the West Penn League, Edgewood's quint nosed out Kingsley House, 30 to 29, with Bond playing the star role, caging five field goals.

REAL ESTATE WINS

Real Estate Savings won over Reicks, 37 to 21, in the Commercial and Industrial League, with Chipley starring.

In other games last night, the W. U. Hoyles nosed out East Liberty Y, 35 to 34; North Boroughs Y lost to Duquesne A. R. S., 38 to 35, and Bidwell defeated Aldridge, 47 to 30.

Wilmerding set down the Pittsburgh Silents, 41-37; St. John's defeated the Mt. Washington Triangles, 39 to 19, and the I. K. S. Juniors tripped the St. Paul Club, 50 to 25. The County League lineup:

Goldensons—44.		Elizabeth—27.
Siegel	F.	Lauder
Angelo	F.	Coles
Ketchel	C.	Fedor
Leisenring	G.	Ayers
Rosenberg	G.	Storer

Field goals—Siegel 4, Jesko, Angelo 2, Ketchel 5, Rubenstein, Lander 3, Coles 2, Fedor, Goldstrohm. Fouls—Goldensens, 18 out of 29; Elizabeth, 13 out of 28. Substitutions—Goldensons, Rubenstein for Liesenring, Leisenring for Siegel, Jesko for Angelo, Holmes for Rosenberg, Rosenberg for Rubenstein; Elizabeth, Goldstrohm for Coles, Martell for Fedor, Coles for Martell, Fedor for Martell, Furno for Martell. Referee—Al Speer.

DRIBBLES

St. John's Lyceum, composed entirely of members of the Red McMahon Club, is setting a torrid pace in the Catholic Lyceum League. Jack Huddy, as usual, is shooting with deadly accuracy. He bagged 10 baskets in a recent game.

Nape Lippe's worth to the Morry-Fintex team was brought out by his absence from the lineup in Tuesday's battle with the Duquesne Lafayettes. The County League leaders not only suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of last year's champions, but could get only two field goals, both made by Sammy Klatemen. Lippe represents 50 per cent of the Morry-Fintex team. Without him the Fintex team would not be in the running for the County League championship.

Lou Almas's presence in the Y. M. H. A. quintet seems to have placed the A. A. U. champion of last year in the running for the West Penn League laurels. In his first two games Lou has proven himself a real star. He should prove one of the best performers in the local amateur circuit this winter.

Dad Rogers takes his Allentown Club to Elizabeth and the Franchinas entertain the rejuvenated Homestead Ackermans at Columbus Temple in the two Allegheny County League games listed for tonight. The Franchinas, weakened by the injury to Tom Foley, regular center, are said to be dickering for Sticks Monohan, former Duquesne University star.

The South Side Falcons will be the opponents of the Young Men's Hebrew Asso-

BASKETBALL RULES QUIZ

PLAY NO. 22.

The referee calls a violation, but not a foul when Holt, of Arkansas, runs with the ball, and on the same play the umpire calls a personal foul on Churchill, of Oklahoma, for holding Holt.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

The referee disregards his own ruling of a violation by Holt for traveling with the ball, and the personal foul is charged against Churchill.

ciation tonight in the only West Penn League game on the schedule.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight in the Commercial-Industrial League, Potter Title and Trust being the opponent of Dick Mackey's Carnegie Steel quintet.

The Goldensons are open for games broad with first class out-of-town teams desiring a strong attraction. Call Sammy Goldenson at Hemlock 2558.

Petrone Beaten By Kid Chocolate

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight, gained the referee's decision over Dominic Petrone, of New York, in a stiff 10-round bout last night at the Coliseum. Chocolate thus overcame the strongest opposition of his current invasion of New York rings. He won by a wide margin.

Chocolate was outweighed by three pounds, coming in at 126½ pounds to 129½ pounds for Petrone.

ASPINWALL TOPS ARNOLD FIVE

Aspinwall High School set down Arnold High, 23 to 14, in their court game on the Aspinwall floor last night. Byron and Snyder did most of the scoring, getting three field goals each.

KENNEL DATES SET

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—The Washington County Kennel Club has announced April 18 and 19 as the dates for its second annual bench show, following a meeting of charter members of the organization. The show will be staged in the Coliseum in West Beau street. The usual "mutt" parade will be held in the evening of April 18.

PIERPOINTS SET TO SHOW HERE

By TOM BIRKS

Now that the fans have been watching the efforts of the Pierpoint Motors Club in its National open cup battles in other cities for the past two weeks, the game with the Pittsburgh Celtics scheduled for Homewood Playgrounds Saturday afternoon will give local followers of the kicking code an opportunity to see the Ekequist aggregation in action at home.

For the last two weeks the Baum boulevard soccer outfit has been strutting its stuff in Cleveland and Detroit. Both of these games were in the National open challenge race. However, the coming battle will be in the National amateur, and, seeing that Heidelberg is not interested in the tourney this season, since a committee composed of club managers agreed otherwise, the fans can pick out the winner of Saturday's battle to follow in the cup race this winter.

Pierpoint, as this writer said at the beginning of the season, appeared to be the logical club to follow Heidelberg as a good contender, but the Celtics have been playing sensational soccer in many hard-fought games. The game will be called at 2:30.

It seems as though the Beaver Valley League is having troubles of its own. Saturday's games have been called off, according to reports, and until the loop meets, no games will be staged.

This meeting will be on Monday. This league certainly has a lot of trouble each season, and many fans feel the clubs take their soccer too seriously.

In the District League, Lewis will travel to Crafton, while the National Tube Club will meet Clan Douglas at Swissvale. And the latter game should be worth while.

Former Washington Gridder Honored

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Louis Hundertmark, former Washington High grid star, has been selected on the All-Alabama scholastic eleven by Alabama sports writers. Hundertmark played during the past season with the Tuscaloosa High School eleven.

Fifth Avenue High Girls Win by 102-4 Score

Fifth Avenue High School girls ran up the highest basketball score of the season yesterday when they walloped the Langley High sextet, 102 to 4. Miss Kornikow was the individual star of the contest, registering no less than 44 field goals. Only two fouls were scored, Fifth Avenue getting both. The lineup:

Fifth—102.		Langley—4.
Kornikow	F.	Graw
Adomatis	F.	McGinty
Williaman	C.	McMorris
Koch	S.C.	L. Miller
Girozius	G.	G. Miller
Norkus	G.	Harrington

Field goals—Kornikow 44, Adomatis 6, Graw, McGinty. Fouls—Fifth 2. Referee—Bertha Heed.

Y. M. H. A. COPS DOUBLES TITLE

The Young Men's Hebrew Association handball team captured the doubles championship of the city handball tournament last evening when it disposed of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association team, 2 to 1. Because of their stellar play, the individual trophy was awarded Y. M. H. A. players.

McGinnis and Alexander, of P. A. A. handed Winkleman and Gordon, of Y. M. H. A., their first defeat in the tournament, winning by scores of 21-19, 12-21, 21-0.

Gladstone and Wolf, of Y. M. H. A., won over Thornton and Lefevre, of P. A. A., 21-12, 21-12, while Fierst and Kimball, of Y. M. H. A. copped their contest from O'Loughlin and Cook, of P. A. A., by forfeit.

The Keystone Athletic Club team met defeat at the hands of the Downtown Y. M. C. A., on the latter's court, the count again being 2 to 1. Meyer and Grimm, of Y. M. C. A., took over Smith and Carter, 21-11, 21-14. Weis and Shema, of K. A. C., lost to McLean and Williams, of Y. M. C. A., 21-2, 21-10. Manners and Werner, of K. A. C., tripped Crawford and Burns, of Y. M. C. A., 21-17, 14-12, 21-7.

GUS DEFENDS TITLE

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg will defend his world heavyweight wrestling championship tonight against Joe Devito at the Chicago Coliseum.

Matman, 'Out,' Beats Foe, 'Knocked Cold'

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Al Karasick, Russian heavyweight, and Harry Demetral, his Greek opponent, spent some time today learning all about the outcome of their wrestling match here last night. Karasick won, but neither was conscious of it until some time afterward.

Each had taken one fall when they faced each other for the deciding spill. They tangled and went down. Both were knocked cold as they hit the mat.

Since Karasick was on top, the referee counted Demetral out and awarded the decision to Karasick.

Iowa Gridiron Bid Declined by W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—H. A. Stansbury, director of athletics at West Virginia University, announced today he had declined an offer to meet the University of Iowa in a football game next year. Iowa offered West Virginia the dates of October 11 or 18, but West Virginia was unable to accept. The Mountaineers play Washington and Lee at Charleston October 11 and Detroit University at Detroit, October 18.

Purple Quint Meets Notre Dame Tonight

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Collegiate basketball in the Western Conference will resume tonight with four big nine teams taking on non-conference aggregations.

Northwestern meets Notre Dame at Notre Dame, Illinois stays at Champaign to play Washington University of St. Louis, Carleton invades Wisconsin and Albion College engages Michigan at Ann Arbor.

1929 BIG YEAR FOR MARINES IN SPORTS

The Marine Corps has just completed one of its best years in the field of sports. Athletics reached a high peak of popularity in 1929, and the sea soldiers are now looking forward to further activities on track and field in 1930.

In baseball, football, basketball, and swimming, new talent was discovered in the ranks of the Marines and led to the winning of their full share of the trophies and prizes for which they competed.

While the general plan of Marine Corps athletics is an all-round participation in sports to keep the Corps fit and ready for its military duties, here and there individual members of that service have stood out among their buddies and won special cups or medals for their achievements.

WIN DISTINCTION

C. O. Glick, of Illinois, won the hexathlon honors of the service and two gold medals for his all-round ability as an athlete; K. R. Utzman, of California, is the holder of several service swimming records; S. N. Young, of North Carolina, batted .404 with the all-Marine baseball team, which won 23 out of 29 games with college nines; and J. D. Dashiell, a diminutive Texan, was the ace of the Marine eleven which won the President's Cup, emblematic of the football laurels of the service.

While scores of the sea soldiers invaded the squared circle during the current year, the two most noteworthy exponents of the fistic art are: A. M. Lombard, a featherweight of Seattle, and H. W. Lewman, lightheavy from Ohio, who, in competition with both military and naval opponents, won the inter-service championships of the Department of the Philippines at Manila.

WIDE RANGE OF SPORTS

Early in the year sturdy seagoing Marines of the U. S. S. Texas pulled a heavy whaleboat over a mile and a half course at Panama, to win the All-Navy rowing honors of the fleet. They were awarded individual medals and a trophy.

Incidentally, the diversity of sports has been as widespread as the scattered outposts of the corps. While the Marines of the American legation at Peiping were winning the baseball championship of North China for the third time, Don M. Beeson, a sea soldier of San Diego, annexed the single tennis championship of the Eleventh Naval District.

Early in the year virtually every post of the corps, from Port au Prince, Haiti to Shanghai, China, had its basketball team, and many of these teams won the championship of their respective naval districts.

WIN AT SHANGHAI

One of their most recent achievements was the winning of the International Field and Track meet at Shanghai, where the Marines took 16 out of 17 first places while in competition with the British, Australian, and civilians located there.

In order to compete with various college teams, the Marines concentrated their best baseball and football players at one location during the spring and fall, Quantico, Va., is the selected spot, and it is at this post that the Marines prepare for their baseball and football campaigns.

Outstanding players who have proved their merit at other posts gather at Quantico to form the All-Marine teams, and for years these teams have never had a losing season. When travel is involved in their sport schedules, the expense is borne by the sea soldiers themselves or by funds donated by their post exchanges.

Scott High Gridders Honored at Banquet

The Scott High School, of North Braddock, football team was honored at a banquet staged under the auspices of the school athletic association in the Edgar Thomson Club last night. The gridders were treated to a turkey dinner as a reward for their splendid work last season.

The toastmaster was Myles Berthold, captain, and the principal speaker was S. R. McClure, president of the North Braddock Board of Education. Guests included members of the school board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The "Mighty Mikes" of St. Mary's will meet the football eleven of Fordham University at the Polo grounds, New York City, next November 15.

St. Mary's emerged from the 1929 season with the best record of any major football team on the Coast and the best defensive showing of any college in the country. The Gaels went through the season unbeaten and tied but once.

Gene Ordered to Quit Heavy Exercise

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The effects of old ring bruises, recurring when Gene Tunney exercised aboard the liner Vulcania in heavy seas recently forced the former heavyweight champion to undergo a kidney X-ray examination yesterday. Friends declared it was found no operation would be necessary but his doctors ordered Gene to cease violent exercise in any form.

Va., were elected as captains of the 1930 West Virginia Wesleyan football team by lettermen here last night. Both are juniors and they succeed Henry Miller, of Sharpsburg, Pa., as leader of the Bobcats.

ST. VINCENT'S WINS, 20-18

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 19.—St. Vincent's College won a closely played game from Indiana State Teachers, 20 to 18, here last night. A shot from under the basket rimmed the ring and fell out, depriving the Teachers of the chance of a tie as the game ended. St. Vincent's led, 10 to 6, at the half.

McKnight, Indiana center, led the scoring with three field goals and five free throws. Genovese, St. Vincent's forward, with four field goals, was high man for the winners. The lineup:

AGAIN KONJOLA TRIUMPHS OVER STUBBORN CASE

For First Time in Years Pittsburgh Man Is Free of Stomach Trouble, Thanks to New Medicine.

No wonder Konjola is a medicine with more than a million friends, when it continues day after day to win amazing victories over stubborn and obstinate ailments which for years defied all other medicines and treatments tried!

MR. GRANT STILLMAN

Nor is it so very remarkable that Konjola wins such victories; for this modern medicine is a compound of 32 valuable ingredients, of which 22 are juices of well known medicinal roots and herbs. It is a medicine that is made to make good; and it makes good. The Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug tSore (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, can and gladly will give you all the facts about this medicine; and tell you what it has done and is doing for vast numbers of Pittsburgh citizens. A typical example of Konjola in action is seen in the following statement given to the Konjola Man recently by Mr. Grant Stillman, 208 Cable Avenue, this city, who said:

"Konjola is one medicine that can be counted upon to give results; at least, judging from my experience. It put an end to my health troubles after many other medicines had failed to do so. I was a victim of stomach trouble. I had practically no appetite, and it was just as well, for almost everything I ate would cause misery and intense pains. This condition caused me to become weak and rundown, nervous and irritable. Constipation developed and added to my distress. I tried medicines, but they gave me no relief.

"After reading about the relief Konjola had given in a case similar to mine, I decided to try one more medicine. I felt better before the first bottle was finished, and kept on until, by the time I had taken four bottles, I was a well man again. For the first time in years I am free of stomach trouble. The constipation also has been corrected. My appetite is fine and my food digests as it should. I have more strength and energy and am no longer nervous and irritable as I was. It was Konjola that gave me this new health and I shall always be glad to recommend this medicine to all who suffer with stomach trouble."

Konjola is recommended for stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders; rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness; and as a supertonic for the building up of strength and vitality.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is sold also at all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Pat and Billie Live in Fear While Being Held Captives

CHAPTER XXXVII.

THE cans and suitcases banged against the cabin door; the shattered wing scraped the ground with a final wolfish twist; the wind went leaping down the canyons. Its weird howling echoes put the last touch of dread on the scene.

Colossal, rocky walls, separated by a terrifying gorge, swept about and above them. They could look up 2,000 feet to these towering precipices; they could look down 3,000 more to the plunging abyss.

The plateau rose like an exiled thing between the canyon's floor and its sheer, overhanging walls. And here, on its flat, forbidding aloneness, the little plane and its four distraught occupants were landed.

In a numb, icy despair Pat folded the child in her arms. She murmured: "Hush, hush! We're all right now," and closed her eyes against the vast, thronging shadows trooping from the abyss. These shadows took on dark, titanic forms. They strode in mass formation over the canyon walls, giving its huge, temple-like structure a frightening aspect. They were gods of desolation prowling through elemental ruins.

The four humans who had strayed into their cavernous arches were of no more import than four pebbles dropped by a forgetten wind.

Whatever fate the desperate men had planned for Pat and the child paled now before this chill, inescapable doom.

They sat in the cockpit and faced each other—these two. Pat watched them. Her pulse went faint.

The pilot took off his helmet and pitched it, with a sobbing growl, from the plane.

But the other—the tall fellow whose mouth was cruelly thin—who had operated the radio and sat utterly quiet, started with murderous eyes into the blanched face of the pilot.

In a tone whose low caress carried an appalling menace he cursed. He laid imprecations like gashes on the head of the other. He doubled his fists as though he longed to let him have horrible, smashing blows.

The pilot accosted this menace with sullen resentment.

"It was land or crack up."

"I told you to keep out of that wind. You drove right into it"

"They were on our tail."

"Like hell they were."

"We're lucky to get out alive."

"Don't worry—you won't get out alive! You've cooked us all. Do you realize there's no road out? And you've smashed the plane!"

Ashen with rage, he climbed from the cockpit and began examining the damaged wing.

Finally the pilot joined him. They stood there in the gathering darkness, their mutters coming in little ripples of terror to Pat's heart. She pressed her lips against the boy's soft, golden hair and tried to still his low, broken cries. She wished that she might die and the child, too, might die now—quickly—holding to each other so—before terrible things could happen.

"Is it going to be night time soon?" the child asked.

"Yes; soon."

"Why don't we go home? My mother wants me. I know she does. I didn't ask her if I could come."

"Who is your mother?"

"Barbara."

"And the other name?"

"Barbara Bryce. My name's Billy. And I live on Vallejao, near Divisadero. I can show you the way. Please let's go before it gets night time."

"Who took you away?"

"Him. He said he'd take me for a ride in the plane. He said Guy was waiting for me."

"Who is Guy?"

"He's a nice man and he promised to take me for a ride in his plane."

Almost fainting with sick, terrific foreboding, Pat listened as the child gave a clear, perfectly-remembered account of his adventure at the park, his ride in the machine.

"He told me to sit on the floor in the back. Just for fun. Pretend I was a robber. After a while he threw a blanket down and said: 'Roll up in that. That's the way pirates do.' And I did. Then he reached down and held something over my face. I cried. I didn't like it! He wouldn't let go. It smelt funny and hurt. Then I fell asleep."

This was all Billy Bryce knew until he awakened with panic to the roar of the plane at dawn this Tuesday morning.

They were kidnapers and had stolen the child of Barbara Bryce. But they knew Guy. They must know him exceedingly well. They used his name to lure the little boy.

What could be the dark, ghastly meaning of it? With a shudder Pat recalled Guy's quarrel with Bryce. And suddenly his non-appearance at the field became ominous. He was rarely late. Had some sinister fate overtaken Guy, too?

She sank down weakly, making vague promises: "Yes—yes—tomorrow—we'll try to get home tomorrow. . . ."

What difference whether the men were known or not? No one would ever track them here. Not even Guy could reach her here. . . .

Now it was dark as a chasm. The men stooped over a stove. They were prepared for a long stay somewhere! The aroma of coffee came tauntingly to Pat's nose.

Then the smell of bacon aroused the boy. He sat up and dashed tears from his eyes.

"Will they give us some?"

Then slowly, ingratiatingly:

"You ask them for something—won't you, Pat?"

He was her charge now, holding to her with pathetic trust. She'd protect him—fight for him. But how?

She wondered and prayed for wisdom. How should she approach these men? What attitude would win the kindest treatment?

She recalled tales of bandits and robbers that fearless, winsome women had outwitted and won.

Pat took the child's hand. He clung to her. She walked over and sat herself down near the stove where they were eating.

She said, with a shrug and her voice making a valiant effort to come reasonably. Anyone could hear it tremble:

"You got us into this Do we rate eats?"

"No dumb-waiter here. Not exactly the Palace Hotel. Not too proud to help yourself, are you?"

"I should say not!" said the girl, reaching for the pan where a portion of beans and bacon remained. "Glad to see you've some sporting blood!"

Tears rushed down her cheeks. She thanked heaven for the merciful dark. But the little boy's hand was so eager as he took the bacon, and he crammed his mouth with a piece of bread. He whispered:

"Can you give me more bacon? I don't want the beans."

Never had she known such a thrill as when she put her share to his lips.

That night it was bitterly cold. The two men came into the cabin where Pat, fighting against sleep, sat with Billy nestled in her lap.

Her arms were ever so weary but she wouldn't put him down. She was afraid to yield to sleep and let the child slip from her arms.

Now she pretended. Soon the two men were snoring.

After a while Pat, too, was asleep. She didn't know how long—it must have been hours that she sat there in this deep pool of exhaustion. She came up from it with an alarming quiver.

It was morning. The men were standing outside the cabin door. They talked in muffled whispers.

With all her nerves strung tight Pat listened.

"Find a path out, then. We can get a machine and go through with it."

"What will we do with the skirt?"

Pat's horrified eyes saw the radio operator—the fellow whom the other called Tom and to whom the pilot looked for leadership—saw this fellow point to the chasm, heard him say with a shrug: "Easy—one shove over—who'll ever know?"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, December 20.

WHILE this day will be notable for much activity and initiative, with much of a lively and progressive nature for those in the employment of others, yet it is possible a frustrating or obstructing force may be in operation, causing postponements and disappointments. With persistency and determination to stick, these obstacles are likely to be overcome and victory against all annoyance and criticism eventually won. But care in signing writings is enjoined.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and progressive year despite many obstacles and aggravating circumstances. Elders may criticize, but application and perseverance will ultimately triumph.

A child born on this day should be industrious and persistent and have qualities and capacities which it may require in order to overcome obstruction and disappointment. It may have to make its own opportunities for successful endeavor.

Keep Rice Water

A housewife who arranges to cook rice on the day she is washing should be careful not to throw away the water in which the rice has been cooked. This is a splendid stiffening for light muslin articles and handkerchiefs.

THE GIFT OF CHANGE

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

SOME person of wisdom once said that the only reality in the world that did not change was CHANGE. Life for us changes every hour, slowly turning a new side, a new color, a new meaning to the light. Something for us to think about...that! A kaleidoscope, twisting slowly, leisurely changing pattern, while old Dad Time holds it in an ancient hand and we squint an eye and marvel.

Sometimes we would like to hold a color, a mood, a beautiful situation forever...or at the least a bit longer than Time will let us. But if he thinks at all, and has a reason for what he does, he is a smart chap, and it's a clever dodge that he invented...this thing called Change.

Where am I going? You see, when an artist makes a picture first, and then begins to cogitate and ruminate afterwards, the things he has to say about it roam like an incurable North Pole hunter, and he has to gather them up and get them into the corral again, and then pick out the ones that he means to serve up to you as a dressing for his picture.

Which is to say, it's a beautiful and marvelous thing that the world, every acre of it, every country, each state, the valley over there and the hill beyond it, the ocean that the sailor and the gull find home, mountains that the eagle and the mountain-man get homesick for, the desert that the chuckawalla and the man who loves it pine for—each and every square mile of this peachy old world is different! Gives us Change. While Gloriette and her all-in-all down South are basking in yellow sun, strained-honey air of Florida, scent of hibiscus and jasmine, shade of the lacy, rustling palm, the air and the ocean one temperature, so that they can tell neither one from the other except that one is jade and the other is gold, with paper-thin attire that the breezes play through...Grisette and HERS are unpacking the tall, woolly stockings, the moccasins, the elbow mitts, the skiis and the fur-lined petticoats for Quebec and Saranac, while the snowflakes drift down outside and the air is like the Snow-Queen's breath!

And liking it—both pairs of them! Change them around—and it will be the same Each pair will think themselves lucky and shudder at the misfortune of the other to be where they are.

Laze away a day on a Florida lake watching the wild swans and the "bonnets" that match the sky and the lake for blueness. And think of the icy "up North!" Whiz down a toboggan and walk a mile back up, with tea and toast and marmalade afterward by a fire. And think of a hot day down South!

Those of us who get to see some of the variety in this beautiful world, in spite of jobs and love of home, are fortunate.

For we get to know the brace, the spice, the youth-reviving tonic of change.

And those who can't can travel by proxy in these rich times of gorgeous books, magazines packed with magic glimpses of the world's treasure-places, and travel-talkies. With a book, a map and an imagination many a child has traveled the world over and learned to love the very face of it.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

NOISE—Its Effect on Your Health.

IN Greater New York the problem of noise is a serious one. The time has come when something must be done to mitigate the nuisance. Sixteen civic associations of New York City have decided to carry on a vigorous campaign against unnecessary noise. The health commissioner has appointed a committee to do away with the din.

DR COPELAND

Noise has a decided detrimental effect on the nervous system. Of particular importance is its effect on infants and young children. It is almost impossible to raise children in the city in the quiet that is so necessary for their normal development.

There is no doubt that a great deal of delinquency and crime among the young is traceable to fatigue, frayed nerves and disturbed brains. It is impossible to say what evil effects noise of every kind may have upon the nervous system.

Every person needs on an average of seven hours of sleep in order to build up vitality and the proper resistance to disease. Of course, some adults seem not to need quite so much sleep as others, but in the case of children, sleep, proper in quantity and quality, is needful for good health, both physical and mental.

Lack of sleep results in lowered vitality. Many cases of illness of one sort or another can be traced to this cause. Nervous ailments of every kind are aggrevated by loss of sleep, due to excessive noises in the city.

Dr. Bernard Sachs, neurologist and chairman of the public health committee of the New York Academy of Medicine, says that an epidemic of deafness has appeared among chauffeurs, caused by the ceaseless din in which they work. Typists are afflicted in this way. We know all about "boiler makers' deafness," but the endless din of city life and modern conditions is bringing deafness to many others.

Automobile noise and noise from radio loud speakers in the sleeping hours is a serious matter and should be speedily checked. It should be possible to control the hours between 11 at night and 6 in the morning so that all unnecessary noise is done away with during that time.

Not only will the support of the outstanding business and trade organizations be necessary in promoting this movement, but also the co-operation of every citizen will be needed. This is a most laudable work to safeguard the health and it is a matter which should be considered everywhere.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Princess Olina Quickly Regains Her Composure

PRINCESS OLINA'S faint, half-stifled "No!" as Harry Underwood finished announcing the double betrothal was audible to everyone at the table, and involuntarily every eye turned toward her. She was leaning forward as if she were about to spring from her chair and her eyes were looking straight into those of Prince Georges. And the look in the eyes of the heir to the throne of Trees reflected the startled dismay in hers. His self-control was better than hers, or he, I felt, would have echoed her exclamation.

It was but for the fraction of a second, however, that their glances were locked in a common astonishment. Then their poise, their common royal heritage, returned to them, their faces took on the expression of pleased interest suitable to the occasion, and each of them managed a light little laugh, for which I mentally saluted them.

Then Prince Georges lifted his glass of fruit punch and bowed slightly to the lovely Princess opposite him.

"To your happiness!" he said, but barely tasted the drink before adding: "This is one time we—what do they say over here?—'put it over on each other,' n'est ce pas?"

She laughed merrily, and I wondered just what that effort of mirth had cost her.

"I trust I surprised you as much as you did me, Georges," she told him.

"You did," he said with emphasis, and then Harry Underwood cut short the little colloquy—at Lillian's signal, I conjectured.

"Line for kissing the prospective brides forms on the right," he intoned with a burlesqued accent that relieved the tension. But I had seen the dismayed look in Olina's eyes at his jest and interposed with a prompt amendment.

"You mean the Continental kiss of the hand, Harry, I am sure," I said demurely.

"I supose so," Mr. Underwood grumbled. "But just wait till I find out who put you up to that. It isn't like you to spoil a fellow's cherished dream that way."

Olina laughed with the rest, but a little later, when we had left the table and the general congratulations were over, she found occasion to say to me meaningly: "Thank you so much, Mrs. Graham. And—may I talk to you by yourself some time soon?"

"Of course," I returned promptly, hoping that my eyes did not betray the excitement I felt at her question. I was quite certain that the subject of her talk would be the engagement of Mary and Georges. It was patent to me that the imperious young Princess had received what Harry Underwood would call "the jolt of her young life" in learning of Prince Georges' betrothal to the girl over whom she had meant to triumph by announcing her own betrothal to Noel. I had studied her carefully during her sojourn at the Larches, and told myself that, while she was undoubtedly infatuated with Noel, yet jealousy of Mary's attraction for both Georges and Noel was the mainspring of her determination to drag the young violinist in chains before Mary. That she had not realized this herself, I was sure—it was a working of the subconscious—and her first reaction to the news of Mary's engagement had been one of dismayed incredulity, her second a determination to find out how seriously the betrothal announcement was to be taken.

I was gratified that the girl had turned to me in her anxiety, but I also was determined to tread warily the perilous paths which await the feet of those who receive confidences, and I added an amendment to my prompt acquiscence.

"I'll make the opportunity for a nice long chat tomorrow," I said adding as quick disappointment clouded her eyes, "It really won't be possible before without inviting comment which I am sure you wish to avoid."

She shot a quick frightened glance at me.

"Oh!" she whispered. "I suppose they are——"

"You are among friends, my dear, please remember that," I said, wondering a bit guiltily if she would be convinced of our friendliness could she fathom our plans for the breaking up of the engagements just announced. But I salved my conscience with the assurance that we were indeed sincere friends, and that our plans were meant to secure her the lasting happiness which her marriage to Noel, a reluctant bridegroom, worshiping another girl, could never bring her.

I had no time, however, for more than the whispered assurance. A deferential hand touched my arm, and Philip Veritzen's suave but insistent tones compelled my attention.

"I must speak to you alone, Mrs. Graham, as soon as possible," he said.

A ripe tomato will remove ink stains from linen. Cut the tomato in half and rub on the stain; leave for a few minutes and then repeat until the stain disappears.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Generous and in Good Taste

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Would it be proper for me to give a Christmas gift to the nuns who taught me in school?

2. If so, should the gift be sent to be distributed among all the nuns or just give a personal gift to the two or three sisters individually? If gifts should be given, what would you suggest as being most appropriate? M. M.

1. YES, it would be very generous of you to do this and in good taste. I am sure that they would be most appreciative of your thought of them.

2. It would be appropriate for you to give a general gift to all the nuns. This might be a box of candy or a basket of fruit, or flowers for the altar or a lovely cake. Or you might have a basket of "sweets" of all kinds made up—fruits, chocolates, hard candies, salted and glace nuts, glace fruits, mints of all kinds, small boxes of ginger and so forth. Or you might give a beautiful copy of a religious picture for one of the general meeting rooms. Then, if you wish to remember one nun or two nuns of whom you are particularly fond, you might give them a small sum of money, asking them to accept it from a loving friend, to get what they wish. She might wish to buy a book with it or some little thing that she has had in mind. I am sure that she will understand your sweet thought of her and take it in the spirit in which you so devotedly wish to give it to her.

An Appropriate Gift

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

There is a cousin of my husband's of whom he thinks a great deal, and every birthday he sends her a gift. My problem is: Should I send the gift from both of us or from him? I thought if we sent a gift just to her and none to the rest of the family there might be hard feelings, so I am in doubt as to just what to do about it. E. B.

THE gift should be sent in the names of both you and your husband. This is the best taste in circumstances of this kind. And I should think that it would be rather easy to get around the other part of your question by planning to buy your husband's cousin a gift that would be more or less of a "family gift," such as something for the home, or a basket of lovely fruits, or a basket of preserves and marmalades of various kinds.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mrs. Solomon's Sayings.

MY Son, I charge thee, keep not a woman's heart TOO long in cold storage, lest another take pity upon her, and seek to thaw it out.

For a little coolness piqueth a damsel's vanity and giveth an edge to her interest; but continued frost dulleth her illusions and chilleth her enthusiasm.

As paprika to the salad-dressing, so is a short absence; it addeth pep and color to the dullest romance.

* * *

But he that remaineth away for an whole fortnight without word or letter is as a photographic proof in the sunlight. His image fadeth from the imagination.

HELEN ROWLAND

Sweeter than a ukulele by moonlight is the perfect devotion of a lover. But he that telephoneth a damsel before BREAKFAST is as cold coffee and soggy muffins—exceedingly deadly.

Yea, he is as welcome as a bill upon the breakfast tray, or an installment collector upon Christmas morning.

As fresh powder on the nose, so is a little jealousy, exceeding flattering. But a man that keepeth tabs upon a damsel and casteth frowns of suspicion upon every man who danceth twice with her, is as a tight slipper—too painful to be endured.

Cut flowers are ofttimes better than an apology, and acts of contrition more convincing than an explanation.

But he that findeth repentance easy and repeateth the offense is as a loose garter a trial to the spirit, and ready to be dropped.

The sage hath said, "In vino, veritas." But, the damsel who cherisheth a man's words, after his third glass, is as one that falleth for the smiles of the handsome automobile salesman, strangely simple.

Wherefore is a woman flattered when a man asketh for her telephone number.

For, as men once collected pressed flowers and locks of hair as trophies of their triumphs, so do they now collect telephone numbers. And why should a damsel be flattered to be among a man's "souvenirs?"

* * *

Go to, my Son. The damsel of today is wise in her generation. Therefore, be not deceived because she hath put on trailing frocks and an 1830 manner. For, this doth not signify that she hath forgotten her onions or gone SIMPLE-MINDED. Nay, though she hath dove's eyes and a clinging way, yet hath she every man's number!

Money Rates Generally Show Firmness at End of Year.

ALMOST invariably money rates show increasing firmness in the closing month of the year. For that reason current relative ease prevailing in credit rates generally is in contrast with the normal order of things. Through this week last year call money was commanding rates ranging from 6 to 9 per cent and 60-day time money was ruling at 7¾ per cent, while in the closing week of December, 1928, the rate on demand funds ranged from 9 to 12 per cent, with these high rates carrying over into January. Except perhaps during the closing month of 1927, when the money market was being made artificially easy to encourage gold exports, with call money ruling from 4 to 4½ per cent and time money around 4 to 4⅛ per cent for 60 days, December has ordinarily been a month of firmness in money due to year-end adjustments by banks and also to the usual reparation for heavy year-end corporation disbursements.

Wall street naturally does not relish extreme dullness such as now prevails in the speculative market. It means among other things very lean commissions for brokerage houses, and having geared themselves up to handle much larger volume, the average firm does not find present apathy exactly to its liking. But the sluggishness is widely regarded as taking on the nature of a "good omen." The contention is that it illustrates very clearly the thoroughly liquidated position of the market, if nothing more. The argument being advanced that if anything in the way of important weak holdings were hanging over the market, the periodical prodding of the bear element would undoubtedly have brought in fresh liquidation.

THE move by the Interstate Commerce Commission in reopening the O'Fallon case brings up anew the problems of arriving at railway valuations to be used in connection with the recapture of excess earnings. Arguments will now be heard by the commission as it moves to revise its valuation figures on the St. Louis and O'Fallon in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Court handed down some months ago. The court decided the commission must give consideration to the matter of reproduction costs in fixing final values. It did not, however, fix anything definite bearing on that matter as applied to the railways generally. Just now it is understood that the weight accorded reproduction costs will vary as the commission proceeds with establishing the value of the numerous roads.

The Fairbanks Company net earnings in month of October were over $46,000, the largest for any single month in six years. Net earnings for the year so far show a gain of approximately 500 per cent, thus accounting for the strength and activity of the shares on the New York Stock Exchange. The shares sold yesterday at a new high for the year, 13¾. The company specializes in manufacture of valves for use in oil wells and its prosperity is caused in part by the lease in life of the oil industry with indications pointing to even a greater increase for the balance of the fiscal year. The company has a large cash surplus.

IN regard to revived reports to the effect that merger between General American Tank Car Corporation and Pullman, Inc., is pending, the following is learned from an authoritative source. Conversations between officials of the two companies took place prior to the market crash with the view towards a merger on a stock exchange basis. Negotiations were dropped following the market collapse. The situation remains unchanged, although interests of both concerns look with favor upon a resumption of conversations. It can be stated definitely that a merger is not imminent, notwithstanding recent rumors to the contrary. General American will shortly complete the most prosperous year in its history. It is as yet too early to predict what final results will be, although one informant estimates that net will approach the $6,000,000 mark against $3,910,754 in 1928. In spite of the fact that the company has increased its capitalization this year by about 150,000 shares, per share earnings will show a decided improvement over last year's figures when $5.64 was earned on the 608,399 shares of common stock outstanding, after preferred dividends. Preferred stock was retired the first of this year.

Estimates of $3.50 to $4 a share on Radio for the fourth quarter are heard in the Street. While such estimates are considered liberal, it is understood generally that the corporation will issue a satisfactory earnings statement and that the year-end balance sheet will show substantial improvement in the corporation's fiscal position. On January 1, last, the corporation had $35,556,732 in cash and marketable securities, a total which should be increased by the end of the year, through reinvestment of earnings.

Huge German Loan O. K.'d by Reichstag

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—The Reichstag voted 239 to 138 to authorize a loan of 465,000,00 marks (about $100,000,000) for which the finance ministry has been negotiating with Dillon, Read & Co. of New York. It was said that decision on granting the loan still must come from New York.

Pressed Steel Car Has Good Year

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE annual report of the Pressed Steel Car Company will show preferred dividend requirements earned by a large margin. Officials are unwilling to make any prediction at this time as to the amount to be earned on the common stock.

The present year will be the first since 1925 in which net profit has exceeded preferred dividend requirements. The statement of earnings will be the most satisfactory in a long period of years.

A revival in the buying in railroad equipment which started a year ago and which has continued to gain headway has been responsible for the improvement in the company's affairs. During the five years ending with 1928 the company's business was retarded by the declining requirements for railroad cars.

Production Gains

BUYING of railroad cars this year has been about double the volume of 1928. Pressed Steel Car has been able to operate its plants at a high rate during most of the past 12 months. Current production is at about 85 per cent of capacity.

Orders are on hand to keep the Chicago plant working at capacity until the middle of April and at about half capacity from that time until the end of May. Business in this district is in good volume but is not quite as heavy as in the Chicago territory. The McKees Rocks plant has its production sold up to the end of February. The Allegheny plant is closed.

Foundry Expanded

LARGE expenditures have been made at the company's foundry here. Capacity will be increased 1,000 tons a month. This will expand the plant's output to 3,500 tons a month.

Operations in the car shops in this district will be increased by an order for 400 cars placed with Pressed Steel by the Reading Company.

The current outlook in the equipment business is good. The number of cars to be purchased this month promises to exceed October which was the record month of the year. Several leading railroad systems are in the market for large numbers of cars.

Record of Earnings

AT the close of 1928 the company had $14,430,500 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock outstanding. Dividend requirements on this for a year amount to $1,010,135. Not only will net profit for the year exceed this figure but a balance will be shown for the common stock, 389,604 shares of which were outstanding at the end of the last year.

As a result of the depressed condition of the car business a deficit of $247,719 was reported for 1928. In 1927 a net profit of $539,213 was shown, while in 1926 the loss amounted to $620,803.

Strong Position

IT was due to the strong financial position of the company that it was able to continue the payment of preferred dividends during the lean years. At the end of 1928 current assets amounted to $11,559,163 against current liabilities of $4,076,166. The continuance of dividends reduced working capital, but even after this depletion the company ended last year with $827,004 in cash and $3,000,000 loaned on call.

With physical properties and franchises carried at $38,961,495 and total assets of $55,617,692 the company had a comparatively small funded debt. At the end of the year this was only $7,292,500. Surplus amounted to $15,834,730.

DRAVO PLANS EXPANSION

Details of an extensive expansion program is announced by Dravo Contracting Company. More than $750,000 will be divided between improvements on its Neville Island plant and its Christiana River (Del.) plant.

A steel storage yard, with crane facilities to handle 50 per cent additional shop capacity, is planned for the Neville Island plant. The plant property there has been enlarged by the acquisition of a 19-acre tract adjoining the present site and fronting on both the main and back channels of the Ohio River. Another improvement, already under construction, is an addition to the structural shop building to permit installing extensive shear and punch equipment. New hydraulic press equipment also will be purchased.

The company is awaiting permission from the War Department and the water and power resources board of Pennsylvania for construction of ice breakers and marine railways at the Neville Island plant, to permit lifting the largest hulls used in inland water transportation of the river for repairs.

At the Christiana River yard, Wilmington, Del., the company already has started construction of a complete outfitting dock, including necessary shop facilities.

Gross tonnage output on river craft at the Neville Island plant increased 65 per cent during 1929, company officials report, 165 hulls having been launched during the year. Fifty hulls, totaling in value more than $2,000,00, now are under construction.

Insurance Company Pays Record Dividend

NEW YORK Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announced that its board of directors had approved the largest dividend total ever declared for the company's industrial policy holders.

Subject to the approval of the superintendent of insurance, $38,000,000, a substantial increase over last year, has been declared for these policy holders for 1930.

Baltimore Rate Case Is Dismissed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has denied the application of the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce for reduced rates on export and import traffic between Baltimore and mid-western territory, holding existing rates not unreasonable. This constitutes a victory for Port of New York and other North Atlantic ports.

Sharon Mill Pays Regular Dividend

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 19.—The regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share was declared at a meeting of the directors of the Sharon Steel Hoop Company. The dividend is payable January 25 on the company's no par common stock to all stockholders of record January 4.

Earl Suspended From Curb List

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The New York Curb Exchange committee on listings has suspended dealings in Earl Radio Corporation capital stock.

European Copper Consumption Holds Up

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The European copper situation is again back in the same position it occupied 15 months ago, immediately before the sensational advance started. There is even less copper on this side of the Atlantic now than there was then. Consumers are bare of supplies and warehouse stocks are approaching exhaustion. Despite the great shrinkage in the rough copper total there appears to be a sizeable short interest in "standard," which is £15 a ton lower in price than refined.

Consumption of copper throughout Europe is holding up remarkably. Decrease in German imports—26,664 metric tons to end of October compared with first 10 months of last year—has been more than offset by increases in those of other countries.

But Germany has increased her imports of copper ore, matte, etc., some 33 per cent—from 292,179 tons in 10 months last year to 388,529 tons in corresponding period this year. In view of this and of her increased home production, Germany's actual decrease of copper consumption must have been very small.

To end of October British imports of copper were up 2,878 long tons, and of copper ore, matte, etc., off 9,522 tons.

In computing consumption it has to be taken into consideration that private European stocks of copper were considerably increased during the closing months of last year, while of late they have been greatly reduced. This and the import figures make it appear that Europe's 1929 consumption will be slightly larger than last year's.

Firestone Sees Good Year Ahead

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—Massachusetts Industrial Commission is in receipt of advices from Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, operating plants in Fall River and Hudson, that it expects to maintain present scale of wages and hopes to achieve still further progress in the coming year.

The statement of H. S. Firestone, president of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, follows:

"Recent depression in market value of stocks and securities has not affected fundamental soundness of American industry. It was a natural reaction to the speculative era which had overreached itself. Naturally there will be readusting to this new situation, as many people became involved in stock speculation and must again readjust themselves to the realization that there is no substitute for work to attain permanent success and prosperity. I feel that this will have a good effect on the country.

"The Firestone company is looking forward to a good year in the tire business, and although it will require additional effort to maintain its record of progress, we have a loyal organization which will work and co-operate to this end. In return, the company expects to maintain its present scale of wages and hopes to achieve still further progress in the coming year."

INGOT OUTPUT UNCHANGED

Steel ingot production the past week was about unchanged from the preceding week, averaging around 63½ per cent against 67 per cent two weeks ago. There was a reduction of more than 1 per cent by United States Steel Corporation, but this was offset by a moderate increase on the part of independents, the rate for the latter being brought up by a sudden increase in activities in the Mahoning Valley. This is considered merely temporary in the steel trade.

United States Steel Corporation rate is now under 64 per cent as against about 65 per cent in the previous week and 68 per cent two weeks ago. Independents are a shade above 63 per cent against 62 per cent last week and 65 per cent two weeks ago.

In the similar 1928 week the average for the industry was above 80 per cent, with the steel corporation running at a fraction under 82 per cent and independents slightly below 79 per cent.

There should be a substantial reduction in output of steel next week. The holiday shut-down this year will be more extensive than in several years because the demand from consumers is smaller and steel mills will not resume as quickly as in normal times.

It is probable that some plants may not reopen between Christmas and New Year's, thus permitting taking of inventory without interruption.

Unemployment Fear Uppermost With Americans

By B. C. FORBES

WHAT subject is uppermost in the minds of the greatest number of families in America at this moment? Not Christmas. Employment — including unemployment and fear of unemployment.

There is urgent need for prompt action by the prominent executives who pledged President Hoover that they would launch large-scale construction and other projects providing labor.

LETTERS received from workers in different centers imply that some of these Washington visitors talked one way and have acted in an entirely different way.

The suggestion is made that the Federal Department of Labor, in conjunction with State Labor authorities, call for figures showing the number of workers laid off by different employers within the last two months and that the returns be made available to the newspapers.

SOME of us who have comfortable jobs dislike having our own smug state of mind disturbed in the slightest by having tragic facts concerning the plight of others drawn to our attention. But ignoring the existing conditions will not cure them but will only make victims of unemployment feel more bitter because of our apparent callousness. The facts must be faced and every possible influence brought to bear in responsible quarters to institute every feasible remedial action.

FROM Detroit comes a long letter, from which these sentences are culled:

"I was turned out October 15 and have not had employment since. Am a metallurgical chemist and, after serving nine years with—company, was dropped along with many other old employes. I came here to Detroit, worked seven weeks, and, being a new man, was laid off. I stayed with my old company at low salary because they had a reputation at one time for being good to old employes. After their merger with—they started getting hardnosed.

"You should listen to the talk of workmen with children who are set out on the street because they can't pay rent. They have no money to buy food. Then, some people sit in their comfortable chairs and remark about so much crime.

"The intentions of the founders of our country have been violated. My people came here before the Revolutionary War and some of us have fought for it in every war since. I was in the World War—for democracy!

"We are all sound at heart but we must live, and when we are denied that, we become bitter."

THIS is from a salaried man:

"Some organizations have been building up an employe morale by holding out certain benefits for faithful workers, who give their lives, year after year, to the company, often these benefits are merely informal and come to be taken for granted by the workers.

"Too often when a company goes into a merger these intangibles are thrown overboard.

"The point is that the employe has no assurance that he is going to be provided for in his old age. I agree with President George I. Cochran, of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, that the industrious worker is entitled to a fair wage and some measure of protection in ill health, misfortune and old age.

"Though progress along these lines seems slow, yet there is progress, and very definite progress. We have only to turn back the pages of history to see what advances have been made from slavery, serfdom and other forms in the centuries."

FROM another out-of-work:

"The confusion caused by unemployment is becoming serious. During the World War I saw five fronts. Today I am over the age limit, out of work, an American, I am not the only American on the 'slave market.' I see more Americans out of work than any other nationality. All I wish for is a break—a chance to work in my own country. I am an 'unknown soldier' but wide awake, not dead."

FROM another reader:

"Doles would never do in this country. But unemployment wages would. Why not form an unemployment fund, each industry to control its own fund—have the employer contribute a certain amount and each employe in proportion to earnings? Before attempting this, the present corporation tax would have to be repealed or drastically reduced.

"I am one of the many millions of common, every-day American workmen who refuses to be misled into the lurid red or pink pathway of syndicalism or socialism. We have faith in those in charge of the new era of production and distribution. But it is an excellent thing to remind them of the human element as part of the structure."

THIS last is the purpose of today's column.

I. C. C. SPEEDING WORK ON RAIL MERGER

Plan Likely to Be Made Known in Few Days, Says Commission Spokesman

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Members of the Interstate Commerce Commission have been working tooth and nail over the forthcoming railroad merger plan in order to fulfill Commissioner Ernest I. Lewis' prediction to President Hoover that the report would be ready by the turn of the year.

Although gossipers had forecast that the report would be out last Monday, the necessity of ironing out remaining differences permitted of no such early publication. Meantime, Wall street is awaiting the document itself with extraordinary interest. A spokesman for the commission told me that he did not yet know whether agreement would be reached in time for publication this week. He indicated that there was a possibility that it would go over to next week or the week after.

CURIOSITY AROUSED

Two aspects of the report have raised great curiosity. The first is in regard to the commission's attitude toward the four system plan in the East, and the second is in regard to the attitude of the commission in respect to the place of holding companies in merger schemes. Ever since earlier in the year when the commission approved of the construction of a 17-mile extension of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia from Connellsville to Cochran Mills, railroad men have recognized the possibility that the commission might favor five systems instead of four, as urged by the leading eastern executives.

Among railroad presidents, there are two schools of thought as to the value of mergers as a means of heightening railroad prosperity and efficiency. John J. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Pere Marquette and chief operating executive in the Van Sweringen group, has emerged as a leading spokesman of the pro-merger wing. On the other hand, E. R. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley, a small road, which desires to keep its independence, has thrown cold water on the belief that railroad weddings would prove a panacea.

SEES NEW PROSPERITY

Mr. Bernet had indicated that the chief concern of the railroads is over the nature of the Commission's merger plan. If it is satisfactory to the railroads, Mr. Bernet predicts that "the coming year will mark the start of a new era of prosperity for the country."

Mr. Loomis, in setting forth his skepticism, doubted that it would be possible to eliminate "weak sisters" through consolidation. He thinks that the absorption of weak roads by strong might impair the credit and eventually the quality of service of the latter. Moreover, such groupings, he feels, could not be equal in every respect, and under the new setup strong and weak systems would again emerge. Mr. Loomis added that the only country which had tested nation-wide consolidation was England, and he declared that the success of this experiment is open to question. Mr. Loomis insisted that American shippers and travelers are apathetic toward the project of railroad consolidation.

FARRELL EXPLAINS

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, in a message to this column, clears up an apparent contradiction in the current operations of the company which has puzzled the public. The anomaly consisted of the fact that, although the last report of unfilled orders on hand showed an increase of 12 per cent over a year ago, the mills of the company were operating at a smaller percentage of capacity than a year ago. The question was raised whether the reduced operations revealed a lack of confidence in the business outlook.

"These unfilled tonnage figures," Mr. Farrel pointed out, "are exactly what they purport to be. The tonnage comprises business booked, but of course it does not mean that on all the tonnage the buyers call for or will permit prompt deliveries. The orders on our books on November 30, 1928, therefore, must have called for earlier shipments, on the average, than do the orders on our books on November 30, 1929.

"We do not presume to ascribe any reason for this difference in the character of the orders. It might arise from any one of a number of causes. Steel buying over the last several years has tended toward the so-called 'hand-to-mouth' buying and for this reason the tonnage on the books is not as heavy as it formerly was and is more liable to sudden fluctuations both in total and in character of the orders."

LAWYER HEADS BANK

The selection of the 44-year-old lawyer, Winthrop Aldrich, brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and son of the late Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, to succeed the late Charles A. Austin as president of the Equitable Trust Company, brings to the center of the Wall street stage an individual who has heretofore kept in the background. Mr. Aldrich had been a trustee of the bank, and had been active in handling its legal affairs for eight years, but it is noteworthy that his first banking job involves filling the presidential chair.

His colleague, Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank, of New York, was a lawyer, but he served first as vice president. Other lawyers filling outstanding executive jobs include Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Company and of the Radio Corporation of America; F. W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad; A. R. Graustein, president of the International Paper and Power Company; Earl D. Babst, chairman of the American Sugar Refining Company, and H. C. Lakin, president and chairman of the Cuba Company.

CITIES SERVICE DEPESSED

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Pressure was applied against Cities Service common again at the opening on the Curb Exchange with a block of 7,500 shares at ½ point below its previous close. The stock has been selling off slowly but consistently all week and in the fortnight previous. All efforts to advance the price were unsuccessful. The exact source of this supply is somewhat mystifying.

The tremendous liquidation in this stock in late October and early November with a second wave of selling later as weakened accounts were released was believed to have greatly strengthened the technical position of the shares. Most of the stock bought on the break is still tied up on the instalment buying contracts, so that even those who had a profit on commitments made then cannot be cashing in on their gains now.

The third explanation applied to the selling of other and more speculative issues, namely, selling to establish tax losses, is not apt to be a very strong factor in the case of this issue where the main appeal is to the small investor.

The Cities Service Company reports for the 12 months ended November 30 net income of $34,318,397 after charges, but before reserves, equal, after preferred dividends, to $1.14 a share on the average number of common shares outstanding. This compares with $29,447,023, or $1.20 a share on the average common shares outstanding in the previous year.

AIR REDUCTION PROFITS GAIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Air Reduction Company, Inc., is closing the most prosperous year in its history. Each quarter of 1929 has shown increased gross and net income over the same period a year ago and it is believed this condition has prevailed thus far in the current quarter.

It is understood October was one of the company's best months and that November returns were also highly favorable. In the quarter ended September 30, Air Reduction reported the highest earnings of any quarter in its history

Present indications are that net income for the year ended December 31 will equal between $7.50 and $8 a share on 769,000 common shares after all charges and taxes. The previous best year was 1928 when net totaled $3,209,903, or $4.61 a share on 696,794 shares then outstanding.

White Net Placed At Above $2,000,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Preliminary estimates place 1929 net earnings of White Motor Company at above $2,000,000 after all charges and taxes, equal to $2.50 a share on 800,000 shares. This is exclusive of the company's equity in earnings of White Motor Securities Company, which would probably bring total results to around $3 a share for the year. In 1928 the company reported net profits of $1,963,761, or $2.45 a share, exclusive of equity of 45 cents a share in undistributed earnings of the securities company.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO TOBOGGAN

Utility, Merchandising, Specialty and Amusement Shares Lead in Decline

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Stock prices continued to hit the toboggan today as selling pressure was renewed against amusement, public utility, merchandising and specialty shares. At least a dozen issues were carried to new low levels for the year, or longer, and a long line of others were carried 1 to 5 points below last night's closing quotations. Only a few issues moved against the general downward trend.

Acute weakness of International Combustion issues, coincident with the announcement of the appointment of a temporary receiver for that company and another bad break in Fox Film were believed to be principally responsible for the general unsettlement. International Combustion common sank 5½ points to a new low at 53⅜ and the preferred stock broke 8 points to 21½, which contrasted with the year's highs of 103½ and 121, respectively. Fox dropped 8½ points to 26½, which compares with the year's high of 105⅜.

STORE SHARES LOWER

Overnight news failed to provide much of market interest. The appearance of selling pressure against the merchandising issues were based on privately circulated rumors that holiday business was not as bright as had been pictured in some quarters. R. H. Macy dropped 5 points, Sears, Roebuck 4, and Arnold Constable and Gimbel Brothers preferred sank to new low levels for the year.

New lows for the year also were registered by Kolster and Zenith Radios, Fairbanks-Morse and Pathe A, while Continental Shares sank to the lowest level since it was listed a week ago. Some of the selling in this group is believed to have been for the purpose of establishing income tax losses.

GOLD HOLDINGS GAIN

The Bank of England made no change in its discount rate, and its weekly statement, as well as that of the Bank of France, revealed large increases in gold holdings. In view of the reactionary price tendency of the market within the last week, Wall street generally looks for a decrease in brokers' loans. Volume of loans against security collateral shown in the condition statement of reporting Federal Reserve member banks. This is construed in some quarters as an indication that many small banks are still carrying large security loans and probably are handicapped thereby in providing sufficient funds for business expansion and building development.

Declaration of extra dividends by the Jersey Central Railroad, McAndrews & Forbes and F. H. Shattuck failed to stimulate any bullish enthusiasm.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—Baldwin Locomotive Works with the recent bookings of 25 engines for the Wabash Railroad will go into the new year with $20,000,000 of unfilled orders. Thus far this year shipments have totaled approximately $24,500,000.

Plants at Eddystone continue at 35 per cent capacity and expected to operate at same rate through present month to well into January. Number of employes daily engaged on full time are about 5,000.

Production of polished plate glass for the month of November was 12,130,845 square feet, compared with 14,620,904 square feet in the preceding month and 11,646,064 square feet in the corresponding month last year, according to Plate Glass Manufacturers of America.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points today on covering and a moderate demand which was supposed to include some buying for trade account. The advance met realizing, but there was very little southern selling and after slight setbacks the market steadied again, with prices ruling about 1 to 4 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Business was very quiet and comparatively small orders caused moderate fluctuations. Weather conditions in the South were considered unfavorable for the movement, but some thought that low temperatures might kill off boll weevil.

Cables received in the trade here from Liverpool said there had been scattered buying at the opening with some long liquidation later.

The early buying sent the price of January up to 17c and May to 17.54c, but the market soon became quiet and there were setbacks later in the morning under small offerings. In midday trading May was selling around 16.96c and May 17.49c, with active months generally showing net declines of about 1 to 3 points.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 19.—Cotton—Spot quiet; prices higher; American strict good middling, 10.26; good middling, 9.86; strict middling, 9.66; middling, 9.41; strict low middling, 9.16; low middling, 8.81; strict good ordinary, 8.46; good ordinary, 8.06. Sales, 4,000 bales, including 3,200 American. Receipts, 4,000, American nil. Future closed quiet and steady: December, 9.06; January, 9.11; March, 9.22; May, 9.32; July, 9.38; October, 9.36.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Raw sugar was unchanged today on nearby supplies; store sugars were still available at 3.80c, but shipment sugars were steadier. The only sale reported was 7,000 bags of Philippines for February-March shipment to an operator at 3.83c.

Futures opened unchanged to 1 point lower and soon showed net losses of 1 to 3 points under liquidation in the near positions, as a result of the circulation of seven December notices and some selling by houses with trade and Cuban connections. The selling seemed to be promoted by the continued liberal offerings in the spot market, but shorts and commission houses bought on the reaction and a partial rally followed in the late forenoon. At midday the list was net 3 points lower on December and unchanged to 1 point lower on later months.

A fair withdrawal demand was reported for refined, but no new business, and prices were unchanged at 5.10@5.15c for fine granulated.

COMBUSTION IN RECEIVERS' HANDS

Receivers Appointed by Court Following Plea By Bethlehem Steel

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—International Combustion Engineering Corporation passed into the hands of receivers in equity today on order of Judge Alfred Coxe in the United States District Court, Nathaniel A. Elsberg and Wilford R. Wood were appointed temporary receivers.

The plaintiff was the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. The petition for receivership stated that two subsidiary firms of the International Combustion owed Bethlehem an amount aggregating approximately $100,000.

WOOD'S STATEMENT

W. R. Wood, who was elected president of International Combustion Corporation on December 6, made the following statement:

"Early in October it became apparent that the corporation would require additional working capital to carry on its business.

"Since that time earnest and unsuccessful efforts have been made to secure such financing from banks and banking houses in New York City and elsewhere.

"Directors believed that financing had been arranged with one banking institution, but were advised on December 16 that such banking institution had withdrawn.

"FRIENDLY" ACTION

"In the opinion of the board, this situation made it necessary for the protection of the interests of its creditors and stockholders that the corporation and its subsidiaries be placed in the hands of receivers through the medium of a friendly suit in equity.

"It is believed that a prompt reorganization can be effected, thus preserving the values of the properties, and the demonstrated good will and earning power of the business."

COURT OPINION

Judge Coxe, in appointing the temporary receivers,remarked that defendant corporation appears to have assets of great value, but is unable to meet matured and immediately maturing obligations, and will continue to be that way for some time.

The company, he declared, had no other remedy. Receivers are authorized to take possession of the properties, run the business and collect all outstanding accounts.

The company in its answer to the receivership application estimated its total assets at $43,000,000 and pressing liabilities at about $1,250,000.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Lower prices here for wheat early today accompanied downturns in Liverpool quotations, together with talk that the United States government crop report is bearish. Most traders apparently favored the selling side of the market, and buying support was limited. Opening ⅜ to 2 cents down, Chicago wheat later held near to the initial range. Corn and oats were also easier, with corn starting ⅜ off to ¼ up, and subsequently sagging all around. Provisions tended to advance.

Increasing the decided downward trend which the wheat market showed at times today in connection with bearish aspects of the United States government crop report was the fact that overnight snowfalls in domestic wheat territory were extra heavy. In Chicago, the snow amounted to more than 12 inches, with the fall continuing unabated. Meanwhile export demand for wheat from North America appeared slack, and predictions were heard that no improvement would develop until after the holidays.

According to advices current here, setbacks in Liverpool wheat quotations today were largely a result of selling orders from this side of the Atlantic. It was noticed, however, that the Liverpool market continued weak until the finish, the close there today being at 1¼@1¾d net decline, whereas only ⅛@½d lower prices had been looked for. On the other hand, Argentine harvest reports today continued unfavorable.

Spanish Iron Ore Reserves Large

MADRID, Dec. 19.—The director general of mines of Spain has announced that the Spanish reserves in iron are estimated at 700,000,000 tons. The Bilbao district alone has 70,000 tons, after having extracted from this district more than twice this quantity during the past few years.

In copper pyrites Spain is the richest country in Europe, the director said. It has 212,000,000 tons, which is more than 80 per cent of Europe's total. Spain occupies the fifth place in lead deposits, its reserves being estimated at more than 30,000,000 tons. It has 5,000,000 tons of mercury and 21,000,000 tons of zinc.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Curb market stocks continued to drift gradually lower today, as nothing developed to shake the market out of its lethargy. Operations remained almost entirely professional, and prices ranged narrow. The selling appeared to represent little more than year-end establishing of losses for tax purposes. The bear crowd was not particularly active.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

EATON AXLE'S EARNINGS HIGHER

Net Likely to Show $5 A Share for Year 1929: Operations Holding Up

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Despite heavy recession in automobile production during the past few months, operations of Eaton Axle and Spring Company in 1929 are likely to set a new high record for profits, with net earnings likely to approximate $1,500,000, equal to $5 a share on the 300,000 no par capital shares outstanding, compared with previous high of $1,429,055 established in 1928.

For the nine months ended September 30, last, net income totaled $1,323,496 or $4.41 a share against $1,047,261 in like period of 1928.

FIVE-YEAR GAIN

Profits for 1929, as estimated, will show a gain of 120 per cent over 1925 earnings of $674,687 Company's expansion received greatest impetus in 1928 when in addition to acquiring heater business of Perfection Heater and Manufacturing Company and automobile cap business of Easy-On-Cap Company, shipments of axles gained 150 per cent over previous year. Total dollar volume of shipments of all products increased to $19,450,000, an advance of 80 per cent over previous record of $10,750,000 established in 1926. For the current year, dollar volume of shipments will probably fall slightly below the 1928 record.

MARKET VALUATIONS

Market valuation of Eaton Axle and Spring Company has moved in close relation with advancing profits. After an average price of about 25 from 1925 through 1927, company's shares advanced sharply in 1928 to an average level of 47 and reached their record peak at current year's high of 75¾. At this point, market valuation was in excess of $23,000,000, compared with an average value of slightly more than $5,000,000 in 1925. During the recent recession, market price declined 77 per cent to a low of 18, representing a market valuation of $5,400,000. At current price level of around 29, market appraisal of company's shares is $8,700,000. Book value of Eaton Axle and Spring Company as of September 30, last, was $11,296,924, equal to $37.66 a share.

AVERAGE EARNINGS

During the five years from 1925, company will have earned a total of $5,344,987, an annual average of $1,068,997, equal to $3.56 a share on present outstanding shares. Dividend payments during the five-year period will total $2,848,325, an annual average of $569,665, or $1.90 a share. At current price, equity yield in 17.2 per cent on estimated 1929 profits of $5 a share and 12.3 per cent on average annual earnings. This compares with an equity yield of 14.3 per cent at the 1925 average price of 20½ on 1925 earnings equal to $2.94 a share. The 1925 average price represented a dividend yield of 7.3 per cent on the $1.50 annual payment. At current levels, company's shares yield 10.3 per cent on the 1929 dividend of $3 and 6.5 per cent on the average annual payment during the five-year period.

PROPERTY ACCOUNT UP 150%

Expansion during the past two years has necessitated substantial increases in physical assets as well as in working capital position. Total assets of $13,325,898 on September 30, last, represent an increase of 63 per cent over the total of $8,172,625 at the end of 1925. Plant and property account, which was carried at $3,125,918 on December 31, 1925, and $3,372,838 at the close of 1927, had increased to $7,842,303 on September 30, a gain of 150 per cent over the 1925 level.

Working capital position has enjoyed similar gains. Total of $3,765,615 on September 30 was an increase of 62 per cent over working capital of $2,321,388 at the end of 1925, but was slightly below the record figure of $4,157,899 on December 31, 1928.

SURPLUS $3,000,000

Cash and equivalent had receded to $1,199,249 from the record total of $1,778,274 in 1928, reflecting expenditure of approximately $1,000,000 for plant expansion and improvement during the current year. Ratio of current assets to current liabilities on September 30 was 4.6 to 1 compared with 3.4 to 1 at the close of 1928.

Surplus was at the record figure of $2,985,232, an increase of 176 per cent over surplus of $1,082,358 in 1926 and comparing with total of $2,149,037 in 1928.

FORWARD ORDERS

Eaton Axle and Spring Company supplies one or more of its products to practically every important automobile manufacturer in the United States. While its close association with the automotive industry will reflect any general depression in the field, stability of earning power is strengthened by a large backlog of contracts for 1930. In August, 1928, company received a three-year axle contract from International Harvester Company of sufficient volume to guarantee satisfactory operations during the period. At a recent date, contracts on hand for next year totaled $18,119,000 which, together with additional prospective contracts from other customers, may carry dollar volume of 1930 business to a new high record.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.

When You Are in the Brick Throwing Racket—

SOME of us were worked up into mild lather the other night listening to a group of failures complain about the flip-cracking dramatic critics, again. You probably are familiar with the complaint. It hasn't been altered since you stifled your last yawn. What the country needs most, argue these tablecloth mathematicians, is not a blue-serge suit that costs $25, but a Pollyanna dramatic reviewer who doesn't get gay in his reports, and who is constructive!

Will Rogers hasn't been that comical in years.

You very likely were in your short bloomers when one of the greatest dramatic critics used to sit in a Denver playhouse on the fourth row aisle and audibly make remarks to the players when he considered them so much trash. That was Eugene Field, now listed in the theater histories as one of that decade's most constructive reviewers. It was Field's sane argument that he would not jot down the details of a dull play, for then it would prove dull reading. Thus, after a brief opinion on the attraction, and his reason why he considered it a poor piece, he delivered a series of titter-provoking stunts to keep ennui from setting in on his followers.

SOMETIMES UPHELD

YES, indeedy. Give us the critic Who Knows What He Likes and, when he doesn't like it, can make us chuckle—and simultaneously ridicule the offending producer and playwright back into the sweatshops whence they came. Mr. E. Ray Goetz, who just sponsored "Fifty Million Frenchmen," a current musical hit, will tell you that the New York critics are competent judges of the proffered entertainments. In fact when his show was so cordially received by the press recently Mr. Goetz displayed all the opinions in the advertising columns of the newspapers and said: "The Critics Can't Be Wrong!"

We have clipped that Goetz tribute and we have put it away. It will come in handy some day when Mr. Goetz puts on a failure and blames the critics for hastening its end. The only managers who have never alibied that the critics ruined a show are George M. Cohan, Charles B. Dillingham and Arthur Hopkins.

They are most representative of the American producers, the most intelligent and they offer the most appealing productions. Most of the others shift the blame on the newspaper representatives and sit back thoroughly content that with "constructive critics" the Theater would have fewer hazards.

That trio probably will confess that a "constructive" critic is one who builds up the newspaper's advertising revenue.

"ABIE" CASE AGAIN

Yet, the Hammonds, Nathans, Benchleys, Manjles, Gabriels et al, with all their vitriol (as it is called by the mutterers) couldn't stop "Abie's Irish Rose." It remained for the more particular moving picture audiences to get that fluke's number. After a brief session on the New York screen "Abie" was as dead as the Charleston. In other words, whether the boys are wisecrackers or not, the Dear People cannot be enticed to a sour show. The theater files reveal that out of about 200 productions sponsored in Manhattan annually for the past 10 seasons no less than 150 of them automatically folded up like so many accordions. In sum, three out of four perished. And they still do.

Simply because they are poor plays, of course. The good shows survive even when those Who Go Down To Their Seats On Passes, as R. Garland would say, fumble in their judgment; and when one of the oracles makes a bum guess his mail sooner or later is chock full of tee-hees forwarded by the types who help you fill up space when the ideas do not come.

But it is a safer wager that the time worn cries of the second-raters will crowd your desk with all their letters beginning: "The critics went into a huddle between acts and conspired against me." Michael Gold, of Greenwich Village, recently belched in this manner and his squawk managed to bring him some attention. This was just as well, for it served him with some diversion.

BANQUET'S IMPORT

And George Jean Nathan's pet story concerns George P. Goodale, "a good citizen and honest taxpayer of Detroit," who once was accorded a great banquet in honor of his 50 years of continuous service as a dramatic critic to the Detroit Free Press. At the banquet, it was said, repeated and emphasized that, in all his half-century as a critic of the drama, Mr. Goodale never made a single enemy.

"Where," asks Nathan, "than in this banquet and its import, a smarter satire on the American notion of what constitutes dramatic criticism?"

Alexander Woollcott, perhaps, was the most abused of the scouts. And he is missed. For 15 years he witnessed over 2,000 plays and was feared. His reviews in the Times, the Sun and the World in New York were the reviews that they looked at before they followed the others. He might have been wrong in his verdicts, now and then (as who isn't), but he was interesting. He was readable. He liked what he liked and he didn't like "Strange Interlude" (and he was alone, if memory serves us), but no matter, he praised plays because he found them diverting and entertaining, even if they collapsed shortly after for lack of paying spectators.

Woollcott sums up the situation that exists between the manager and the critic best, at any rate. He will tell you the dramatic critics are like the slaves of old who (in the brave days when everybody dressed as though for a Maxfield Parrish drawing and secret poison was likely to be discovered in the most innocent and succulent dish) were employed to taste those dishes first.

If they lived, the masters then sat down to the feast. If they died, it didn't matter, matter, matter.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Tax Raise Denounced; County Protest Coming

As was indicated, there has been bitter denunciation of the act of the administration group in Council for forcing the adoption of an increased rate of taxation. It seems to have been done without adequate study of the estimates of needs and possible revenues. In fact it appears to be a case of just what Mayor Kline ordered.

"If the mayor suggests 26 and 13 mills, we ought to agree," Councilman English is quoted as stating in a newspaper report of the Council session. English made the motion to establish the rate. He was supported by the four other Kline councilmen, sufficient to carry out the mayor's orders.

Indignant taxpayers have said that they will organize in an effort to prevent any such high-handed proceedings in the future. They also are preparing to combat a proposed increase of one mill in county taxation. They will attempt to show the county commissioners how disastrous such a move would be. It is to be hoped that the commissioners will prove more responsive to public opinion than the Kline councilmen were.

International Joke

Lop-Sided Exchange of News.

S. K. Ratcliffe, English journalist, writing in the Yale Review, tells why, in his opinion, anti-American feeling is increasing among the British people, while anti-British feeling in America seems to decrease.

He explains one factor thus:

"Americans complain about the meager news of their country in the English press, and of its odd selection and contemptible quality. As a journalist I agree with them, and as a regular visitor to the United States I contrast these absurd fragments with the remarkably full, graphic and usually well-informed London dispatches to be found in the leading American newspapers. . . . England does not seem to be interested in news of America unless it is sensational or comic."

Perhaps there is no need for Americans to feel downcast about such a lop-sided exchange. We supply the British with comic relief—and they certainly need it. And we receive functional information. Thus both parties get the best of the deal.

High Wages, By All Means

Industrial Efficiency Is Also Needed.

SAD SCENE IN A SICK ROOM

This cartoon from "Labor," made by John Baer, formerly a radical congressman from the Northwest, offers as a remedy for all our troubles HIGH WAGES.

"Labor," which publishes this cartoon and represents organized workmen, naturally advocates its own medicine.

High wages to a nation are like irrigation and fertilizer to a farm. But you must first GET the water for the irrigation and the fertilizer to put on the land.

Increased wealth of those already rich depends on high wages. The big man can only get "his share" of what the little man does.

And the little man can only get HIS part of what he produces. And he shouldn't forget that what he gets is largely due to the intelligence of those that direct his work and make it profitable.

For instance, a good many thousands of men that earn good wages, manufacturing Chevrolet cars, would not be earning those good wages without the direction of Mr. Knudsen, president of Chevrolet, who himself was once a working mechanic getting a good deal less than the average automobile mechanic of today. Thousands of men can make good wages today because Knudsen knows how to tell them what to do.

Antagonism between those that DO the work and those that DIRECT it is one of our troubles. Fortunately that hostility is diminishing. Employers realize that their success is made, not by cutting payrolls, but by using engineering talent, developing better machinery, increasing production at lower cost.

The workers should realize that co-operation on their side is desirable also.

Good wages, short hours, should bring EFFICIENCY. If a man wants the five-day week he should be able to say: "I want to be well rested, a chance to enjoy myself over the week-end. I produce in FIVE days as much as I ever produced in SIX days."

If he wants the eight-hour day he should be able to say: "In eight hours of concentrated work I produce as much as a slower, insufficiently rested worker produces in nine or ten hours."

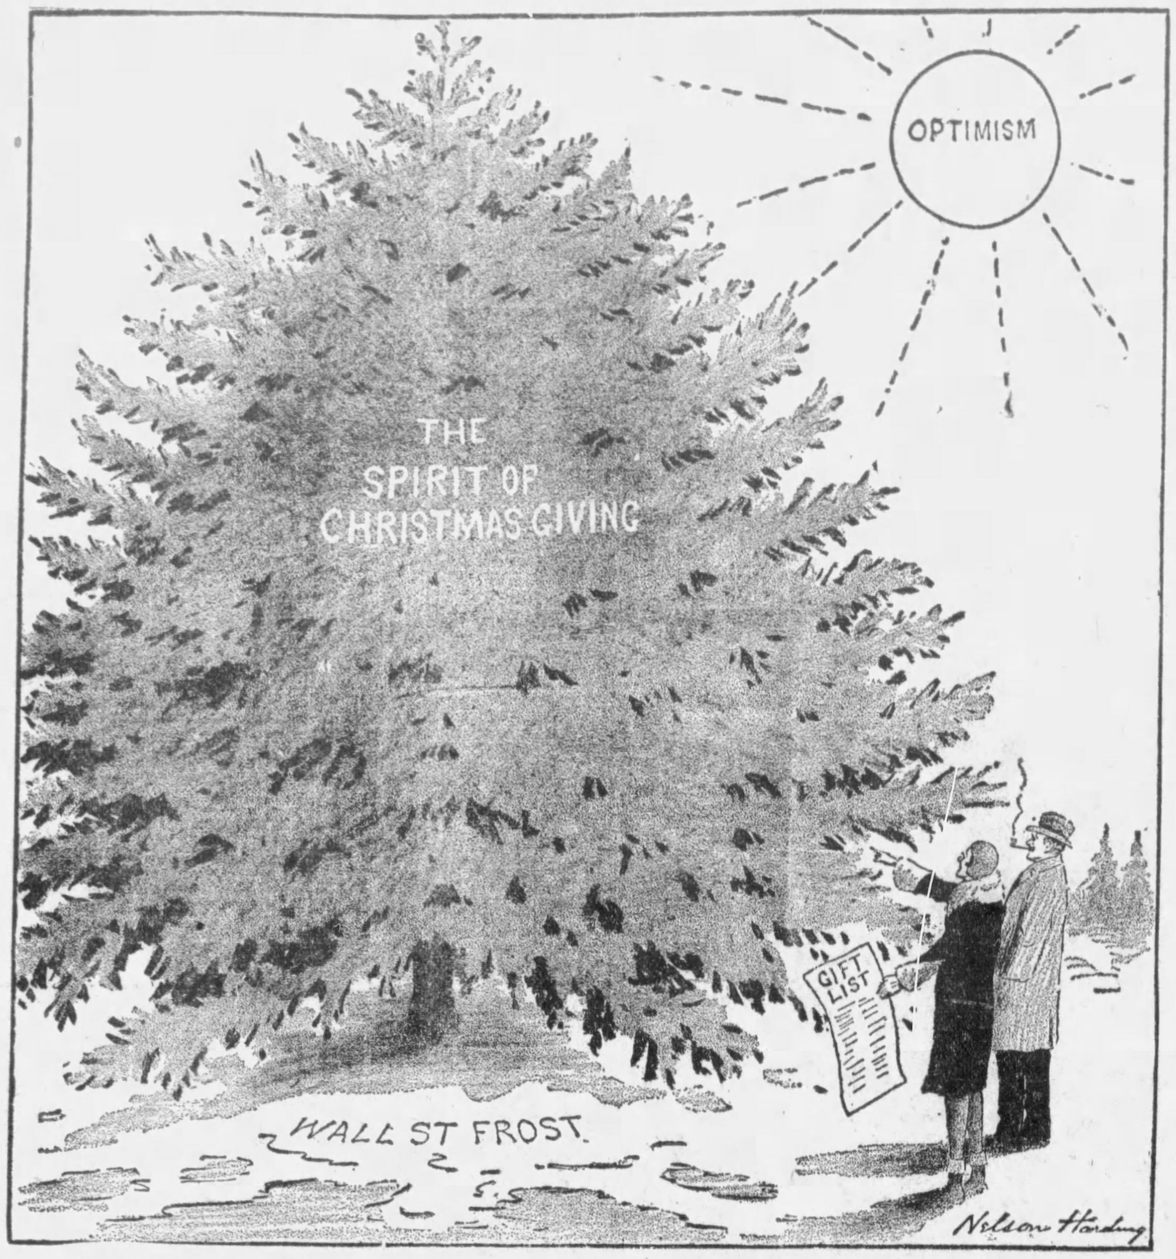
The worker who takes pride in "getting by," seeing how little he can do, how much he can GET for it, and how many men he can make necessary on one job, is the individual who is keeping back higher wages, shorter hours and the shorter week.

When you go fishing you bring home only what you catch.

The workman who imagines that in the long run he can get more out of a job than PART of what he puts into it is sadly mistaken.

The Evergreen

Drawn by Nelson Harding



The living tree that verdant grows
Through Autumn frosts and Winter snows,
The strong and never changing tree,
Surviving all adversity.

The hardy tree with branches wide
The changing seasons has defied.
The tree whose verdure still is seen,
The Christmas spirit, ever green.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

The New Senator

AFTER having made a committee of Senators jump through a paper hoop Mr. Grundy has decided to become one of the clowns.

"Bugs" Baer

It was only a month ago that Mr. Grundy took the Washington Bureau of Research and Science for a long, healthy detour.

He was the starred witness before a dignified riot of Senators. He answered all their questions with the aplomb and verve of one to the manner bored.

Mr. Grundy stood those temporary patriarchs on their adjustable skulls. Where information and statistics were concerned, he was just as nourishing as a Sanskrit tablet.

He admitted that he was the Prime Minister of the Duchy of Lobbia. He conceded that he was for low visibility, high tariff and wide, sweeping campaign contributions.

After the contest of wits was over Mr. Grundy was in the lead by a quarter-size.

In spite of all the senatorial investigations we have observed, in spite of all the arduous concentration lavished, in spite of all the questions concocted and compounded, we have yet to see the Senate turn a straw man into a bale of hay.

Mr. Grundy deserves no especial credit for standing a committee on its head. The top of the head is flattened strictly for that very purpose and the member of any committee is a natural acrobat.

Grundy got a meritorious dismissal and an invitation to call again when the acoustics were better. They didn't think he would take the hospitable threat seriously. He did.

He came back to the Senate last week. As a Senator.

Senator Grundy is now privileged to investigate and catechise the untitled proletariat and to form a committee any time that he feels that the population of his hat is increasing.

His catapulting into the domed garage is not unusual. Even a committee has its lucid intervals for lunch and refreshments.

Senator Grundy, nee mister, twisted, circumvented and juggled answers so well that the committee agreed:

"This man is too smart to be answering questions."

So they made him a Senator.

A SAD BLOW FOR DARWIN

By Herbert Kaufman

ENCYCLOPEDIAS simply CAN'T keep up to date. No sooner do the publishers announce an edition, which is presumed to synchronize general knowledge with the last word in achievement and mutation, than archaeology and engineering and social enlightenment conspire to upset the editor's apple-cart.

Last week, for instance, anthropologists were all agreed that the oldest evidence of a creature approximating the structure and appearance of present human beings, was the erect-walking ape of prehistoric Java.

Now we hear this SUPPOSEDLY most remote common ancestor is no more entitled to such genealogical distinction than the once awe-inspiring Masonic Temple in Chicago can justly snatch the skyscraper height record from the new 88-story shaft to rise on the New York Hippodrome's site.

THE Rockefeller grave-digging expedition, snooping among the bones of time, near Peking, China, unearths a limestone cave in which ten normally formed super-ancients are found, embalmed in hardened chalk. Geological analysis moves their existence back to the Ice Age, and thereby supplies ground for belief that the Adamsons were rambling in the neighborhood a MILLION years ago.

The news tends to knock into a cocked hat evolution's theory of your descent from monkey folk—and sounds warning of another pulpit attack on the Darwinians.

Paleontology—which builds bridges into the forgotten past with bits of bone, scraps of stone and shards of pottery—will work for many a century before its students gather sufficient material for a span connecting intervening races, empires, migrations and extinctions with these dim forebears of ours.

Ten times a hundred thousand years have elapsed since they scratched for grubs, shivered in fireless dens and mumbled carrion.

The cooking of food, the fashioning of weapons, the weaving of wattle, the use of wheel, lever and edged tool, were unknown to them.

THEY dwelt amid nightmare horrors—at the mercy of reptiles and carnivora, so ferocious and appaling that imagination goose-fleshes at the very suggestion of their defenseless plight.

How they managed to elude the fangs and tusks of primordial beasts, must forever remain a mystery. And how stage by stage, idea by idea, they stocked the storehouses of reason with the crude fundamentals upon which succeeding generations erected (like patient coral insects) subsequent civilizations, is a theme to engross speculation until Gabriel toots "sundown."

There will be no Rosetta Stones to furnish missing links to their habits, creeds and conceptions, as in the case of Pharoahic Egypt—or jungle-covered temples to attest their prowess and degree of erudition, as in the case of vanished Mayans.

A far cry from those blurred dawns to 1929 America with its Polar flights—its germ-hunting microscopes—with its wizards growing music and motion pictures on cotton plants.

BUT a much GREATER marvel lies in the truth that ninety per cent of us possess no more initiative, display no more originality and contribute no more to the sum total of progress, than did yon unskilled and languageless near-animals, imbedded in stone shrouds on the hills of Old Cathay.

And if you PROTEST at the indictment, please point to ONE valuable notion—ONE helpful device—ONE unprecedented method, for which we are indebted to YOU.

Maurice Falk, who has just established a ten-million dollar endowment, in Pittsburgh, in memory of his widely beloved and philanthropic wife Laura, leaves the entire fund at the discretion of trustees, who are directed to spend the sum for "the benefit of mankind."

He would have earned the further gratitude of his fellows, had he created a trust for the SOLE purpose of teaching the TAKE-ALLS and GIVE-NOTHINGS, predominating EVERYWHERE, to use their million-year estate of wit and wisdom to occasionally THINK for themselves.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

FOR the most part they bring forth their young alive instead of laying eggs after the fashion of most creatures, and they are unique in that their females have special milk-producing glands with which to suckle their offspring.

These are the most characteristic points, but there are others. The muscular diaphragm which separates chest from belly is a characteristic feature of the mammals; in other vertebrates the heart and lungs and bowels all lie in one large body-cavity, but the mammalian body is "bicameral"—two chambers. They have better developed brains, and consequently minds, than any other animal. And while the lower jaw of all other vertebrates consists of several bones joined together, the mammals have a lower jaw of one single bone.

H. G. Wells.

This fact, which may seem unimportant to the inexpert reader, is of very great value in tracing the evolution of the group, because in many extinct species, and particularly early mammalian species, only the lower jaws have been found, owing to the ease with which lower jaws drop off floating carcasses, to be embedded and preserved in river mud.

Now there are three grades of mammals, differing in the manner in which they treat their young.

The first grade, the Monotremes, is a very small one; it includes two curious creatures, the spiny anteater and the duckbill (platypus) or water-mole, which show a number of striking resemblances to the reptiles. They stand markedly apart from the rest of the class.

They differ from the other members of the class in that they lay eggs instead of bearing young; nevertheless, when the young ones hatch, they are suckled by the mother.

In their egg-laying habits they are reptile-like, and they show other reptilian features in their skeletons, the structure of the brain, in not being able to keep their temperature as constant as that of other mammals.

The duckbill is found only in Australia and Tasmania; it lives in streams, feeding on insects, snails, small bivalve molluscs and the like, and it makes a burrow in the bank where it lays its eggs. The spiny anteaters, of which there are two genera and several species, are found in Australia, Tasmania and New Guinea; the females carry their eggs in a large pocket in the skin of the belly until they hatch.

These creatures are fascinating from the evolutionary point of view; they are living missing links, the sole survivors of a time when some of the reptiles were turning themselves into mammals by acquiring warm blood and hair.

The remaining mammals fall into two parallel sections, of which one is very much larger than the other.

The first and smaller section is the marsupials, or pouched mammals. These animals bring forth their young alive, but they bring them forth in a very helpless and undeveloped condition, and then carry them in pouches on their bellies, where they remain glued to the mother's teats until they are able to fend for themselves.

They are viviparous, but only just so. An idea of the helplessness of a young marsupial at birth may be gained from the fact that a newly born kangaroo—of one of the biggest kinds of kangaroo—is about the size of one's little finger.

Living marsupials are found only in Australia, New Guinea and the adjacent islands—except for the opossums, which occur in America.

The best-known marsupials are the kangaroos and opossums, but there are many other forms, showing a great range of specialized structure and habit. There are wolf-like, cat-like, mole-like and anteater-like marsupials; and some of them even have parachutes of skin connecting the fore and kind limbs together so that they can plane through the air like a flying squirrel.

In fact, the marsupial orders and sub-orders parallel most of the orders of the next section in their diversity of structure and habit.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The old-time amiable, alcoholic and roaming printer has vanished from the face of the earth. A picturesque and talented nomad, he made his home wherever he happened to hang his hat. For him there were no dark tomorrows. All was a brave today.

Few prima donnas were so touchily temperamental. Many have, for no reason whatever, walked out of Park Row printeries in "the middle of a stick" and climbed under the rods of a freight train. The next heard of them would be from some far off city—like San Francisco, Portland or perhaps Shanghai.

They were the most unreliable, yet at the same time the most efficient of all workmen when standing at their case. They never needed watching, for they had the pride of artistry in filling their galleys rapidly and with the minimum of needed corrections.

Their profound store of knowledge has helped many journalistic fledglings over rough spots. Despite their vagabondage, few fell afoul the law. Sober or in their cups they had a rigid code of honor. Their besetting sin was drink. And they drank deep.

Trade unionism and its strict exactments for both employer and employe steadied the printer. He found he could no longer carouse and hold his job. Today the printer is a fair model of sobriety. He is a regular patron of the savings bank. He even carries a cane.

There is a deep gulf between the blowzy, unshaven creature who slouched into composing rooms and ad alleys of yesterday and the spruce, clear-eyed fellows who now cast type on the linotype machines. Nearly all printers today are settled husbands and home owners with bank accounts.

In New York, the majority live in sprightly towns on Staten Island. Their wives meet them at the ferry in automobiles. It is doubtful if any other class of workmen has made such progress in improving living and working conditions in the past 20 years.

New York hotels nightly house more than 5,000 commuters who have "missed the last train from town." Some innocently and others not so innocently. Aside from the hotels, the telephone company is handsomely enriched by telephoned explanations to suburban homes.

* * *

Paris hailed "La Prisoniere," which under the title of "The Captive," was closed in New York, but it has stopped "Les Desages." It was scheduled for a New York production this winter. The action of the play centered about that depressing night place, the haunt of slumming tourists to Montmartre Hill, known as "La Petite Chaumiere." As the name implies it is a little thatched cottage frequented by men who are "le petite" something or other. The chief objection in France was made by naval officers who resented a rouged sailor being portrayed as the barman in the inquitous den.

A Monsieur le Duc, with two front page episodes of debt dodging to his credit in as many weeks, is still stopping at a smart Fifth avenue hotel but every morning at nine he must "duke" it to the cashier and advance money for the next day's rent, and he must pay cash for his meals and incidentals. But he is still a Monsieur le Duc right down to his rimless monocle!

Fred C. Kelly used to amuse himself in a New York hotel lobby by dropping a watch crystal as a certain English author with a rimless monocle passed by. The author would invariably stop, begin looking about and then, discovering his glass in place, walk on—very puzzled.

One of these days, if the syndicate business holds up, we are going to buy Ring Lardner a monocle. He has a natural monocle eye.

"I saw you," writes Mrs. D. R., "trying to look, O! so nonchalant while going to your seat at a theatrical opening. You did quite well."

That wasn't no nonchalance, lady, that was just my customary stupor.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HOW long has it been since you have read anything save which interested you?

In reading newspapers, do you usually avoid the departments of desirable and valuable information such as many contain?

Have you a passing knowledge, even, of world's activities based upon a foundation that requires studious reading?

Are you at all familiar with what is known as the heavier literature?

You realize you are ignorant of things upon which you might enlighten yourself easily.

But you pass up opportunities—you won't exercise enough will to concentrate upon worth-while information.

Only those things comprehended at a fleeting glance interest you.

Always you promise yourself that you will decide sometime upon a course of reading that will put you in line for knowledge.

But your "some day" to acquire useful knowledge never comes.

Why don't you start today—now—to read and digest a few facts?

Be ashamed to never vouch-safe knowledge of educational value.

You should know more than you do.
